Rector's Address Year Thirteen Graduation 2007

There are other doors still to be opened

Good afternoon and welcome: Board members, Mrs Hines – Chair of the Board of Trustees, Mr Sheehan – Chair of the Board of Proprietors, Fr Kevin, Fr Peter, Fr Mateo, staff, parents, friends and students.

Mr Philip Mahoney

I was privileged recently to meet and hear an address by Peter Snell. For any who don't know the name, Peter Snell is a New Zealander who dominated middle distance running on the world stage from 1960 to 1965. He won three Olympic Gold medals at 800 and 1500 metres. He held eight world records and two Olympic records at distances from 800 and 1500 meters and for the mile. He was the first person inducted into the NZ Sports Hall of Fame, and in 2000 was chosen NZ's sportsman of the 20th Century.

There are two things in his life that impressed me and that I think our students can learn from. The first is that he didn't take up competitive athletics until he was nineteen, after he left school. In his final years at Mt Albert Grammar in Auckland, he was only the third best middle distance runner in the school, and did not train seriously for athletics. Just two years later, at 21, he won Olympic Gold at Rome in the 800 metres. While he was a talented all-round sportsman at school, he had set his sights on a professional tennis career. It took a few significant losses at tennis at top level in New Zealand to convince him to try athletics. He teamed up with a coach called Arthur Lydiard who had very different training methods, and the rest is history.

During your school years, as students you have many chances to try yourself out against academic, cultural, sporting and life challenges. You will have mastered some, endured others and rejected a few as not being what you are cut out for. You probably think you know your strengths and limitations reasonably well. What Peter Snell's experience shows you is that there are other doors still to be opened, and that some of those you have closed may still, after College, be worth re-opening. It may not be an Olympic medal that comes your way, but there are many other goals that are worth achieving in a wide variety of sporting, academic, cultural, business and spiritual fields.

To the old question of "what are you going to do after you leave school?", your answer may well be, "I don't know as yet". If that is the case, then time is on your side. More than ever in the 21st century, being able to move from one type of job or profession to another will be a key requirement for school graduates. Many of the jobs that our graduates will do over their working lives have yet to be invented. The ability to learn and re-learn as technology opens up new options and calls on different kinds of talents will be essential. As parents, there is an understandable anxiety as the end of secondary school approaches and a son or daughter is unable to decide what path he or she wants to follow. In these days when study often requires taking out a student loan, the best advice is not to take on tertiary study because it is what is expected after finishing school. Too often, one or two years study in a particular field only helps your sons or daughters to decide that it is not the field or career they want to pursue. By then, they have accumulated a five figure student loan. There is real merit in some kind of a "gap" year away from study for those who really have no idea what they want to do in the first years out of school. What might appear to be a waste of time in the short term from a parent's point of view may prove to be a saving of both time and money in the longer term.

The second thing that impressed me on hearing Peter Snell, was what he has done with his life once he retired from athletics. He realized that at he could either live in NZ for the rest of his life, enjoying the status that came from he had done in his 20's, or try out another field. So at age 34, with no academic background other than secondary school where he twice failed to achieve University Entrance, he entered an American university. Now, he holds a PhD and works as an Assistant Professor and Director of the Human Performance Laboratory at the University of Texas. At age 68, he is extremely fit, enjoying his job and has no intention of retiring. Peter Snell, leading researcher and academic is not what he is remembered for in New Zealand. But in terms of Peter's personal life satisfaction, he feels the second 34 years of his life have been as rewarding as the first 34. Once again, he discovered a talent that he didn't know he had, and developed it to the maximum. His story is told in a book just out called "From Olympian to Scientist". Peter stated that though that his real message to us is summed up in the title of his last book – "Use it, or lose it". Talents that are neglected, whether you know you have them or not, will never reach their potential unless you take some risks.

... Peter Snell's experience shows you that there are other doors still to be opened ...

Whatever path your lives follow when you leave this College, I hope that here at St Patrick's College you are developing a self-belief based on faith in a God who loves you no matter what, the courage to try new challenges, experience of success in some sphere at College, and the ability to communicate with others, and work in a team. Whether you are among the prizewinners this afternoon or not, these are the qualifications that will be important in the years ahead.

To the staff, we know who are leaving this year, I offer my sincere thanks for all you have contributed to the College. Mrs Bronwyn Lea-Hallot took leave during the year but has now decided to pursue other interests and work and will not be returning. I thank Mrs Elizabeth Pack who has relieved in her place for three terms. Mrs Paringatai will be on study leave next year. Mr Dan Bidwell has completed his first two years of teaching successfully and is returning to his home town of Auckland to continue his teaching career. Mr Ezref Zajgo leaves us to teach closer to home in Wellington. His unique presence and passion for all he does will be greatly missed.

My congratulations to our prize winners. To all those sitting external exams over the next two weeks, try your hardest to achieve to your highest potential, and do not settle for less. To those who are not returning next year, thank you for what you have contributed here and be proud and loyal Old Boys – Sectare Fidem.

Philip Mahoney

Senior Graduation 2007

Address Mrs Elaine Hines Chair of the Board of Trustees

St. Patrick's College has a proud history, a lifetime of traditions and innumerable memories.

Each and every one of you has contributed to that history, the history that is Silverstream.

This College has helped shape the young men that you have become. This and your personal life experiences have influenced you and built a solid foundation for your future.

A chapter in your life is closing. A chapter that has been full of many and varied learning experiences and challenges, full of successes, disappointments, friendships and unforgettable memories. Silverstream has been part of those memories and as you leave this College there will be mixed emotions – anticipation, relief, apprehension, excitement and for some even sorrow.

We have much to be proud of and much to celebrate but we also have much to do.

I am convinced that God has a plan for both St. Patrick's and for each of us, but that it is up to us to seek it, pursue it and as we discover it, commit to its truth with excellence and the faith that believes anything is possible.

As you reflect tonight and over the coming weeks, of the opportunities you have been given thus far in your life, hopefully a sense of gratitude will surface.

Tonight wouldn't be complete therefore, without recognising and thanking several groups of people who have helped you get to this point in your life.

Firstly, to our staff, who not only choose this College as their place of employment but have also made it their place of service often at considerable personal expense. Many of the achievements of our Year thirteen students are attributable in no small part to them and their dedication.

Whilst the relationships between staff and students can sometimes be tested and indeed at times be testing, the strength of these relationships continues to be of paramount importance to the student achievement outcomes we seek. We can always do better and it is with an uncompromising commitment to excellence that we will achieve this.

The second thank you and perhaps the one that goes the most unsaid is the one to parents and families. Tonight for them this is both a celebration and the dawning realisation that you are on your way to becoming independent adults. But, spare a thought tonight for the chapter of their lives that is also closing.

As we sit here with you and reflect on these past thirteen years it is as though we simply blinked and you were grown. You carry with you all the hope, dreams and love of your family. Treasure these always they are special gifts not awarded to all.

If we at Silverstream and your families have done our jobs correctly you are all well prepared to embark on your next chapter with enthusiasm.

You are, and always will be, Streamers. Reflect on and be thankful for all that, has meant, for the sacrifices that your parents and teachers have made, the hard work and commitment that you yourselves have contributed to ensure that you sit here tonight.

I hope that you not only thoroughly enjoyed your time at the College but will profit from your experience and education in the years to come.

Education, some say, is what remains after you've forgotten all that your teachers taught you. And what remains is the ability, self confidence and, I hope, desire to go on learning for the rest of one's life. The qualifications that you have achieved at this College are not only an identity card saying who you are but a visa saying where you can go; they are the opening words of a new chapter not the full stop at the end of the book.

All of you have dreams. Now it's up to you to achieve them. Never lose sight of your goals whatever they may be. Create the highest, grandest vision possible for your life because you become what you believe.

Some people succeed because they are destined to, but most succeed because they are determined to. Desire is the key to motivation, but it is determination and commitment to an unrelenting pursuit of your goals, that commitment to excellence, that will enable you to attain the success you seek.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees I wish you well for a future that is challenging, fulfilling and, just occasionally, surprising and which allows you to look back with gratitude and affection to your time at the College.

George Eliot wrote,

"It is never too late to be what you might have been."

So, if you haven't worked hard, if you haven't aimed at doing your best, then it is never too late. Make the most of your lives – achievement is a habit, cultivate it well.

Elaine Hines, Chair BoT

St Patrick's College, Graduation 2007

Head Prefect's Address

"Intelligence with character- that is the true goal of education".

These were the words of Martin Luther King Jr, and to me, St. Patrick's College Silverstream epitomises these words.

Opportunities for intelligence and education, and the opportunities for developing our character. In the classroom, on the sports field, in the chapel, on the stage or in the supporters stand, 'Streamers' have had immense opportunities to use their talents and develop into decent human beings. This goal of education is fulfilled; and we students are the proof of it.

Year 13 of 2007, tonight, after five years at the College, we reflect on what has been during our time here before the inevitable occurs: in a few hours time, we will become "Old Boys".

Special guests, staff, parents and students. I warmly welcome you all here this evening.

A significant idea that has been part of our time at St. Pat's is "Band of Brothers". This idea of camaraderie and encouragement has seen us through many events, both satisfying and challenging; and whether it was consciously promoted at events like McEvedy or unconsciously in our actions towards others, "Band of Brothers" depicts what we truly are. Who could forget our momentous win at Newtown Park? The McEvedy Shield competition in 2003 was a real eye-opener for us. As the young ones of the College, we felt like we had truly found Silverstream Spirit. In that same year, April Fools Day jokes were abandoned as we learned the fate of our fellow Streamer Michael Turner, tragically killed at the Silverstream railway crossing.

That same idea of brotherhood has remained with us, highlighted this year again through the McEvedy Shield – even with our fourth placing. It was rewarding for me as a Streamer and as Head Boy to witness the true spirit that we possessed, a spirit that was acknowledged by other spectators and media at the event. The Year 13 leaders that day were not going to set a low benchmark for the younger students, and positive chanting and cheering continued for our athletes. I was and am still proud of that day.

Throughout our journey here at Silverstream, there have been some very special people who deserve some recognition:

Firstly, to the prefects: it was always going to be a tough undertaking with a small team of twelve, but I think you have put a lot of energy and spirit into your leadership roles; thank you for your efforts.

To all members of the staff: your hard work and support goes unrecognised frequently, however, we thank you deeply for all that you have taught us. You have all played a major part in our lives, from the little things like marking an extra essay, to guiding us through personal issues and providing moral support. Thank you very much.

A special thanks to Mrs. Libby Kirton, our Year 13 Dean who has been a rock in our foundation, working hard in the background but remaining a positive and compassionate person. A very sincere thank-you.

To Fr. Kevin Murphy, thank you for your spiritual guidance and encouraging manner. You have always added that extra spark to our Masses, but furthermore so to our own lives. You truly exhibit the qualities of a Marist man.

To Mr. Philip Mahoney, Mr. Tony Giles and Mr. David Bowles: thank you for your leadership this year. It has been a privilege working with you, and I wish you well in the running of the College.

To Mr. Ritchie and the team of boarding supervisors; you have all been like second parents, and I thank you on behalf of the boarders for developing us into the young men we are today.

To our parents and guardians: it goes without saying that without you, we would not be here tonight. Being part of St. Pat's Silverstream has not only provided us with opportunities but, I know, it has fulfilled your own hopes and dreams too. Thank you very much for your constant love and support over the years and for never giving up on us.

Finally to the year 13 of 2007, I would like to personally thank you for being part of my life for the past years. I have come to know you so well and I would not hesitate to call any of you my brothers.

As the words of our College haka states:

"Hara mai ra he toa – another young warrior takes his place."

Departing warriors of 2007, as you leave your space for the next leaders, I place two challenges before you.

The first challenge is to maintain those intimate friendships you have made, both with your peers and with staff. Truth of the matter is that from tonight, some of us will perhaps never see or hear of each other again, and as daunting as it sounds we will all move on to greater or lesser things. But if you have that abounding support in your adult years, I'm sure life will be much more rewarding.

The second challenge is to make the most of life. It all sounds very well and clichéd, and truth be told, we won't all end up with the perfect lives we dream of; but it won't hurt as much to do your best at achieving that perfect life, than to live with the regret of never having tried.

Mark Twain once said:

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did. So throw off the bowlines, sail away from the safe harbour. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover".

In the same way, take the sails of intelligence and character that you acquired through St. Pat's; voyage from the safe waters of Silverstream and immerse yourself in the expansive ocean.

All the best for the future, and until we meet again:

Welcome

Dawn Clark

Dawn began at the College at the beginning of the year to take over the work previously done by Mrs Joyce Owen. Her principle tasks are Personal Assistant to the Rector and Registra.

Coming to us from Chilton St James, Dawn brings to the job a wealth of experience and qualification from which the College can only gain. Also, she has a son presently a student at the College so she knows the place from both sides.

Dawn, we bid you welcome and wish you to a long and happy tenure.

Kristin Jones

Kristin stepped into the shoes of Mrs Kay Maycroft early in the year. Already she has proven to be a most capable face to the world for the College. With her background in the hospitality industry, Kristin is quite used to dealing with the public and with visitors to the College.

Welcome, Kristin, may your time here be fulfilling and happy.

Joe Nawalaniec

The first thing people noticed about Joe when he arrived at Silverstream was his superb physical fitness and informal dress code. Joe's natural habitat is the mountains. Most weekends and holidays are spent in the South Island ranges climbing and skiing.

Joe comes to Silverstream after a range of work experiences: policeman, teacher at HIBs and Upper Hutt College, and boarding master at Marlborough Boys' College.

Joe joined Silverstream to teach science and an eclectic mix of other subjects. He has become very involved in the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme where he has introduced new and more interesting tramping experiences. Joe has rapidly carved a special niche for himself with his many outdoor pursuits. His open and honest style is appreciated by his students. Joe, may your time here be rewarding for us all.

Tanya Henderson

Tanya studied at Otago and Victoria Universities, gaining a BA in English and theatre. Prior to that she was dux and head girl at Taika College.

Tanya teaches English and drama, and is actively involved in debating. (She and Miss Whiteford coached the St Patrick's drama team to a win in the drama section of the O'Shea Shield.)

Tanya brings a great deal of energy and enthusiasm to her teaching and the English department is delighted to welcome her.

Saul Treadwell

Saul came to us for his first year of full-time teaching after working in a professional research position after university.

He quickly established himself as a competent teacher with high standards. By the end of the year he had advanced his skills to become a good teacher with strong standards. The quality of his classes is testimony of this. Saul has a quiet controlled presence in class and his students have learned to appreciate his cool, calm and collected manner.

His presence coaching football and managing table tennis are also much appreciated.

Being an old boy of Palmerston North Boys' High School, Saul has still a few rough edges to lose and when he does – look out! This guy will be a great Stream teacher; we are lucky to have him!

Te Ahu Teki

Te came to Stream as the new appointee for the Sports Coördinator position. Mike O'Leary had resigned from the position to move into a new role within the College.

Te completed his Graduate Diploma of Teaching at Massey University in 2006 after graduating with a Bachelor of Human Performance Degree at UCol. From 2000 to 2003 he held the position as Sports Coördinator at Wanganui High School.

He brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the College having a strong sporting background in rugby. He represented the unions of Wanganui, Manawatu and Horowhenua–Kapiti at NPC level. I am more than confident that he will bring the skills necessary to maintain the dedicated commitment to this very important position.

Nicola Potts

Nicola comes to us from Porirua College where she was head of the Technology Faculty and HoD Technology and Home Economics. She lives at Paremata with her husband and has two daughters. While at Porirua College they managed to change the school café into a Gold Heart Foundation Award winning school, receiving national recognition for this.

Nicola has come to St Pat's for a change of life style and part-time teaching; she will teach Food and Nutrition. She is keen to raise the level awareness of the importance of good nutrition not only for personal health benefits but also for the employment opportunities provided by the industry.

Naturally enough, Nicola's interests include food, nutrition and catering; she has completed a post graduate diploma in Community Nutrition and says that she is on a mission to improve food and nutrition in schools generally and our school particularly.

May your stay at Silverstream, Nicola, provide you with all the opportunity you need to make that difference – welcome.

Cindy Ford

Cindy has come to Silverstream as a Literary Resource person. She is a teacher of vast experience and long standing in literature, literacy and English language teaching, and for a time was a secondary school adviser in these areas.

Cindy has an Irish husband and two daughters who stretch their parents' management skills with interest as diverse as tennis, soccer and piano. Her own interests include the renovation project and, of course, Book Club activities.

Cindy, we bid you a warm welcome; may you soon feel part of the Stream family.

Nick Wilson

Nick is a born and bred Mainlander – born and educated in Nelson he comes to Stream with a broad pallet of educational experience. He has had strong involvement in youth ministry and been a boarding master and teacher at Garin College. Nick has gained all the right skills for the boarding school.

At Silverstream Nick's interests are in R.E., Health, boarding school and ministry team.

Early in the year he married Lorraine and in January 2008 they were blessed with their first child, Flynn. Nick and Lorraine, may your family prosper and grow and may Silverstream challenge and reward you in your journey together.

Deborah Murrell

Deborah comes to Silverstream from the Porirua Public Library – children's section and feels that she has found her niche. She has been overheard, "I love working here." Libraries have always been her thing it's a kind of a vocation with her.

Deborah is local born and bred, is a mother and has a range of challenging interests: reading (of course), archery, gardening, music, crafts, ... Sounds like the perfect person for Silverstream. Deborah, you are most welcome; may your time here be fulfilling.

Glenda Pope

Glenda needs no introduction really as she has for a long time managed the tuck shop. During the year she was appointed to a position in the boarding school.

Glenda has an army background and a son at the College making her an ideal supervisor. Welcome, Glenda, to your new role; may it be an enjoyable challenge and a rewarding experience.

Farewell

Bronwyn Lea-Hallot

Bronwyn came to St Patrick's College after spending time in primary schools and working as an interior designer. She has been part of the Silverstream family for a long time, having been a long time reliever and living on site at the time of her appointment.

Bronwyn is a very passionate teacher, giving her time willingly in many areas of College life.

She became a valued member of each department she worked in ably taking the initiative in a number of areas to the benefit of her students.

Health issues precipitated a change of direction and sadly Bronwyn has now left the College. All the best Bronwyn as you tread a new and uncharted path.

God bless, you will be missed.

Esref Zajko

One comes and one goes. With Esref moving on to Wellington College, the old foe, it is a double blow. We lose a fabulous maths teacher and they get him! Where is the justice in that? Esref has a unique style in the classroom; he gives himself totally – 100% all the time.

While some boys have had difficulty understanding him due to their poor listening skills and ability in only one language, I believe there is not one of his students who could ever say that he has not gained from being in Esref's class.

New Zealand has a shortage of good teachers – we need to be ready to have teachers from overseas in our schools and we need to grow up. Just because a teacher has English as his second or third language does not mean that that person cannot teach. If we had taken that view we would not have had Esref at our school and we would have been the poorer for that! The input he gave to our department was remarkable and we will endeavour to maintain his standards and level of creativity – it won't be easy.

Farewell, Esref, and thank you; all that you have contributed ensures that part of you will always be here.

Paul Western

Paul came to Silverstream in 2005 after having a seven year period of working for a lawn mowing company. A very experienced and passionate teacher, he soon made his mark on the College. Drawing on life's rich tapestry he was able to weave into his teaching stories of intrigue and compost. His expert use of the data projector to provide interesting and interactive lessons for his students became a model for his colleagues.

Paul's well developed sense of humour and avid participation in the "Trademe" phenomenon became legendary.

During his time at Silverstream, Paul has taught Business Studies, Social Studies, Accounting and Economics. He was also the "Specialist Teacher" for 2006 and 2007. In the sporting arena he has coached the under 55kg "B" team for three years.

As a resident of the Kapiti Coast, life will become simpler for Paul as he takes up the economics teacher position at Kapiti College. Kapiti is very lucky to have his services and talents; we know he will do a great job there as he has done here. Kapiti's gain: Stream's loss.

All the best, Paul, we will miss you.

Heather Pigou

Early in term one Heather Pigou, librarian since 2001, left the College bound for a new and challenging career in the Ministry of Defence.

Heather had been librarian for nearly six years and during that time proved to be, not only a capable and innovative librarian, but also a joyous and genial member of staff. She committed herself wholeheartedly to the college and in a short time seemed to know the names of all students, taken over the hockey teams, become a member of the social committee, organised a staff choir and had a team of student helpers.

Under her guidance the library developed into a most useful asset with computers, an on line catalogue and a computerised book control system. Heather's ability to provide resources for projects was legendary and her willingness to speak to classes on research matters could always be relied on. Heather always made herself available during inclement weather – the library would be crowded with well ordered students seeking respite from the cold. At such times one got sense of Heather's pastoral concern for the boys.

Heather will be missed by us all, but we wish her well in the new adventure she has chosen for herself. Thank you, Heather, for your professionalism, thank you for your friendship and thank you for all that you have contributed to Stream.

Elizabeth Pack

Elizabeth arrived at the College, expecting to stay only for a short while. But, as fate sometimes dictates, her stay was longer than expected and possibly longer than she would have liked, as she had many other interests which came to be put on hold.

She taught a number of subjects; Visual Art, Religious Education and Health, with commitment and with the concern that her students enjoy some level of success.

Elizabeth leaves us to pursue her art interests; in this field she is a successful exhibitor and designer and has begun a new endeavour in this area.

We wish her well in her pursuits – maybe our paths will cross again.

Dan Bidwell

Dan Bidwell came to Silverstream as a new teacher in 2006. He came with a thunderous passion to teach Religious Studies and this was aided by his unequalled prowess with I.T.

He is a completely committed teacher, often spending long hours researching cool projects, activities and movies for his students to engage in. He single-handedly revolutionised the online RE resources for the school and revamped the Yr 11 retreat for 2007. For a beginning teacher to accomplish these tasks, was a phenomenal achievement, to say the least! Mr. Bidwell completed two years at Silverstream, received his full teachers' registration and left a legacy that will inspire others.

His coaching of the 3rd XI saw the team rise from the bottom of the table to take out the division. No mean feat. What Silverstream has lost, Sancta Maria in Auckland has gained.

We wish you well, Mr. Dan, 'Sectare Fidem',

Kay Maycroft

Kay worked in the office for six years beginning early in 1991 and left to care for her husband. After his convalescence they sneaked off on a tour of Europe which included stopping off at the Rugby World Cup.

Kay's principle task was receptionist, a job which she always performed with intelligence and great good humour. Her cheerful, musical laughter and great wit will be missed for a long time yet.

We wish her and her husband every grace and blessing wherever they are led.

Year 13 Special Academic Awards

The Michael King Memorial Cup is in memory of a famous Old Boy who attended Silverstream from 1960 - 63. Michael King was a distinguished historian, author, book reviewer and social commentator who died in a car accident in 2004 – his loss was widely considered to be a national tragedy. Michael King wrote well over thirty books covering an extensive range of subjects, from “Being Pakeha”, to “The Rainbow Warrior” and “The Moriori”, and from “New Zealanders at War” to “An Inward Sun: The World of Janet Frame”, and perhaps most famously, “The Penguin History of New Zealand”. The Michael King Memorial Cup has been donated by the Old Boys’ Association and is awarded to the student who shows outstanding achievement in at least three of the Humanities; Religious Education, English, History and Classics.

Year 13 Special Awards

The Te Ara o Tawhaki Cup

Tawhaki was a celebrated hero of Polynesia; his marvellous deeds are still celebrated in song, spoken about in legends, proverbs and prayers. Tawhaki, according to Māori mythology, ascended the heavens and returned with the baskets of knowledge and religion. His name is given to the oceans of Aotearoa, New Zealand – to the Tasman Sea, to the seas on the western side of the North Island and the seas off the eastern and southern coasts of the South Island. They are called the Rough Seas of Tawhaki. The Te Ara o Tawhaki Cup, (the path of Tawhaki), donated by the Ritchie Family, is awarded to a student in Year 13 who has grasped the buckets of knowledge, has navigated through the “Rough Seas” and through great effort on his part has turned his life pathway around to become the person he is today.

Jane Doe

by

Eamon Rood (12AH)

Wet, golden leaves are crushed into the cold, hard ground by the soles of my thick leather shoes. The tired afternoon sun falls gently on the path ahead of me, filtered softly through the skeletal branches that arch above me head. This arch stretches into the distance to form a tunnel of cold, naked branches. I dig my hands deeper into the warm pockets of my trench coat, I breath out a cloud of thick billowing fog from behind my thick woollen scarf. I amble dreamily, lost in thought towards the tunnel opening, where I can make out the delicate twinkling of light reflected in the frozen blades of grass.

Just as I reach the tunnel opening, emerging into the sunlight, something reaches out and grabs my attention. From the corner of my eye, lying on the path to the right of me is a pigeon, passed away and now frozen in time. It's stiff, dead wings striking a dramatic last pose in the moments before its death. In morbid fascination, I bend down for closer scrutiny, taking note of every detail of its final pose. It's slightly open beak with visibly frozen tongue, half open eye lids with frozen glass eyes and its stiff frozen wings spread out against the dirt. The image of this little bird strikes a chord deep within my conscience, running parallel with a memory I have tried to bury. A mnemonic wave passes through me and I begin to recall a most disturbing moment.

My mind flashes back to an inner city park, five winters ago and two hundred kilometres away. I remember walking down the cobblestone path beset on either side by brilliant white snow. The icy cobblestones forced met to carefully plant each step to avoid slipping over. The delicate snow flakes that froze the pores of my skin as the fell upon me face are fresh in my memory. I remember straying from the path to trudge through the thick blanket of snow towards the frozen pond, which shimmered like a glass ocean. I stood under the naked skeletal trees surrounding the pond, and my eyes followed the frozen stream, that snaked into the distance. I was as usual, lost in thought and I meandered under the phantom trees following the course of the stream. But I remember how suddenly and how violently my thoughts were interrupted when I lay eyes upon her and her upon me.

Those ice covered blue eyes staring through me has always been burned into my memory like a branding iron. The clusters of frost that hung from her soft, brown hair and eyebrows. Eyelashes and skin. Even her teeth, which were made visible by her slightly open mouth forever frozen in place. The always open mouth. The icicles hanging from her fingernails stemming from her blue fingers which lay palm side up, frozen to her forehead. The delicate features that formed a once pretty face were contrasted with signs of violence. Purple bruises and red scabs covered her face, screaming to me the violent nature of her death. I would learn later from new reports that she had been stabbed through the chest which ultimately caused her death. I could not see this at the time, as she was buried from the shoulders down in a coffin of frozen dirt with a pall of white snow. What was never known was her name, nor the name of her murderer. Even to this day, as I kneel over the mnemonic dead bird that brought her back into my thoughts, she remains as just another cadaver, another corpse, another number named Jane Doe.

Boarding School

Overview

Two thousand and seven started off with a highlight for boarding at St Pat's, Silverstream with the appointment of Sofara Aiono as head boy of the College, Charles Lloyd was appointed as a deputy head boy, Joseph Kelland and Dion Fitzgerald were appointed prefects, (congratulations, boys). More than 70 domestic and international boarders enjoyed the benefits of boarding. These included seven-day and five-day boarders, and students who boarded for a short time for the sporting and study advantages. Our boarders came from throughout New Zealand, including local students who wanted to gain the advantages of boarding full time.

Boarding enrolments for the 2008 academic year are again at a high with over thirty new boarders joining our family. Once again we were delighted to have received excellent support during the year from current boarders, their parents, and old boys throughout New Zealand. This support has highlighted the advantages of boarding to prospective parents and students. The boarding team spread the word about boarding at information evenings, field days, A&P shows and Catholic primary schools throughout Taranaki, Hawke's Bay, Manawatu, Wairarapa, Kapiti Coast, Central Plateau and for the first time Poverty Bay.

Following these events, the Try Boarding weekends in May and June, for Year 8 prospective boarders, was a huge success. Over the two try boarding weekends thirty nine boys enjoyed the action packed fun of living like a boarder.

Our boarding newsletter, Streamlines, continued to keep prospective and current boarders up to date with the achievements and adventures of boarders. A new database system was also established to improve the ease and timeliness of communication with parents and supporters of our current and prospective boarders.

In addition, a new boarding section was also established on the school's new website, which is regularly updated with boarding news, upcoming events and testimonials.

Boarding staff & supporters

During 2007 there were a number of comings and goings to the boarding staff for various reasons, but by the end of 2007 our dedicated team was: David Ritchie – Dean of Boarders; Glenda Pope - Supervisor; Patricia Scholes - Matron/Day time Supervisor; Peter Hicks - Supervisor; Nick Wilson - Supervisor; Tom Chambers - Part time Supervisor; Manu Paringatai - Part time Supervisor. They were assisted by international GAP tutors Michael Richter and Gerrit Woerner both from Germany.

At the end of the third term Joe Goodman returned home to the UK to pursue his education dreams, he has been replaced by Tom Chambers. We also welcome Mrs Glenda Pope who replaced Paul McNamee who left us to seek his own personal goals. In August - September our long serving international GAP tutors, Jo Carvill from the UK, Felix from Germany, and Eoin and Alan from Ireland returned home to finish off their education, they have been replaced by Michael and Gerrit. Those who have left we thank them and wish well in their future endeavours and extend a warm welcome to those who have joined us.

Dean of Boarders, Dave Ritchie, attended the New Zealand Boarding Schools' Conference in May, where he was elected onto the Executive Committee of the New Zealand Boarding Schools' Association. He was able to contribute to the continued development of boarding at St Pat's with the latest knowledge, facilities and networking opportunities that were brought back to the boarding team.

Many thanks this year go to the Boarding Parents' Committee for their hard work and support of the Boarding School. The committee was extremely supportive of the College's goals of continuous improvement in the experience of current boarders and an increase in future boarder numbers.

Boarder achievements

Boarders constantly contributed in a positive way to all academic, sporting, cultural and religious activities in the College in 2007.

These included: Academic excellence: Senior boarders scooped the majority of the senior academic and diligence prizes. This is an outstanding achievement as senior boarders only account for one eighth of the overall senior students. junior boarders also achieved good academic results

Sporting achievements: Boarders were dedicated sportspeople during both the summer and winter sports seasons, contributing significantly to the sporting achievements of the College. Notable inclusions are the Old Boys' Cup (athletics), national cross-country championships, 1st XI soccer, 1st XV rugby and 1st XI hockey.

School responsibilities

Next year with the introduction of a new house system to the College and house leaders replacing prefects it was pleasing to see a number of boarders being selected to attend the Marist Youth Leaders' course in Christchurch in the new year, those attending will be: James Maher, Ernest Ullrich, Corey Casey and Tony Hsiung.

Events for boarders

Family oriented boarding events were held throughout the year to strengthen bonds between boarders, their families and boarding school staff. These included the Year 9 introduction barbeque, boarding school family fun day boarders' cricket match and raft race, Boarding School Open Day, Try Boarding weekends, new boarder orientation weekend, St Patrick's Day festivities, and Christmas dinner.

The turnout of boarders' family, friends, and old boys to these events was wonderful. Old friendships were renewed and new ones formed. Our thanks go to the Boarders Parents' Committee, boarding staff, and our senior boys Sofara Aiono, Charles Lloyd and Joseph Kelland for their contributions to organising and managing these events.

Dean of Boarders (Dave Ritchie) delivering his safety brief to parents and competitors before the start of the Raft race.

Spiritual Matters

Throughout the year the spiritual wellbeing of our boarders was well looked after by our Marist team of Fathers Kevin Murphy and Mark Walls. Their wisdom, guidance and generosity in contributing to Sunday mass, reconciliations and retreats for our boarders were greatly appreciated by both boarders and staff. It was again pleasing to see a number of boarders joining in the college's sacramental programs of Baptism, Confirmation and first Communion. The following boarders were involved: Tony Hsiung, Ernest Ullrich, and Rory McGrath.

Tutoring & facilities updates

Every boarder was encouraged and supported to reach his academic potential throughout the year. Extra tutoring hours and staff resources were allocated to junior and senior boarders, with pleasing academic end-of-year results.

New bean bags were purchased for the junior and senior TV lounges as well new cutlery for their kitchen areas, all this was provided by the Boarders Parents Committee.

Boarding into the future

The demand for boarding places at the College is high, with Year 9 boarding places full for 2008. Boarding enrolments for 2009 are already steady, with demand expected to increase during the year. High demand means boarding is no longer a second-chance option for day pupils who miss out on an initial place. An early enrolment date was established last year to ensure parents have their sons enrolled as early as possible, increasing their chances of securing a boarding place.

With this exciting growth in mind, the boarding team is looking forward to a great year ahead as we strive to continuously improve the academic, sporting, cultural and religious achievements of boarders at St Pat's Silverstream Boarding School.

Year 13 Ball

One of the annual highlights of the year is the Year 13 ball. This year the Year 13 boarders held a pre-ball get together with their parents, partners and boarding staff in the old community common room before heading off to the ball.

SiSoMo

Multi-Media Concert 2007

During 2007, the Music and Art Departments collaborated to present a performance and visual program incorporating the elements of Sight, Sound and Motion (SiSoMo).

This MultiMedia approach to Musical Performances and Art Exhibition calls on those related senses of the audience and also heightens the awareness of the performers and those preparing the exhibits as their involvement within their projects is focussed on the audience and their experience of the event.

The work of art students involved their projects being projected onto existing structures. This presented its own technical challenges. With the support of Mr Hunter and his Computing Department, Mr Browne and his filming crew and with Mr Stedman's input, equipment was resourced from within the College and effectively deployed without extraordinary expense.

The musical performances were enhanced by projecting live images of stage performers onto the overhead screen. This added an exciting dimension to the concert and the development of this concept looks promising.

The students enjoyed the experience in all its phases: The preparation, the performance and the positive feedback of the audiences. What was especially pleasing, was the collaboration between the departments of Music, Art, Computing, Media Studies and the wonderful support of staff members who volunteered to assist with additional tasks that made the event a success.

Library News

Two thousand and seven was certainly a busy year in the Library.

Librarian, Heather Pigou left at the end of term one having, during her tenure, brought the Library collection up to a high standard and creating a special rapport with the boys and staff alike. A relieving teacher who spent some time in the Library with classes during term four commented that, having worked in many schools over the years, the quality and depth of the collection here was the best she had seen - evidence of careful selection and a credit to Heather. I took up my position at the beginning of Term 2.

Five hundred and forty one new books were added to the collection during the year of which, 352 were non-fiction and 189 were fiction. A new subscription to Tone magazine late in the year has proven popular as have the new graphic novels.

The Library remains a popular destination at interval and lunchtime (particularly on cold and wet winter days when the heaters are as much of a lure as the books) as well as for homework after school and it is gratifying to see how many students make such good use of the excellent resources available to them.

Librarians

Some of the most popular new books added include:

Snakehead: Anthony Horowitz. The seventh in the hugely popular Alex Rider spy series.

Tunnels: Roderick Gordon & Brian Williams. A boy with a passion for digging, who, when searching underground for his missing father unearths a terrifying secret.

Double or Die: Charlie Higson. The fourth in the Young Bond series.

The Art of the Catapult – Build Greek Ballistae, Roman Onagers, English Trebuchets and More Ancient Artillery: William Gurstelle.

Disappointingly eighty-nine books were unaccounted for at the end of year stocktake. Some of these will have to be replaced next year as they were part of the core collection which means less money available for expansion. The return of any Library books is always welcomed.

As a result of attending a course at the University of Waikato 'Web 2.0 to Library 2.0' in November and learning about the potential now available to libraries to promote themselves and connect to their users. I intend to further develop the library service to students with the aim of encouraging them to consider the Library site an important and relevant part of their information retrieval requirements.

Deborah Murrell, Librarian

Technology Department

This has been a very busy and hectic year. Many new initiatives have been started and some accomplished. We have developed successful links with industry.

The new Gateway program has seen a number of our young men try out various work place experiences and have been motivated to follow those careers as a result of this one day a week hands on experience.

Most of our senior furniture and building students have completed their Site Safe course which was sponsored by Star funding. These young men are now able to work safely in an industrial environment from building to manufacture.

This year we were able to offer for the first time food technology as a junior rotation subject. We thank Mandy Bartosh who set it up and passed it over to Nicola Potts who joined us this year, she is an amazing and very experienced senior teacher who is also developing our Level 3 Hospitality and Baristas course as well.

Mr Dick Etteridge is no stranger to our school having had two sons pass through our doors some years prior. Dick is an entrepreneur who encourages our boys to develop brochures for his various products. He is wonderfully patient and supportive man. His other initiatives towards the school in the social adjustment of our not so well off young men by getting sponsors to take them hunting and fishing which is currently being set up will be taking off next year.

his own wood lathe and Matthew Jordan searching the net for one as well. Our boys were invited this year to demonstrate and display their wood turned bowls at the Annual guild display to the public. We were the only school present and our work did our school and students proud with many experienced wood workers impressed with the standard of their work. Well done boys.

Mr Burns has been very active this year taking his senior carpentry students out once a week onto a house building site. Here they have watched how a house has developed thus bringing a realistic practical element to their theory work. These same students have been building non regulation garden sheds for a member of staff. These are portable and have been built in sections. A lot of thought and experience has been added to these students.

With small beginnings we have been able to develop our metalwork department again and are hoping for a good class response for next year. These need to find the time to upgrade their own skills as programmes are changing all the time. This growing and very important aspect which also links with Art design and graphics is so necessary in the 21st Century.

We are very happy with our success rate in Unit Standards and are pleased with the high pass rate we are achieving. This is due to the skills, patience and hard work of the teachers in our department, Mr. Kevin Burn in particular who supported and ran our department while I was recovering from surgery, Mr Rob Tungatt in the junior hard materials rotation and maths workshop level 1 and Mr Mike O'Leary in junior hard materials rotation.

Wood Turning an art and a craft

Four of our senior Design Technology students were invited to present their completed wood turning items at the annual Wellington Wood Workers' Guild display at the Lower Hutt Horticultural Hall. Items ranged from bowls, platters, and candle stick holders to trinket boxes with lids.

Well done, James Charlesworth, Matthew Jordan, Timothy Stott and Jonathan Zaloumis, on an outstanding display. The boys have been coached by Mr Hugh Mill (professional wood turner) and Mr Pat Hallot.

The standard of their work was very high and attracted a large number of very positive comments. St Patrick's was the only College asked to display work.

Mr. Hugh Mill, a retired Deputy Principal and NZ renowned wood turner, who is also chairman of the wood workers guild of Wellington has been invited to demonstrate to the senior design students the finer arts of bowl turning and clock making. The result has been Tim Stott buying students have been very ably guided by Mr. Dave Ritchie who has ignited the passion and desire to follow an engineering career in the years to follow.

Our graphics students are making good use of the five high spec. computers on offer. Somehow staff will

Who knows, hopefully these young men will continue to enjoy wood turning long after they leave school for the sheer pleasure it brings.

Maths Report 2007

The mathematics department welcomed Saul Treadwell into the fold and he quickly settled in to be a very good addition to our corridor.

We literally hummed this year with the maths classes use of data projectors and computers now well established.

The combined scholarship programme (see box), led by Esref Zajko, was a great fillip for our seniors and those from Upper Hutt College. We had hoped that more of our top boys might have taken this up, as it turned out we were outnumbered! They missed out on tremendous input from Mr Zajko.

Preparation for all seniors in the last term was very well coordinated and we now wait expectantly for the NCEA results to come through.

Many Year 12 students seemed to have a greater confidence this year in the use of the graphics calculator which was a goal for the department.

Statistics Scholarship

An initiative between Year 13 Scholarship students from St Patrick's and Upper Hutt Colleges led to statistics teachers from the two mathematics departments combining to offer students extra study.

Fifteen students from the two schools met weekly with the goal of passing New Zealand Scholarship.

Students were split into groups by school and gender to discuss problems and reach understanding. After all groups had achieved this the next task was tackled.

This was a most successful initiative receiving great support from parents, staff and the students themselves.

At the junior level we introduced in greater numbers, new text books. We had waited for the curriculum to settle down before deciding that it was time to provide better texts.

Next year we will have all Year 10 using the new text and will introduce it for the top senior classes.

For the maths staff, once again, the desire to share ideas and resources and support each other was the glue that made us strong. Well done, maths team.

Hugh Steel HoD Maths

Pacific Festival

The Polynesian Group prepared busily for the Polynesian Festival held at the TSB Arena on Wednesday 8th August.

Under the very able leadership of the Year 13 students, especially Ofisa Tacao, Denis Gotomagale, Lincoln Hapeta and Greg Lealofi they presented a technically polished performance which was marked by the tremendous enthusiasm of the group, especially the Juniors. They had worked extremely hard for many evenings and weekends; it was great to see their efforts rewarded.

English Department

The department continues to maintain its high standards with a dedicated and committed team.

Staff members have shown themselves to be adaptable in modifying their programmes to cater for the diverse needs of their students.

The NCEA programmes from Levels 1-3 now have alternative courses at each level to assist less able students and to avoid some students having to repeat the previous level.

We are always looking for ways to support our less able students and also to extend our more able ones. We believe that all students have skills and that the variety we have within our classes will allow them to be developed and maximised. We continue to make reading compulsory at all levels.

Additional youth and energy were welcomed to the department in the form of Tanya Henderson, a first year teacher, who joined us at the beginning of the year. The dynamic duo of Phillipa and Tanya, the twins as they are known around the College, are a huge asset. Among their many talents they coached the winning drama team in the O'Shea Shield.

We encourage our students to watch live theatre productions and this year we took a group of students to see a very good production of OTHELLO at Downstage.

It has been a privilege to have been head of this department for a number of years. Professionalism and willingness to give extra time to students have been exceptional. We also have a lot of fun together! I will be exchanging roles with Simon Fordyce and I wish him all the best for the future.

Spiritual

Two thousand and seven was an outstanding year for young Marist Silverstream men to become awesome disciples and men of faith.

Eighteen graduates of Marist Youth Leader training;

Three graduates of Young Marist Neighbours courses;

Twenty-six young Silverstream men of Faith being called as Eucharistic Ministers;

Thirty-two students and staff answering God's Call to be Baptised, Confirmed and making their first Holy Communion.

All these ways of sharing faith and being involved in college and class Masses, and Sunday evening Masses with many opportunities to receive the Sacraments. The inspiration of welcoming the World Youth day Cross and Icon of Mary on their journey throughout New Zealand.

The Spiritual Year of 2007 in the College is aptly described in the piece quoted at the Graduation Mass for Year 13 in November,

"Life is not a journey to the grave with the intention of arriving safely in a well preserved body, but rather to skid in - broadside, thoroughly used up and totally worn out, and loudly proclaiming,

'WOW! WHAT A RIDE!'"

Ministry

August 14 and 15 were red letter days in the spiritual life of the College.

At Assembly on Tuesday 14, Fr Kevin installed sixteen Year 12 students as Special Ministers of the Eucharist. For this event Assembly was held in the Chapel and the sixteen boys are now commissioned to distribute Communion to the College Community and if necessary to take Communion to the sick.

On August 15, the Feast of the Assumption, Mass was celebrated in the Chapel to commemorate the feast, to baptise five members of our community and to offer First Holy Communion to another sixteen. This is a great event in the life of the College and in the lives of the community members concerned.

We offer them our congratulations on this milestone in their lives.

Year 11 Retreat

The Year 11 Retreat was held at the Silverstream Retreat Centre on Thursday the 2nd and Friday the 3rd of August.

The theme for this year's retreat was 'Streamin' for Success', which focussed on how students could apply MARIST qualities and values to becoming a success in life, whether that be in studies, sport, work or relationships with others.

A MARIST man demonstrates the following qualities and values;

- M for motivation
- A for attentiveness
- R for respect
- I for initiating
- S for supporting
- T for trustworthy

The day began with a prayer from our chaplain, Father Kev Murphy, SM, followed by a session where teachers outlined what each of the values meant to them.

Students were then broken up into groups and sent off to a range of activities which unpacked those Marist values.

The Retreat concluded with Reconciliation and Mass.

The Retreat proved to be a real highlight for our Year 11's, and many have since commented how they have been able to apply what they learned from the retreat to their lives. One student made the comment, "Being a Marist Man is hard. Every little thing we do counts to being a Marist man."

Holy Week

A Passion Paraliturgy was held on Holy Thursday before school broke up for the holidays.

The event was a massive undertaking as it involved the entire junior school performing to the seniors.

Each junior religious education class took a particular part of the passion story from the Last Supper through to Jesus' crucifixion.

Each class was free to interpret how it would perform that particular scene, which culminated in eclectic performances from the juniors. There were drama, singing, dancing and multimedia presentations which made it a moving experience for all involved.

It was an amazing feat for all the classes involved as they ably seamed everything together on the day having had only one dress rehearsal.

It certainly felt like the Spirit was working with us that day!

Student Council

The idea of having a Student Council first came from Mr Mahoney; in his previous school the Council had been a vital forum for students to have their say and to take direct action on issues to improve the school.

The Council was made up with twenty-eight representatives – one from each Form Class. Regular meetings were well chaired by Sofara Aiono.

The first few meetings were spent deciding on how the Council would be run.

The Council easily drew up three or four pages of ideas that form classes wanted to see implemented and this was narrowed down to the main projects for 2007. These included a very successful coin "Rugby World Cup" tournament; a presentation to the College assembly about students looking after College facilities; sending a donation to a College in Tonga and funding one of the new house banners for 2008.

Next year will see the introduction of vertical forms and a revamp of the house system. Once these are underway we will need to revisit the make-up of the Student Council to make sure form classes and houses are represented, and that students continue to have a voice in the College.

Council members are proud of what they have achieved in only their first year of office.

Gateway Experience

The Gateway Programme is a collaboration between school and industry designed to provide students with a real experience of the workaday world. In 2007 twenty-five boys from St Pat's took advantage of this opportunity which gave them access to a number of industry unit standard credits to add to their certificates of educational achievement.

Duke of Edinburgh Gold Awards

The Gold Expedition had been in the barrel for awhile now; the first time in St. Pat's history that a group would go into the Nelson Lakes National park, a wild place of wonderful glacial valleys and intense snow. There had been much hype over this trip, with the Duke of Edinburgh office initially not wanting us to go there due to an, "Avalanche risk." This got the potential Golds even more fired up to go on what would be a very difficult, yet rewarding journey.

A series of meetings and gear evenings made sure that everyone was ready and adequately equipped. No way would we find out during a blizzard that half the group didn't bring jackets.

We set out in the new school van, highly amused by that cool hammer thing that makes a beeping noise when you touch it. We boarded the ferry and contemplated ways to get into 300 without paying. We tried pretending to know no English, but only the "seato" boys (Sam, Boe (Samboe) and Christian) knew (part of) another language. Mateus managed to win about five toys out of a crane game, much to the frustration of an older woman who really wanted a toy, but who, according to Mateus, our self-proclaimed crane champion, lacked the necessary judgment. He managed to get us some free hot chips by winning a certain toy for the kitchen staff on the ferry. Mr Nawalaniec gave us an impromptu lesson on the geology of the Marlborough Sounds as we entered them, but most of the Golds seemed more intent on recreating some scenes from the Titanic by standing on the chairs on the top deck.

Arriving in the South Island, we allowed David a brief 'one small step for David' to celebrate his first time to the island. We also told him stories about how South Islanders wear hats on their feet and that hamburgers eat people. We raged most, if not, all of the fast food joints on the way to St. Arnaud, transforming the new school van into a cauldron of smells: pizza blended with KFC, blended with McD's – yes, you could say it was our last supper, because tomorrow we kicked off proceedings with a practice tramp.

"Enjoy it while it lasts," said Tom Cruise; Tom Nackylacky; Avalanche Joe; Claims; (Mr. Nawalaniec). We set up camp on the shores of Lake Rotoiti, near the small, but pie-full town of Saint Arnaud.

The first day saw us, unfortunately, not travelling up (the very politically incorrect) Chinaman's Creek, but instead (the aptly named) Rough Creek. This was meant as a training and acclimatisation day so we weren't just plunged into the harsh Travers-Sabine Circuit. This was an untracked area so we Golds had to think about where to walk and cross the creek.

We enjoyed this as it wasn't just standard "follow the track" tramping, you actually had to plan your route about 20 minutes in advance, so close looks at the terrain was necessary.

Climbing up to the top, we came across a huge waterfall which was actually left behind by an old glacier. At the top we came across a few frozen tarns, and made the decision to turn around back to the van as there was not enough time left in the day. A faster pace was going to be needed, as this tramp was only done with daypacks!

The first day of the circuit began with a long walk along Lake Rotoiti and up the Travers River to John Tait Hut. We were all annoyed when halfway along the lake Tom Cruise blurted out to us that next year's Golds will be getting the boat across the lake. Absolutely maddening. We walked and walked and walked and walked and walked... into the fading daylight and stumbled into the hut with our headlights switched on and into a family of four Danes who were doing the same tramp and an experienced American who was doing a similar walk.

Waking bright and early next day looked set to be a very hard, yet mercifully short one. The weather was perfect and this was great as we were going to camp up on the highest point in the tramp, just under 2000m, on Travers Saddle. Just as we began the main climb, however, it began to snow lightly, which was a magical experience, and a first-time for some. Two keas made their way around as we scampered up the still-ice-covered midday rocks.

Setting up camp, it would be an extreme understatement to say we quickly cooled down, we realised just why we were carrying so many thermals. The small alpine lakes ("tarns") up on the saddle were partially frozen at 4pm, and still the temperature plummeted. The "Awolo / Duma" boys (David, Richard, Chris and Ben) began screaming about the cold just to get some feeling into their limbs, and to get some rage out against whatever it was that compelled them to come here. According to Mr. Watson, it got down to minus 8°C but we agreed it felt like minus 40 (lucky for Boe and his magic sleeping bag).

Whacking up the Travers Valley.

A camp with a cool view.

Waking up to two frozen tarns we were understandably slow to start. Some decided to follow Tom up to Rainbow Pass and to ascend above 2000m.

Group photos were taken, with Michael McNair expertly aligning the top of Mt. Travers into the background. It had an uncanny resemblance to the peak of Mt. Everest. Eventually we were packed up and left the literally freezing saddle and followed chamois tracks down to the warmth of being below the bush line.

We continued downward, past the West-Sabine hut and along the long and lonesome road to Sabine hut on the shores of Lake Rotorua, again having to do at least an hour of night-tramping and having to deal with DOC time estimates that were way out of whack (a sign that says half an hour shouldn't be out by an hour and a half!!). Still, it was good to feel moderately warm after such a cold morning.

The last day was pretty much a Mission Impossible-like tramp out of "The Bush" as David put it. We were budgeted one stop for lunch and had to wake up at 6:00am to get ready, as well as dividing into two travelling parties: advance and catch-up. It was fairly easy terrain however, and we mostly made it by 2.40pm with twenty minutes to spare.

Coming back to civilisation, we regained our lost weight with fast food and possibly gave the biggest order at "Macca's" ever. The ferry ride back was good, with a weird musician and funny looks from ferry passengers at our dirty faces and many cuts and bruises. The Golds were much more subdued on this trip though, reflecting the intensity of the trip.

A big, "thank you," goes to Mr. Watson, Mr. Nawalaniec and to Tracy, Bianca, Flossy, Possum and Vicky for all the effort they put into the trip. And to next year's Golds beware, you'll hate the tramp at the time, but looking back, you'll love it, mark my words.

Those taking part were Richard Law, Ben Whiteford, David Archibald, Boe Tatham-Brugh and Mateus Czudaj.

The Silver Expedition

The practice tramp was organized for Saturday, August 4th which turned out to be a mild spring day but when we all met at Mt Climie Park we found it closed to visitors because of a poison bait drop. The plan was to take an untracked ridge up to the top of the range (860m) and after lunch to take another track through the bush. An alternative plan was activated and we relayed out the Akatarawa Road and into another tramping zone around Mt Barton (627m).

It was the usual fun day with some challenges navigating winding stream beds. When we emerged we were amazed find that Mr Whitefield had prepared a BBQ for us and the food was enjoyed by all.

The main expedition followed at the end of term and the Friday evening saw the trampers gathered on Silverstream station ready to catch the unit to Upper Hutt. We boarded the new Wairarapa Express unit shortly after 5pm. Bundling our gear into the guard's van we scattered ourselves among the weekend commuters mostly reading or listening to Ipods. We got out at Woodside and were delighted to catch up with Vicky and her dog, both now, integral parts of College tramps.

We stayed over night at the Waiohine Camp and tramped next day into the Ranges and over Mt Reeves (900m) which must be one of the most tiring tracks in the region, then on down the other side into the Tauherenikau Valley. We camped at Cone Flats where many opted to sleep out.

We arose the next morning to face the challenge of an untracked climb to the tops. Luckily for our plans the water level in the river permitted us to tramp up the narrow river valley which became steadily steeper and more "gorgy". We followed a tributary up to the top of Cone Mt (1055m). Some of the boys found the climb demanding.

It is certainly no place for people who are scared of heights because in places we were holding on for grim life.

We returned to the camp for tea and sat around the camp fire chatting and yarning when van Opdorp burned one of his boots. Next day we tramped out and eventually arrived at the pick up point to the welcome sight of the bus waiting at the cattlestop.

A vote of thanks was made to the leadership Mr Boyle, Mr Nawalaniec and Ms Vicky Bullmore.

Silvers were Jerome Betham, Cameron Vannisselroy, Michael Clark, Gerard Farrell, Matthew Henden, Christian Lloyd, Philip Leyten, Daniel Munro, Dylan van Opdorp, Lane Pedersen, Ben Thomson and James Whitefield.

The Bronze Expedition Report

This year's expedition was a stunner! No rain, no school and no deaths. From the third to the fifth of December, the guys who had stuck with the Award were gifted with a great few days of adventure. Following clear instructions to beware of too much weight in the packs the mostly inexperienced group of trampers began what was to be a journey of steep uphill, downhill and relentless 'bush bashing' tracks hand picked by Joe N. our leader. Most of the students overcame the obstacles in high spirits and most are pretty keen to do it all again in the Silver Award.

On the Monday morning we had a gear check and we jumped on the bus and started off. Soon we were climbing up the puffer and beginning to spread out at our own pace with Mr Watson in the rear supporting the group in the slow lane. When Nethran Pathmanathan found a stick that Gandalf would have been proud of and gifted it to Ra Logan, there was an inkling of envy from a number of students and leaders.

Finally reaching the lunch spot we had a short break before resuming on the steep downhill to the Smith Creek hut. We journeyed up the river for the next three hours to our campsite. At around five in the evening we all arrived at Tutawai Flats to set up camp where we found a large number of Rudolf Steiner children already encamped. But the sight of the girls in skimpy summer wear was too much for the leaders and we decided to push up the river to another campsite near the mouth of the Omega Stream. We set up our tents, cooked a meal and played at the river side. That night the skies were starlit and many meteors were seen.

The next day some of us were injured and lined up for compassionate leave from the day's adventures. We stayed with Mr Watson and gathered firewood and slept. The majority of the group led by Joe and Des set off to follow the Omega Stream to the tops. Early on the journey Tyler Neve slipped on a wet rock and cracked his head and damaged some of his front teeth. He was taken back to Camp by Silvers Daniel Munroe and James Whitefield. The remainder of the group continued to venture upstream through gorges, over high cliffs and across steep gullies, finally emerging above the bushline into tough bushy scrub. We then literally crawled on our bellies to the tops. We had lunch while enjoying the views as far north as Masterton and south to Palliser Bay. We then made our way down Bull Mound track to the river and then back to the camp site.

Next day was departure day so after a strict litter check we moved off with our packs down the valley to Kaitoke. After a gruelling and very warm tramp out we finally settled gratefully in the comfort of the bus back to college. There was some delay for Ra Logan and Mr Watson but they finally emerged having run down the final section of the track thus making a grand finish.

Leaders Joe Nawalaniec and Des Boyle. Des is a veteran of many tramps having organised and led them for many years. Joe, a very experienced trumper in the high country, has already, since arriving at St Pats, engaged fully and to great effect in the Awards programme.

Many thanks to the leaders: Mr Boyle, Mr Nawalaniec and the silver and gold level guys, Richard Law and Boe Tatham-Brugh, who came with us.

College Public Speaking

This will be the final year of evening events. That tradition began with the boarding school when anything that took the scholars out of study was welcome. The Assembly Hall now the Library was packed for debates and the college speech contests. In future public speaking events will be at lunch time extending, when necessary, into period five. Hopefully, this arrangement will become formalized and encourage greater participation, the much desired goal.

A dedicated group of Year 9 students practised debating regularly from mid year and had a lot of fun while advancing their public speaking skills. Robert Whitefield wrote, Junior debaters visit Parliament Buildings in Wellington.

"I strongly advise more students to participate in debating as it exercises many skills such as reading, writing, and researching. We, as a group went to see the national schools debating final in Parliament, supported some of the college teams in important debates and in an exhibition match we debated in front of St Brendan's senior school on the topic that, 'The sale of fireworks to the public be made illegal'."

The Junior Debating Shield this year was won by Robert Whitefield, Ashley Maroc, Ryan McKone and Callum McCaul.

The McLeod Cup for Senior Prepared Speech

Richard Law spoke this year on global warming and the debate between the skeptics about the phenomenon and those who foretell dire consequences if the world does not deal with its carbon emissions. This topic is currently at the top of popular science discussions and laws are being drafted that will make everyone pay financially for the proposed solutions. The goal of our law bound society is to make everyone carbon neutral. Richard firmly stated his views and called for action before it is too late.

Sofara Aiono spoke about the major contribution that American or Eastern Samoa makes to the US military. He said it was a recruiters' paradise and many line up to take part in the most dangerous missions on earth. Despite the high pay he did not think the situation was desirable. This was an interesting speech on an unusual topic.

Jerome Cameron reflected in general terms on world peace and the current conflicts especially in the Middle East. Religious and political leaders must take the lead in changing human hearts. If there was more trust between people and less suspicion on racial and religious grounds, then peace might be possible especially as in the modern world where countries are less than one day away from each other. Surely we can learn each other's viewpoints.

Liam Sweeney described his participation in the round Lake Taupo challenge bicycle race. Before the race he was fearful of the physical effort and pain involved. However, he survived the ordeal and learned about his own limits and the immense strength involved in being a champion cyclist. It was a great relief when he handed over his transponder and the journey was over.

The Trophy this year was awarded to Richard Law for having delivered a clear and coherent message. All the contestants, however, were congratulated for each's contribution to an excellent contest.

Oratory Trophies

The aim of oratory is to speak with passion and emotion about something the speaker feels strongly about while keeping a few standard conventions about speech format.

Jerome Cameron spoke on the experience he had in taking part the model UNO student convention this year. He described it as nerve wracking but exhilarating. The experience brought home to him the necessity of tolerance for the viewpoints of others.

Michael Herder gave a speech derived mostly from the O'Shea Oration. Its high standard added to the event and was a good model for the younger orators to follow.

Richard Law spoke on the awful tragedy that befell the Amish community in America in 2004 when a deranged local invaded a school room and shot five young girls and wounded many others before killing himself. The story is appalling but the amazing thing is that the Christian religious community after recovering from the tragedy, forgave the killer and offered to help his family. Richard reflected on what we can personally learn when dealing with our own hurts.

Sofara Aiono chose to speak on the excessive competition that exists in international sport that leads to all sort of scientific cheating and led a former Olympic sprinter to be now in jail. Is sport just becoming the new arena of international rivalry and the avenue to wealth and publicity?

Nethran Pathmanathan developed his theme on the value of friends and the experience you have of them at school. Good and bad memories of school will always be carried but what helps people throughout life is the support and affection of friends.

Liam Sweeney called for improvement in the attitudes of our society has towards its children. Deplorable statistics are highlighted in the media. The social history of our society is littered with tragedies involving children. This speech called for a better approach because, "Children will treat their society in they way they were treated."

Finalists in the oratory contest for the Meo and Gallagher cups.

Keegan West took up the theme of road safety and young drivers. The white crosses along the road are mostly young people, "Not much older than us." Keegan painted a vivid picture of the pupils in his Year 10 form, all frantically studying the road code to get their learner licences. The frequency of multi death crashes involving school age kids makes one ask whether the driving age is too low.

The adjudicator was Dr Robin Fenwick who praised the vivid images and the fact that every speech had a message for the audience. He did remark, though, that the prestigious trophies deserved a greater number of entries.

The Gallagher Cup was awarded to Richard Law and the Meo Cup for Intermediate Oratory to Keegan West.

Junior Prepared Speeches for the James and Emery Cups

The Year 9 and 10 speech finals have now become established as an annual event in school time. The finalists are determined by those gaining an excellence grade in the level competition and the final was in front of the whole year level.

This year the standard of speeches was again very high the finalists were: Matthew Beachen, Jack Biggs, Tyler Dallas, Liam Ford, Nathan Muckley, Matthew Penman, Liam Sullivan, Jayden Sulfaiga and Robert Whitefield.

The top three place getters were:

Liam Sullivan (first) gave a thought provoking speech on child behaviour and showed considerable poise and confidence. His Mum was quoted as an authoritative source for his comments. He has the potential to go further in public speaking.

Liam Ford (second) entertained the audience with his explanation of why football is a better game than rugby union.

Jack Biggs (third) continued the sporting theme by explaining (again) why New Zealand didn't win the world cup when it started as agreed favourites.

Thank you to the judges: Mr Cole, Mr Bowles and Michael Herder.

The winner of the Year 10 Prepared Speech Cup was Kent Harris (10DB). He presented a synopsis of his speech to his class.

World Poverty

"Do you realize in this fortunate even over fed country that huge numbers of people overseas live in deprived conditions from hunger and disease. Hungry in a world bursting with food. Dying from disease in a world with unbelievable technical expertise. We hear this message so often that many of us have stopped listening. It is published that in 2003 over 6 million children died before the age of five. The problem is bigger than us and bad government plays a major part. I wish that all of you would grow up with the mind set of caring about poverty in the world and helping organisations like Caritas, UNICEF and World Vision. Pick a favourite charity and give to it all your life. The poor can be forgotten while we talk about them."

The cups were presented at the Junior Prize giving ceremony.

Public Speaking - Debating

College Debating Teams

Premier A: Michael Herder, Neale Mulholland, Sam Carson. Coach: Mr M.Cole.

Premier B: Liam Sweeney, Bryan Chong, Dylan van Opdorp. Coach: Mr D.Boyle.

Senior Certificate: Jerome Cameron, Michael Perreno-Villa, Ben Whiteford. Coaches: Miss P.Whiteford & Miss T.Henderson.

It was a satisfactory year in general but too few students are really participating in the major college events and it is generally left to the committed few who seem ready and willing to respond. Perhaps the new house structure next year will engender more competition and enthusiasm for this vital activity that pays such dividends in careers, development and later life.

A special thanks to the debating coaches who gave their time preparing and promoting the teams. Debates often occur at the busiest times of the year and this adds to the pressure.

Most of the teams made it into the "play-offs" and the Junior Premier team contested the grade final against Sacred Heart College. The standard of both teams was high and the debate was close, won, perhaps, in the summary speech by the girls' team. Members of junior teams show promise for the future, they were conscientious in training and diligent in preparation but above all, seemed to enjoy what they were doing.

The Senior Premier team had a good season and perhaps, achieved beyond expectation. Michael Herder especially, progressed steadily in skill and confidence. Roneil Kintanar stood in for a few debates when other team members were unavailable and showed his potential.

Premier B did not have a memorable season for the simple reason that team members found it difficult to find the time for adequate preparation for their debates. The Senior Certificate team was formed after the withdrawal of the other team at this level and achieved very well under the tutelage of Miss Whiteford and Miss Henderson. Junior Certificate team members, after a slow start, soon began to show what potential they have for the future.

This is still regarded as the highlight of the public speaking year and it was one of those years when Silverstream was successful. The contest was held this year in Lower Hutt at Sacred Heart College, a venue that has proved lucky for us in the past. The team was selected early in term one from a group of willing competitors who maintained a positive attitude during the training period. Eventually the day arrived, traditionally now the second weekend of May. The Stream team assembled for the opening ceremony when the warmth and spirit of the welcome was immediately apparent. It was clear that the hosts, as usual, had done a great job.

The first event was the senior debate on the topic that, "All's fair in love and war," in reality, a moral debate about ends and means. The Silverstream team consisted of Michael Herder, Neale Mulholland and Sam Carson. The debate was a high flyer where verbal exchanges were intense. Perhaps, only the, "Let's get down to basics," approach of Sam Carson as third speaker narrowly won the day for Silverstream. Much of the clash of the debate was based on the negative team exploiting the word 'all' and unpacking what exactly was meant by 'love'. This debate was selected as the premier debate of the tournament and awarded the debating trophies. Mr Cole, the coach of the team, was pleased with its performance. The team won the St Catherine's Cup for the best negative team in the competition.

The Junior Prepared Speaker was Roneil Kintanar and his topic was the, "Tall Poppy Syndrome". In his preparation period Roneil's speech was 'away up there' and needed to be simplified to an appropriate level. At some cost in time and patience Mrs Duffy managed to reduce the theoretical and get the idea down to simple practical experience with a bit of humour thrown in. The speech was highly graded but not the trophy winner.

The responsibility for the oratory was given to Michael Herder and his speech consisted of a touching account of a serious injury sustained during a Rugby game that perhaps, has ended his playing career. His theme concerned the gratuitous violence that occurs in Rugby. He asked, "Why does it have to be like this?" It was an excellent speech but adjudicator comments indicate that current social issues would have been more rewarded. The coaches were Mrs Duffy and Mr Browne.

The event that involves most preparation is the Religious Questions as the team and its coaches have to engage in some old fashioned mastery learning. There are important skills involved but lack of knowledge of the documents under study will get short shrift. The team consisted of Sofara Aiono, David Archibald, Michael Delaney, and Neale Mulholland and the study topic was, "The Church in Oceania". The coaches Mr D.Bidwell and Mr T.Cole were rewarded with top marks. A more relaxed communication with the audience was needed to defend the trophy.

The team's scripture reader was Michael Parreno-Villa who coped well with a difficult passage from Isaiah to win his section trophy. The coach was Mr Cole and the trophy won was the Catherine McAuley Cup.

One of the highlights of the team performance was the success of the drama team. It has been many years since we won a drama trophy but this year we managed, thanks to the efforts of Miss Whiteford and Miss Henderson and their team of helpers. The event was held at Silverstream before the usual packed audience. The drama titled, "Exalted," won the Bishop Owen Snedden Memorial Cup for Drama.

The final contest was the impromptu speech, a very demanding event, which takes great confidence and presence of mind. Sam Carson began well but had difficulty in developing the topic, "Boy Racers." Sam did not make the three minute line and was penalized but got a useful three points for his efforts.

The O'Shea Mass was in the parish church of Sts Peter and Paul with Archbishop John Dew as celebrant. The liturgy was well planned and many schools had a role in it, particularly the Sacred Heart College music group.

Later at the prize-giving ceremony, and somewhat to our surprise, it was revealed that Silverstream had gained the top team marks and thus the O'Shea Shield.

Thanks to our gracious hosts, Sacred Heart College, Lower Hutt. The venue for 2008 will be Napier.

French Trip to Tahiti

Departing, this year, from the usual destination, the Year 11 French class did not go to New Caledonia, as their predecessors had, but chose instead to go to Tahiti.

Most of the group outside the museum of Tahiti.

A class of eight, as well as two teachers; Mrs Anne Whiteford and co-guardian Phillipa Whiteford departed on an Air Tahiti Nui aeroplane destined for the capital city of Papeete.

After an arduous journey of approximately seven hours, including a preliminary flight to Auckland, the boys of class of 2007 descended onto the Faa'a International Airport in Papeete to await the arranged transport to their hotel, The Royal Tahitian.

The experience would last a total of eight days, the first comprised of travel and a good night's sleep — which passed without very much sleep at all.

Adjusting to the winter temperature of around thirty five degrees, the group made it way down from the hotel to experience the first of a five day course in French culture, which took place at the Horizons Francophones: "Ecole de Francais Langue Etrangère" or School of French Foreign Language.

After the first full lesson of French, lasting more than three hours, the class returned to the hotel to await its homestays, French-Tahitian families would look after the students for six days, to help improve their understanding of French and Tahitian culture.

Every morning after spending the night with their Homestay families, the students would return to the Horizons Francophones to begin another day's lesson.

After completing the daily class the students were free to roam Papeete, before returning again to the school for the class excursions.

The first day the class had an introduction to Tahiti at the Museum of Tahiti, the following day it was a trip to the Village of the Craftsmen, followed by a circle Island tour of Tahiti-Nui, the first of two segments of the island, the other being Tahiti-Iti, the surfing capital of the world. Unfortunately we were unable to visit the second part of the island.

After four days of learning French, the group took a ferry to the neighbouring island of Moorea, for a relaxing day in Paradise.

The afternoon included a fresh picnic lunch, followed by snorkelling in the coral reef, where there were encounters with Squid, Trumpet Fish, and a few displays of the native women.

The next day the class disbanded so members could spend the day with their host families. There were also optional activities which included yacht trips, mountain drives, and surfing and swimming at the beach.

After a hot, relaxing and yet exciting eight-day vacation, it was time to return home.

Farewelling Tahiti, proved more difficult than expected; another seven-hour flight across the Pacific back to Wellington, where the families of the class members were waiting to meet their sons.

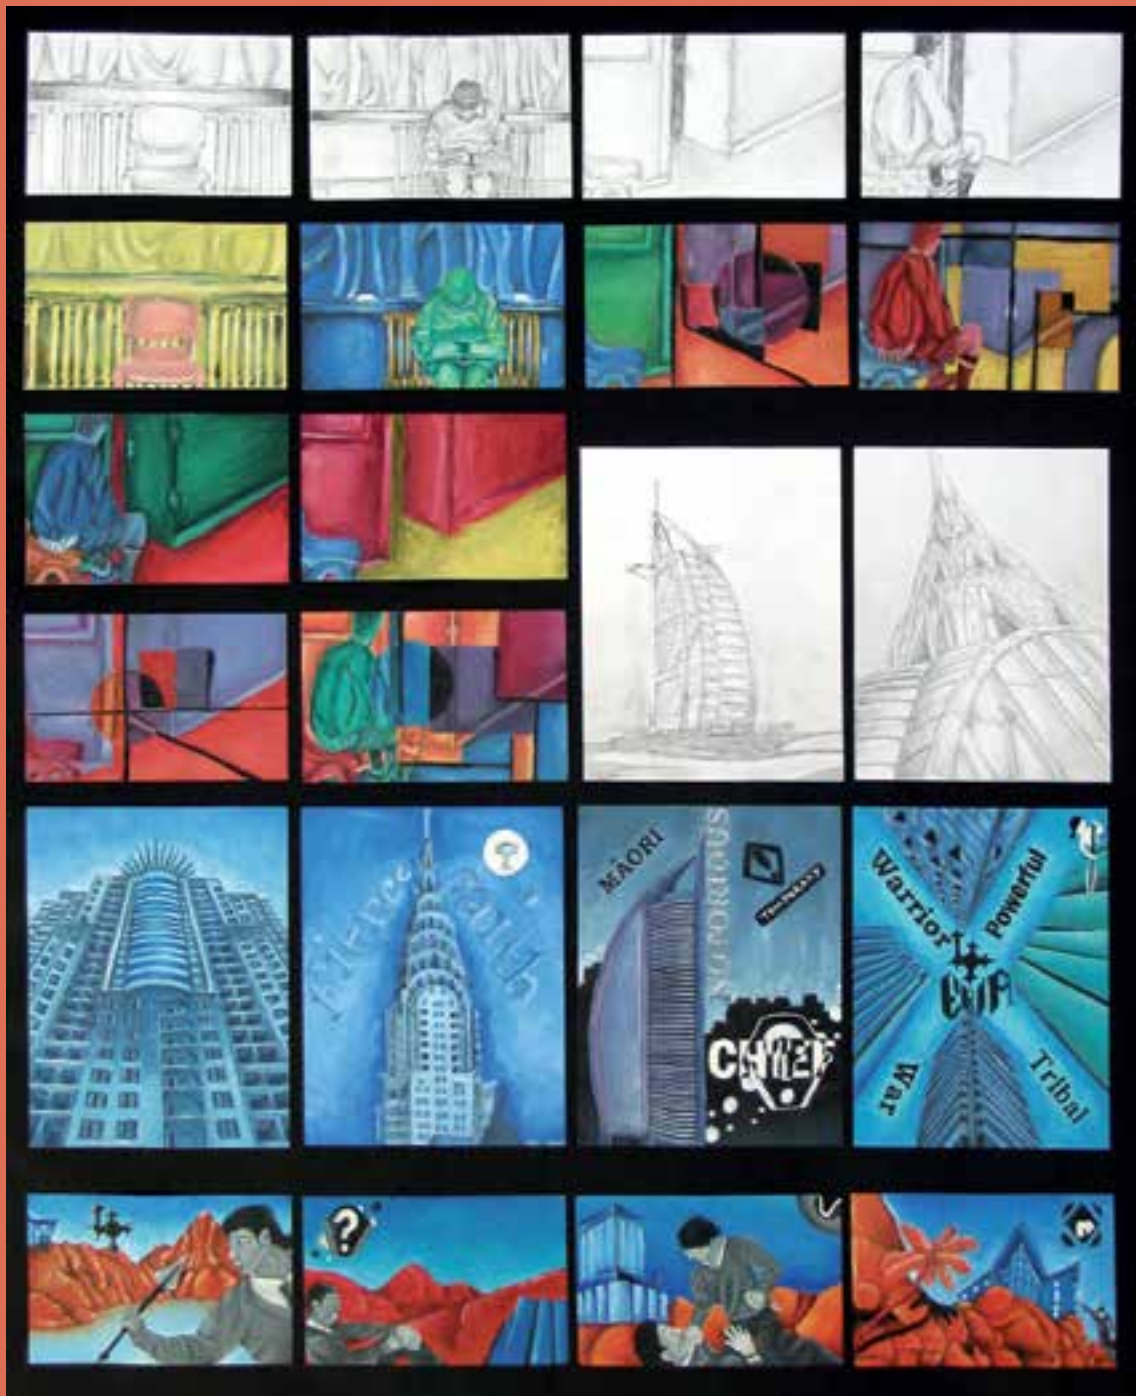

Many thanks to Mrs Anne and Ms Phillipa Whiteford, for making the trip possible and special thanks to the people of Tahiti, for hosting us in their beautiful country.

Daniel Keigan and Dylan Morgan

Farewell, tour guide; farewell, paradise.

The Sacrifice

by

Matthew Henden (11JD)

The bronze sun hung low in the darkening sky, prepared for the coming forth of the long, cold night. Its warm light shone over the sea of people that surrounded the monolithic temple. Lost in a shared euphoria they danced like trees in the wind. Through them marched a small entourage of extravagantly armoured warriors, fear-some weapons gleaming amongst the swaying forest. In their midst stood a single man. His spine was straight and strong, no expression on his grim face. No weapon hung at his side, bare feet, scratched and scuffed, strode across the unforgiving ground.

Two stairways faced him and the group paused. A knot of priests slowly walked forward, golden robes shimmering like liquid. They stopped at the top of the right stairs and raised their arms as one. A steady chant, issued from their mouths in a guttural language; gaudy headdresses shook and swayed, ornate birds preparing for flight. The warrior and his guards began their steady ascent upwards, the endless stairway leading them ever closer to their blood thirsty Gods. Tendons stretched on his weathered legs and a light sweat covered his brown skin, yet he pushed onwards, forcing his followers to hasten their pace. No emotion was betrayed by his granite face.

As he reached the final step, a gory sight faced him. An atzompantli stood before him, countless rows of grinning skulls creating a wall of horror and death. A few strands of hair still clung to some of the decapitated heads, thin leather-like skin hanging from emaciated face. His flint eyes revealed the knowledge that soon he would be joining these ranks of dead. He turned to face the priests, half of them taking a hesitant step backwards, intimidated by his fierce armour. He wore the spotted fur of a jaguar, its vicious jaws protecting his face. His knowing eyes peered through jagged fangs, chest and shoulders stained with the blood of fathers, brothers and sons. Wide arms were criss-crossed with pink scars, long roads carved with cruel metal blades. He was a jaguar warrior, an elite amongst Aztec's mighty army. His ferocious strength and unfailing loyalty renown throughout the great empire.

The head priest led him to the sacrificial stone before the temple of the all-powerful God, Huitzilopochtli. He was thrown upon its pilled surface, arms and legs tied with coarse rope to worn metal rings. One of the priests stepped slowly forward, a small jade dagger clutched in smooth hands. He slowly raised it upwards, crying, "Life is because of the Gods; through their sacrifice they gave us life. They produce our sustenance which nourishes life". With the last word, the dagger flew forth, slashing the doomed warrior's abdomen. His eyes widened and sweat trickled down his face, but no word could escape through his clenched jaw.

A clawed hand dived into his body, returning covered in scarlet blood, a still beating heart clutched in its grasp. A whisper of air issued from a slackened mouth; creases caused by the concerns of a living man slipped from his face like water. The sun flashed red, its last rays clawing the earth before it fell over the horizon, vanishing into darkness.

Sports Reports

Athletics' Report 2007

The athletics' season for 2007 was always going to be hard work. We had lost a few key sprinters and had our top U14 sprinter working to overcome a serious injury in time for McEvedy. On top of this, the Year 13 students, the last year group to have been part of a McEvedy Champion team, turned up at school with a terrible attitude on the whole. A call for leadership and effort was largely ignored – even by those with talent. This was a real disappointment and heralded one of the worst years in recent history for Stream. Balancing this somewhat was the great turnout by the new Year 9 at pre-season training. They showed determination and spirit.

The school sports day was a mess. This continued the trend of the last few years when it became apparent most boys were more intent on dressing up and acting like spectators not participants. Old Boys' team was named, but little talent had emerged.

Old Boys' Cup

This year the meeting was held at Newtown Park. We were the hosts and had elected to go to the park because of the superior surface. In a complete reversal to 2006 we ended up trailing in the 200's by 18 points to 32. First up 200's and ten mins later we had 32 points and Town had 18. With no Shane Ayrton due to injury, the U14 race went easily to Town, with the first three places. In the U15 grade only Rene van Diggele took points with second in 24.50 seconds. Mandella Nono and Jason Woodward took first and second in the senior race to pull back some points.

The 100m followed almost the same pattern, with Danny McIlwee reversing the placings in the U17 race with a win in 11.49 seconds. Nono took the senior 100m in a good 11.31 seconds. The 400m saw us finish 3 points down thanks to the U17 and seniors grade taking good points to balance the heavy losses at the junior grades. McIlwee finished a good day with a 52.82 second win in the U17 grade.

The 3000m tough-guy events saw Town, again, dominate at the junior level with the first three placings. In the senior grade Jesse Patel and Evan Cooper showed their experience with a dominant one-two finish in 9:35 and 9:38 respectively.

In the field events the triple jump and long jump saw Town move ahead with the long jump a strength for them. Andre Maleaulu was a surprise winner of the U16 long jump reaching 5.60m and Nono took first in the senior grade with 6.01m. The triple jump was a 2 point win for us with Ruchira Fernandopulle first in the U16 in 11.88m, Nono again dominant with 12.46m just ahead of Jason Woodward on 12.30m. Matt Richardson emerged with a good 10.97m in the U15 grade. The 800m points were evenly split. We took three titles, thanks to Sam Dean, Corey Casey and Ryan Maguren who ran 2:05 to support his intention to move down in distance. At this point we knew the weaknesses Town had in previous years were no more! The challenge from Town was impressive.

Back in the field the throwing events were being split fairly evenly. The javelin went to Town – a real blow. Blake Thompson set a new personal best with a very good 58.01m and Kyle Hitchman took the U16 title with 49.85m. We had no other domination. In the shot, Stream lost by 4 points, in spite of Faingaa and Falesiu taking 1st and 2nd in the senior grade with 12.95m and 12.76m. Kevin Kruger, a talented newcomer to the school from South Africa showed his prowess with a strong first of 12.75m in the U15 grade, just ahead of Attila Va'a. We did take the discus, with Kruger reaching 46.68m to take a good win, just ahead of Va'a again. Otto Lupo took the U14 grade and Charlie Falesiu took the U17 throw with 41.49m. Our discus throwers had been leading the way at training and this was just reward for them.

However, the day was heading Town's way and in spite of us taking the 1500m events by 10 points we lost the hurdles by the same amount to see the Old Boys' Cup lost – our first loss in around seven years. This was a bitter pill to swallow but it was predictable.

McEVEDY SHIELD 2007

"A Dark day in Stream History"

Town had the Old Boys' Cup but we still had a belief in ourselves. We had taken second place over the last four years after our two years as champions. We also had the return of Shane Ayrton even if he was not 100%.

Well, the final score proved our hopes entirely wrong. We ended up fourth or last depending upon the way you want to look at it. Rongotai claimed third, Town second, and Wellington College, once again, showing the benefits of a school population twice that of the other schools, taking a relatively comfortable win. It was not a good day.

On the track our stars came through with Ayrton taking an U14 100 and 200 double in 11.63secs and 24.28secs. Casey took the U16 800 and 1500 double fairly easily, just missing the 800m record with 1:58.81. Dion Fitzgerald ran 1:59.02 to take second in the senior race and defeated his Coll rival for the first time. Sam Dean took a gutsy second in the 800m and Jason Woodward continued his fine development with second in the senior 400m in 52.67, chasing the NZ champion from Coll. Unfortunately, the other three schools were doing just as well if not better. Coll took 98 points on the track, Town 79, Rongotai 53 while we took 68. The field points were absolutely disastrous. Coll had 78, Town 61, Rongotai an impressive 69 and we had 29! This is where we really went backwards. A number of our top field men chose this day to struggle. Without naming names, we had two NZ medallists who failed to gain any points in their events – amazing.

McEvedy 2007 (2006, 2005, 2004 points in brackets)

Total Points and Placings

	Points	Place
St Patrick's Stream	97 (153 : 135.5 : 130)	4 th
Wellington College	176 (175 : 175.5 : 210)	1 st
St Patrick's Town	137 (117 : 129.5 : 102)	2 nd
Rongotai	125 (94 : 95 : 97)	3 rd

Coll once again took first – Town had really hoped to be closer but ended up having to defeat a resurgent Rongotai. For us, it was a terrible return to the 80's when Stream just made up the numbers. A meeting was held just after this day and the staff resolved to do something – watch this space!

McEvedy Team

Third row: Aaron Butterworth, Sam Dean, Danny McIlwee, Jake Johnstone, Philip Salevao, Ryan Maguren, Sam Robinson, Caleb Owczarek, Zac Press, Ruchira Fernandopoulle, Ben Chan.

North Island Champs

This event was held in Auckland. A small team attended. Casey took the intermediate 800m with a fast 1min 56sec. Woodward took second in the senior 400m, getting into the 51second zone.

The NZ Secondary School Athletics' Champs, 2007.

Held in Wanganui, this meeting was a chance for the boys to regain some confidence after the horror of McEvedy. They pretty much did on the track, with some superb performances. In the field it was not so good, with the pressure telling on some of the boys. For most, the experience will stand them in good stead. The Year 9 team had the greatest reward for their commitment with superb results.

Blake Thompson

Blake repeated his bronze medal performance of 2007 adding two metres to his throw which reached 56.09m. His preparation wasn't as good this year, but his determination was very obvious as he prowled the throwing arena like a hungry lion. Awesome focus! Blake was our only solo medallist at these champs and fittingly took his medal in the javelin to continue Stream's domination of this event at the NZ champs. We have very nearly taken medals in javelin in every Secondary Schools champs over the last thirty-four years.

Corey Casey

A fifth place in the senior 1500m was a reasonable result for an athlete who had struggled with foot problems early in the season. While being handy to the lead throughout the race, the finishing speed wasn't there for Corey, 4:06.89 in the final. Later in the afternoon he would run solid 4x400m.

Jesse Patel

Jesse took tenth place in the same race as Corey. He had shown a lot of guts in making the final and kept up this attitude in the final. Tactically very aware, Jesse made all the right moves and will be confident of his ability, 4:10.75 for his finals place. Both of these guys will make a big impact in 2008.

The Junior 4x100m Team

The team of Josh Kurton, Otto Lupo, Philip Salevao, Shane Ayrton and Matt Richardson ran superbly to take the silver medal in 45.73 – a new school record and a time that would have won the race the previous year. Matt had run the heat as Shane was not feeling too good and helped the team to qualify for the final by running with style and confidence. He showed the benefit of his commitment to training.

Danny McIlwee

Danny did not run well in 2006 and was at these champs to make a point – he certainly did that, making the senior 100m final and taking sixth place. His best time of 11.06 with a tailwind of 2.8m/s in the quarters was exceptional. His result was tremendous considering the depth of talented sprinters attending this meeting. He didn't contest the 200m final due to a sore hamstring but did manage to set a new U17 Stream record in the semi with 22.64 secs. Awesome sprinting!

Kevin Kruger

Kevin was the only other Stream individual athlete to make a top eight. He did this in the junior javelin, taking sixth with 43.14m. In his favoured events of discus and shot, Kevin did not fare so well and will look to setting himself up for better competition results in 2008.

Shane Ayrton

While just missing out on the junior 100m final Shane can be very proud of his performance with one more year in this grade. He set a new U14 Stream record recording a fantastic legal time of 11.39secs in his quarter. This was after a wind assisted (11.24) preliminary race, which just about broke him in two, it was so fast.

Hamish Murphy

The wonder boy of the year, Hamish had wanted to try himself out on the track against the best. Unfortunately he couldn't fit in any racing or team training in preparation. His 3km time of 9:29.30 was, considering the lack of preparation, a time to be proud of. What if ... ?

Kaleb Thomas

The long legged antelope of the team, Kaleb had struggled in the last two seasons with injury. This was his last chance and he did himself proud. His quarter final 100m time of 11.40 was very worthy and his contribution to the 4x100 and 4x400 was solid. Kaleb can leave Stream with some satisfaction in these performances.

Year 9 Road Race Team

The team had trained very well prior to this race and reaped the rewards. In a hugely intense 3km race Talor Gilmer took eighteenth after setting out with the leaders but falling back mainly due to the effects of illness in the previous week. Shaun Smith, again hampered by early season problems, took twenty-four and George Vance took forty-eighth. This set the boys up for the three man bronze medal. Then Zac Press in fifty-second, James Hinderwell in fifty-fourth and Patrick Carson in sixty-second, ensured the six man team took the bronze as well. Jack Coles and Willy McCormack were soon in with Jack running well enough to still have secured us the bronze.

So, the Nationals finished – not a lot of metal to take home but the potential is there for Stream to do much better in 2008. Roll on Hamilton!

Neville Shield 2007

We were well prepared for this event that finishes the year.

Peter Hicks had taken up the pit jumps, Mike O'Leary had the javelin guys, Rob Tungatt the shot and Andrew Watterson the disc boys. The competition was affected by a clash with a cricket match which took out two of our top Year 9 athletes but we were still looking forward to getting the shield back after losing badly last year. Sam Dean was a late withdrawal due to injury.

The afternoon went by in a blur and the level of competitiveness was impressive. Nearly all events were split but the telling blow came in two events – the 400m and the high jump. Town got ahead here and that was it! What a day – awesome performances from Josh Kurton in the sprints and Talor Gilmer middle distance, with the field event guys just slugging it out all afternoon – terrific. Sad to lose but lots of promise for next year!

So ended 2007. What a year! Lots of promise but lots of disappointment. There is always a new day and Stream spirit always make the impossible possible. Can we climb back up the ladder? Time will, as always, tell. In the meantime, well done, Year 9; let's hope Year 13 steps up in 2008.

Cross Country Report 2007 – the Return of Pride

Two thousand and seven saw us fielding a strong senior team, bolstered by the unheralded Hamish Murphy who in his last year at school suddenly discovered an ability to run and run well! Never write off your own development in any endeavour. Hamish isn't the first athlete to emerge at an older age at school and he won't be the last – it's called growth!

All runners covered 2.5km.

The school champs at Year 9 level were outstanding, with Talor Gilmer and Shaun Smith both running under the old record. Those following were not far back and this team looks to be very formidable. Talor showed a good mix of speed and strength to hold out the talented and already proven Shaun Smith. In the senior grades the times were very fast as was expected, even with a few stars missing. Jesse Patel took the opportunity to set a new senior record, with Evan Cooper close behind. At the Year 10 level solid running was the order rather than exception and was a cause for concern. The boys at this level had trained well in 2006 but the expected development had not yet occurred.

Relays at "Karori."

The venue was once again not at Karori! The course is not ideal and the races are usually won or lost depending on which runner misjudges the hills. The A teams at Senior and Yr 9 level had high hopes, with the U16 team aiming to just be competitive due to a number of runners not focussing on cross-country this season.

The senior team was quickly into first place over the 12km relay, due to Corey Casey running the first lap in the fastest time of the day. His 50m lead was extended by Jesse Patel on the second leg. After strong runs by the next three, Dion Fitzgerald was left with a 5m lead over Coll, who had slowly made inroads into our lead. Dion was not able to hold out the Coll athlete who passed him with 200m to go. On the run in to the tape Dion was challenged by a fast finishing Scots College boy. Dion responded with a final surge that saw him take second spot in a lunge over the line.

The Under 16 team came in eleventh, with George Hayden taking fastest time for the Stream team. This team was affected by the late withdrawal, due to injury, of Alister Perkinson.

Meanwhile, the Year 9 team finished well clear of any other Year 9 team due to Talor Gilmer and Shaun Smith setting very fast times in the first two laps. They finished with fourth and third fastest times for Year 9 respectively. The next two, Zac Press and Josh Kurton, maintained the gap with strong runs. Jack Biggs and Callum Lawson finished off the win, with the boys 51secs clear of the next school, Wellington College. Our Year 9 B team had a number of boys who ran as well as the slower A team runners which meant we had depth here as well.

The Canterbury Champs

The senior team decided to make a raid on the Canterbury Champs as the course was the same as the one to be used for the nationals. With free accommodation in Christchurch (care of Mr Steel's generous sister Yvonne and her partner Roger) it was a good decision. The boys cleaned up the senior grade, having a good look at the course and getting a feel for how it might be at the Nationals three weeks later. It was the first major race for Hamish Murphy and he pushed himself to gross exhaustion in running in third for our team – a learning experience for Hamish. The only problem with attending these champs was that the boys were not up to racing the next day which was the Wellington Champs at Trentham. Never mind – the trip was worth it.

The Wellington Champs were next up at Trentham.

Wellington Champs Results 2007

Team Results

With no senior team and an Under 16 team there only to fly the school colours our hopes rested with the Year 9 team. They didn't disappoint. Talor Gilmer, improving rapidly, took on the favourite shadowing him around the park. The pressure told and in the sprint for home Talor took the race with ease as his opponent physically hit the wall. Shaun Smith followed in with seventh place and the team took out the three and six man team titles. This was a true team event and showed the result of committed training and talent. The boys deserved this.

National Champs – Christchurch

On Thursday June 14th a group of twenty keen athletes flew to Christchurch with Mr O'Leary and Mr Steel to compete at the NZ XCcountry Champs, held at Halswell Quarry.

The team stayed at the YHA, opposite the Arts Centre in the central city. The Friday was taken up with a light team workout before breakfast, followed by a trip to the race venue to see what the boys were up against. That was followed by a roast lunch at the Oxford on Avon then a swim at QE2 pool, which saw several of the boys leaping from the 25m diving board in the international pool.

Saturday – competition day – arrived quickly. Unfortunately, so did winter. It rained pretty much all day, accompanied by winter chill from the snow that arrived the night before on the Banks peninsula nearby. Warming up took on a new meaning.

The Year 9 team was first up. Over 3km a field of 176 took flight at 11.35am. The Year 9 team quickly strung out as the pace went on from the start. After one kilometre Stream had Talor Gilmer just outside the top twelve, followed quickly by Shaun Smith and Callum Lawson. The rest of the boys weren't too far further back. The rain soon had the ground slippery. Three hundred and fifty-two feet have a huge effect. Meanwhile, Talor was looking good. Into the home straight he changed gears and hit the after-burners to take in several places, finishing the race with a superb fifth position to lead our team to fourth in the three man race and fifth in the six man race. Shaun Smith in thirty-fifth and Callum Lawson in forty-ninth were next, with Zac Press, George Vance and Josh Kurton on the next fifty places. This was a great effort for a talented and keen group of athletes. They did not get a medal but now know that this is a definite possibility.

The Under 16 race saw only two Stream athletes and therefore no team. The two performed with credit and their effort is much appreciated.

The senior race was the last of the day and competitors had six kilometres of mud to run over and through. The only good thing was that the mud was not deep, mostly surface. It still had become a course that suited the small, lighter boys. The eventual winner from Nelson College was exactly that. He set a blistering pace from the start and the field of 220 quickly strung out.

Casey, in his first year as a senior and in his first race over 6km, took up a position around twentieth. Patel, Cooper and the big surprise of the year – Hamish Murphy – were right on his heels. Four km into the race, Casey was still looking comfortable as he slowly gained places. Behind him Cooper was having the race of his life as he also started picking off those in front of him. Hunt and Maguren had taken up positions around 70th. Murphy and Patel maintained their places, but a knee problem was causing Jesse difficulty. Into the last 400m and Casey was flying, eventually taking thirteenth place. Cooper wasn't that far behind in twenty-fourth, followed closely by a determined Murphy in thirty-second. Patel, now in a lot of pain, hung on for forty-second. Hunt improved to take sixty-second and Maguren was next with seventy-second. Our seventh and non-scoring rep, Nathan "shoeless" Hope came in a respectable 124th with a time for the six km that would suggest his natural stamina is good. The seniors had done well as a team but it was only when we arrived at the prize-giving ceremony to support Talor Gilmer's top ten placing that we learned that they had, in fact, medalled. The three man team had taken the bronze as well as the six man team taking a bronze.

This is the first time in Stream history that a senior cross-country team has taken a NZ medal. It is a prestigious result, with the top sporting schools in NZ at the champs. It is also a tremendous reward for a group of athletes who have worked very hard over the last few years and have had to put up with the disappointment of 4th place on two other occasions.

NATIONAL CHAMPS TEAM RESULTS 2007

It was pleasing to note the seniors had moved on at last from fourth as Year 9 and fourth as Under 16 teams. They have one more year as a team, only Hamish Murphy is due to leave.

STREAM vs TOWN Road race for the Cahill Mug

The road race team took out the Cahill Mug against Town for the thirteenth year in a row with dominant performances from the seniors and a solid but harder than expected win for Year 9. Talor (Year 9) was absent with a cold, so it was left to Shaun to take the title. He did so but had to run to his very best. Town had two behind him so it was fortunate the next five were Stream runners. George Vance showed his developing ability with good support for Shaun in this race. The Under 16 team had no answer to a confident Town team apart for James Irwin who took on the front guys and ran well to achieve his placing. Again, waiting for the others to fire! The seniors had to win to decide the title and with no Casey running it was a concern. Town had Simon Rogers, fourth at Cross-Country nationals, lead out. The Stream seniors sat in behind but quickly discovered no other Townies were challenging. They settled in and let Rogers go on to set a course record but have to watch as Stream took the next four places to get a comprehensive win and retain the Mug once again.

Wellington Road Relays TMP

2.5km relay for all grades.

This was largely an uneventful relay for Stream. The seniors were unable to field a strong team due to injury and sickness. The final placing of fourth reflected this – enough said.

The Under 16's competed well but couldn't make an impact. In the meantime the Year 9 team set out to regain dominance in Wellington. Shaun Smith led off, putting himself under pressure mixing it with the front runners rather than starting slowly. This did catch Shaun out and is something he will work on over the next year. He, nevertheless, came in within ten seconds of the front runners and we were confident still. Zac Press made up good ground to get us to second and Josh Kurton kept the place. However, we lost distance in the next two laps with new boys trying out the A team and Talor was left with 400m to make up. He showed every ounce of his giant heart in chasing the Coll boy down to come an agonising ten metres behind to cross the line in second spot – a great run but no reward other than knowing Coll was lucky this time.

Wanganui Relays

This event was a chance for the Year 9 team to get one back over Coll and it was eagerly taken. Talor was back to his determined best and his anchor run following on from Shaun Smith, Josh Kurton and Zac Press saw us take a brilliant thirty second win at this prestigious race. The seniors were missing Patel and Cooper, so had to dig deep. Casey had been troubled with orthotics not fitting and wasn't fully fit so it came down to his anchor run after three strong efforts from Ryan Maguren, Adam Hunt and Hamish Murphy. Casey started conservatively but emerged from the bush clad track in a clear and dominant second place after starting in fifth. This was a real boost for Casey and the boys – a great trip all in all, even with the U16's once again making up the numbers!

And so, the cross-country season of 2007 ended. We had proven ourselves on the regional and national stage and it felt good after a number of years of hard work and dedication. It was a strange kind of result considering we had dropped away athletically.

Did it make up for fourth at McEvedy? I think it did for the boys who got those medals in Christchurch. A senior team medal is not easy – it's the same as the rugby or football teams getting a top three placing and we all know how hard that is. The emergence of a strong Year 9 team was the absolute icing on the cake.

Silverstream can be proud of its runners – well done boys.

Badminton

The badminton teams this year consisted of one junior and one senior team. Troy Harris won most of his games for the senior team and was well supported by the rest of his team. Troy will be missed as he leaves for tertiary education. Byran, Jamie and Ethan will take up the leadership of the senior team in 2008.

The junior team was lead by Nethran Pathmanathan with Adam Ross as the top player. They were reliable team members and worked hard to finish in the middle of their competition. We also have a good group of junior players for 2007. They played an internal competition this year. They are a great bunch of boys and will form a good team in 2008.

Dragon Boating Report 2007

This year due to many boys with commitments to other sports, only one Dragon Boating team was fielded instead of the usual two. However, what we lacked in numbers we made up for in experience with over half the boat returning for another stab at the Wellington region's gold medal.

After only two training runs in the choppy open waters of Wellington Harbour, Stream's first challenge was upon them. This was a fun, friendly competitive event set in Masterton. Schools from all over the Wellington region attended. The races were mixed with male, female and mixed teams pitted against each other. Silverstream's first race was a warm up and did not count towards the outcome of the competition. This did mean that we were racing corporate adult teams; an unsteady start, (this was the first time in a dragon boat for some last minute call ups) saw us come in a close second to an all men's team. This would be the last time the Silverstream Dragons saw the behind of another team. The secondary schools competition was quickly dominated by the determined Streamers coming in first in all races and setting the fastest time of the day by a school team. However, nothing showed Silverstream's determination and hunger to win more than the second to last race.

After a near perfect start the Stream machine surged in to the lead. Suddenly from nowhere a disorganized Herataunga College lost control of their boat, and the next thing we knew we had been rammed. Unfazed, but now drastically off course, and slipping quickly into last place, a hidden strength was uncovered. With some skillful, steering from our sweep Dave and the unrelenting passion from the boys we wrenched and heaved every muscle and sinew in our fatiguing bodies. It worked, and we won. In the final race that same passion and spirit took us straight to finish in first place.

Dragon Boat Team

Sadly even though we came first in all our races and had the fastest time of the day, all girls and mixed teams had a time handicap. This meant we only came in at second place overall. This competition was a great experience and a good training run for the Wellington Regional Dragon Boat Festival which is what we all now were hungry for.

The next three weeks flew and with some very hard but promising team trainings lead by the brave and determined Mrs. Anne Sydow out in Wellington harbor, we were ready for the big one. On a crisp Sunday morning at seven o'clock the team assembled. They were not only met by the coaches but the new team singlets that had been especially made for the event (thanks to the initiative of Michael Herder). The draw was made and unlike in the Masterton competition we were only racing all-boys teams. This meant no worrying about handicaps. First up we came up against a fiery Wellington collage 2nds team, but our main competition would come from HIB's 1st team. Rumor had that they were pretty good. Heads held high we boarded our boat and made our way to the start. The horn went and the four teams made full steam for the finish. The well drilled HIB's team began to edge ahead. But our experience showed and we found our rhythm and came in with a comfortable win. Wellington Collage 1st team was in the race after ours. They beat our time by less than half a second. This was the team to beat. The result of the next race would see us into the grand final if we won. Again we faced off against HIB's 1st; however there was a new contender to deal with this time. Scotts A's. They had only just lost against Wellington collage 1st team. Stream's start could not have been more perfect. We rushed forward straight into first place and never looked back. We were through into the Grand Final with the fastest time of the day. The only obstacle in our path now is Wellington Collage. As we waited for our boat there was an eerie silence. We paddled up to the start, and awaited the other teams. "Paddles ready", "Lock it in", the horn sounded. Whether it was too much adrenaline coursing through our bodies or just too much excitement, we only got our timing right in the last half of the race. By this time Wellington College were a good couple of seconds in front. We gave chase and a gallant effort saw us just lose by inches. We came away with the silver. However, we also won fairest and friendliest team, and best Chanters. The day was thoroughly enjoyable and a great experience. A huge thank you must go out to Mrs. Anne Sydow, Mr. Mike Cole, Dave the Sweep and Nigel Lloyd for all their effort put into the team it was much appreciated.

Academy report

This year the College initiated the Academy, which involved Marc Jennings and Tyler Lock. Scott Puddick the professional at "Royal Wellington Golf Club" gave both these players tuition throughout the year. On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons the coaching lessons were conducted. A feature was the settled weather conditions that they experienced throughout the year. The major instruction involved the video analysis of their particular swing and techniques. Scott also helped prepare the Team for the Wellington Secondary Schools' championships held at Trentham Camp Golf course by giving them strategies to manage themselves on the course. Special thanks are extended to the Jack Oliver, Golf Director and John Gilbert the Manager of the Royal Wellington Golf Club who supported the College throughout the Year.

The boys were given the opportunity to pass the Golf Achievement standard at Level 3 through the Physical Education Course. Both candidates gained an excellence grade in the practical assessment. Tyler utilised the proximity of the course to practise regularly after school and also the extra time was spent in the College's weights room. The academy players by being members of the club were able to be selected for interclub fixtures and Tyler became a valuable member of the Duncan Cup team and acquitted himself very well in all his games. The players also played in age group, club and representative tournaments throughout the year. Tyler qualified through the regional qualifying round at Shandon with a round 72 to go to Queenstown to participate in the final qualifying round at Millbrook to gain entry into the New Zealand Open that was played on the new Hills Course in Arrowtown. He completed his round with a 76, however, and missed qualifying for the Open but stayed down to watch and gained valuable experience for the future. Tyler was selected to join the Wellington Junior Golf Academy for 2008. This academy is sponsored by Srixon Golf equipment and will give Tyler further opportunity to develop his game.

College results.

Results of Wellington Secondary Schools' Regional Golf tournament held on Thursday 15 March at Trentham Camp Golf Course.

The team of Tyler Lock 78, Marc Jennings 74, Chris Nightingale 74 and Matthew Spraggs 81 represented the College at this tournament in 2007.

The team acquitted itself well. The players three best gross scores totalled 226 putting them into second place behind Rathkeale College on 221 for the Greenstone Trophy. The team members were awarded medals being the best Wellington School of the tournament. The team was hopeful of qualifying, as the top College to go through to the National tournament in August. However, this will now be a goal for 2008.

Results of College Sport Competitions

During the first term the College entered two teams in the College Sport Wellington competitions on a Monday afternoon.

The team of Tyler Lock, Chris Nightingale and Marc Jennings won the Off the Stick grade with their win over Wellington College with a total 17 points.

The Phillips Trophy Stableford team of James Perkinson, Jamie Murtha, James Waluszewski and Matthew Spraggs acquitted themselves well in this grade.

The College entered two teams in a Upper Valley Stableford competition during Term 4.

Team 1: Tyler Lock, Chris Nightingale, James Waluszewski

Team 2: James Brosnan, Jamie Murtha, Daniel Van Der Borst, Nathan Hope.

Hockey

1st XI

The First Eleven Hockey had a rather disappointing season this year. The team won two games, drew one, and lost the remainder.

The team was well captained by Joshua Driscoll and Michael Brown, who often had to also be team coach at many practices and games.

We will miss the input of these boys, especially their dedication, goalkeeping and scoring skills.

Congratulations must go to our prize winners, Chris Pouwels, Jonathan Brown, and Michael Hammond. Well done boys!

We look forward to a more successful season next year with a more settled coaching schedule, full team commitment, and not those ghastly Sunday morning practices!

2nd XI

The 2nd XI Hockey team had a consistent season this year. We managed to impress all with our extreme skills and ability to win less than the majority of games.

Many experiences set this apart from prior season. There was the time when an "over enthusiastic" dad from the opposition initiated an altercation with Mathew Futter. Nobody could forget the practices in which we had to piggy back our team members for failing to complete a drill correctly. But overall, we had a lot of fun, and managed to walk away with our heads held high.

Honourable mention goes to Mathew Martin for taking a hockey ball to the head with pride.

Many thanks to our Coach Ashley and our Manager Shirley who both did a terrific job organising us this year.

3rd XI

The Stream 3rd XI Hockey team were not world beaters but had excellent team spirit. This was even more commendable given that the team included players from Yr 9 to Yr 13. The team was excellently coached by Scott Pemberton and was a really well disciplined side.

Stream 3 drew two, won two and lost a few over the season. However, apart from one game (when we got a bit of a drubbing from a HIBS team) all the games were pretty competitive. The highlight of the season was a tough last game which Stream won 1-0. The result was good but the exciting part came with a "pitch invasion" by an angry father of a boy from the other team who had fouled one of the Stream players. Both the angry father and his son were "red carded" and were seen later to be getting a real ear bashing from mum.

The Season of 2007

In 2008 we are hoping and planning for a restructuring and revitalization of cricket at the College. The goal is to create an environment where players and coaches feel supported and enabled to enhance their skills at the game.

In October we were able to gain the services of Mr Graham Newdick as Director of Coaches and, courtesy of Taita Cricket Club, Aaron Pennell as assistant. We are, indeed, grateful to all grade coaches who give freely of their time for this essential service to the College. The main team had a very satisfactory pre-season training period at the Trentham Memorial Park indoor facility. Players who had representative status during the season were Sam Dean, Brandon Tai, Ben Rammell, Liam Higgins, Michael Hammond, Jimmy van Dissen and Thomas McCoy.

First Eleven

This was a difficult season for the First Eleven. The numbers of senior boys playing competitive cricket was down, John Andrew Cavell moved to Nelson, and the new appointment, Vaughan Johnson, who took over as coach was head-hunted by Cricket New Zealand. When we were unable to find a replacement, Chris Gorrie and Aaron Pennell volunteered to take over the coaching duties and did a fine job with the resources at their disposal. As captain, Blake Neve led from the front and was a great ambassador for the College.

During the season Mike O'Leary stepped down as Cricket convenor. Cricketers owe a huge debt to Mike for the hours he put into sport, but particularly cricket. On behalf of all the boys who have benefited from Mike's guidance, a huge, "Thank you!"

A special thanks also to Andy Cameron who assisted with the scoring and who provided much good advice and to the ladies who arranged such magnificent repasts. The captain of Rongatai came over to say how much they had enjoyed the game and their visit, despite the result. A very enjoyable season with a great group of boys.

Traditionals

Vs. St Pat's Town, 4-6 Feb 06 at Silverstream.

Silverstream 209 (Anthonie Clement 60; Blake Neve 41) and 93/1 (Peter Moll 60*); Town 114 (Kyle Hitchman 4/28 and Blake Neve 4/14). A win to Silverstream by 9 wickets and retention of the Old Boys' Cup. This was a convincing win against our old rivals.

Vs. St John's Hastings 26 Jan 07 at Silverstream

Silverstream 240 (Marcel Wratt 59*); St John's 129 (Marcel Wratt 4/20). A win to Silverstream by 111 runs and inaugural holders of the Anne Houghton Memorial Cup. Another convincing win with Marcel playing a dominant role.

First XI training session.

Vs. St Bede's College, Christchurch 18-20 March 07 at St Bede's

St Bede's 246/4 dec; Silverstream 87 and 58. A win to St Bede's by an innings and 101 runs and retention of the Evatt Cup. We arrived at St Bede's full of hope for a clean sweep of the traditional trophies, lost the toss and all hope after a patient 95 by Bartholomeusz, and a declaration at 246/4 after 89 overs. It was a bridge too far when M Teale took 6/31 and 4/11.

Vs. Francis Douglas Memorial College, New Plymouth, 30 January 07 at Silverstream.

FDMC 208 (James Renshaw 3/27); Silverstream 105. A win to FDMC by 103 runs. This is not a traditional game per se, but is arranged by FDMC to give their players some games against their age group. We were not sure what to expect from a team from a similar sized Catholic College in New Plymouth. When their first wicket fell at 91, we knew we had a game on our hands. They batted and bowled better than we did and were deserved winners.

Premier Grade 1 games

A mix of one and two day games was scheduled but someone forgot to tell the weather gods and several games were lost, or changed to one day games due to adverse weather. In all only four one day games and five two day games were played. We finished mid-table.

21/10/06 vs. St Pat's Town at Silverstream. Silverstream 154 (Jordan Simpson-Hefft 51); Town 155/6 (Kyle Hitchman 4/57). A loss by 5 wickets.

28/10/06 vs. HIBS at Trentham. HIBS 213/8 (James Renshaw 2/14); Silverstream 115. A loss by 98 runs.

4/11/06 vs. Hutt Valley High School at Silverstream.

Silverstream 171 (Kyle Hitchman 46) HVHS 173/3 (Kyle Hitchman 3/34). A loss by 7 wickets.

18 and 25/11/06 vs. Tawa College at Silverstream. Tawa 76/10 (Kyle Hitchman 6/15) and 193/8; Silverstream 80/1 dec and 179 (Chris Perry 47). A loss by 46 runs. Silverstream tried to make a game of this but was unable to capitalise on Kyle's stunning 6/15.

16/12/06 vs. St Pat's Town at Silverstream. Silverstream 179 (Chris Perry 47); Town (182/8 (James Renshaw 4/27). A loss by two wickets. While the First XI was away at the Gillette Cup Tournament, we were forced by College Cricket to play this game or default. The Second XI was to play a crucial game and so we put together a makeshift team and almost won! A great effort, guys, played in true Silverstream spirit.

27/1 and 3/2/07 vs. Scots at Scots. Silverstream 148 and 160 (Peter Moll 39); Scots 99 (Blake Neve 4/10) and 112 (Kyle Hitchman 4/20). A win by 98 runs.

10 and 17/2/07 vs. HIBS 323; at Trentham. Silverstream 120 and 118. A loss by an innings and 85 runs. This game will be remembered for the 174 Fraser Coulson scored against us. We gave him some chances and he capitalised on them.

24/2 and 3/3/07 vs HVHS played at Silverstream. Silverstream 240 and 120; HVHS 164 and 136. A win to Silverstream by 61 runs. This was a real team performance with many contributing to the result. A good preparation for the Gillette Cup semi-final 10/3/07 the final game against Tawa was abandoned due to rain. Silverstream 163 (Blake Neve 52) and 60/3; Tawa 128.

Gillette Cup

Round 2. 17/2/07 vs. Rongatai College at Silverstream. Silverstream 296/6 (Peter Moll 66; Blake Neve 65; Daniel Maathuis 42; Jordan Simpson-Hefft 40); Rongatai 83 (Kyle Hitchman 7/34). A comprehensive win by 213 runs.

Round 3. 28/2/07 vs. Scots College at Scots. Scots 104 (Blake Neve 5/18); Silverstream 108/3 in 18 overs Peter Moll 39*). A win to Silverstream by 7 wickets. Only 50 overs were bowled in this match.

Semi-final. 4/3/07 vs. Wellington College at Coll. Silverstream 119; Coll 120/4. A comprehensive win to Coll who outplayed us in all areas of the game.

Cricket 2007 Second XI

Second Eleven

(early part of the season)

Unfortunately we had a fairly average season this year. The team found Premier 2 a challenge and the team membership was unstable and varied with every game. The team was held together by a few senior players who were committed to the team and its fate. We were fortunate in having a good captain James Brosnan who was able to cope with many pressure situations because we too often found ourselves in trouble.

Some players showed promising development which, hopefully, will continue. Ben Scanlan stood out with his spin bowling and his resolute batting against HIBS in our final game. Andrew and Ollie Ward made a significant contribution not to forget our wicket keeper Ethan Morta who when available from his football commitments was an asset to the team. Everyone's friend and chief supporter was Jared Knight who was always at training and consistent in his attendance at the games.

In the one-off pre Christmas cricket season James Brosnan was promoted to the 1st XI and the Ward brothers and Ben Scanlan to the 3rd XI both of these players were further promoted to the Seconds in 2008. Other players gave a good account of themselves in the 4th X., Team members were James Brosnan, David Brosnan, Lachlan Donnelly, Jordan Mason, Jamie Mason, Ethan Morta, David McDonald, James Maher, Jamie Robinson, Ben Scanlan, Oliver and Andrew Ward.

Third Eleven

The team deservedly got through to the final of its grade which it went on to win comfortably. Throughout the games each team member made a valuable contribution with either bat or ball. The team members were regular and supportive at training and punctual to the games. Mr Snalem's assistance on the Saturdays was greatly appreciated. Finally, to Mr and Mrs Ward, thanks for the afternoon snacks you so generously provided.

Some scoring details of note

Andrew Ward 166 runs top score 61

Oliver Ward 142 runs including 66 not out and 7 wickets.

Jamie Robinson 137 runs with two fifties.

Ben Scanlan 14 wickets including a score of 6 for 20 runs

Bede Gilmoni 10 wickets including a 'hat trick'.

Jared Knight 9 wickets

Vincent Ringrose 9 wickets

Nick Partridge 7 wickets

Tim Snalem as wicket keeper 7 catches.

Intermediate A had great team spirit and members often played well above themselves. However, the season's fortunes were tempered by the odd poor performance.

Whilst there was a need, fairly regularly, to bring in a substitute player (and fortunately, there were a few) we maintained a solid core of regular team members throughout.

The season's highlights included achieving third in our grade, beating Onslow College IA in a playoff. We also beat Wanganui Collegiate 1 A in the first of what we hope will become an annual traditional fixture between these teams.

Wanganui High School 1 A, was also beaten in a game also a first for each team. The Wanganui players were billeted by their Silverstream counterparts and families.

Whilst there were several standout individual performances throughout the season, an emphasis on team spirit and camaraderie created a platform for achievement and enjoyment. It was pleasing to note the distinct improvement in overall skill levels and the manner in which the game was approached by every member of the team.

Intermediate B

With the split season that occurred in 2007, Intermediate 2 started the year as Junior 3 with a few team member changes for the end of year part of the season.

Playing in the Intermediate 2 competition, the team played five games for one win which came in the play-off against Town in the last game of the year.

With a bit of luck and some better fielding, the team could have won several other games. To its credit the team came within a few runs of beating the eventual winners of the grade.

The bowlers performed exceptionally well throughout the season, conceding fewer than half the extras of the opposing team in all games. Topping the bowling figures were James Sinclair, Lewis McLean and Jarrod Burnet who between them took 75% of the wickets.

Sahil Patel, Jarrod Burnet and Lewis McLean topped the batting, scoring 55% of the team's total runs between them.

All players contributed to the team effort; best of all, members displayed excellent team spirit and attitude, and were a pleasure to coach.

Junior Cricket

It was very much a season of two halves.

During the early season (February to April 2007) the team, not unexpectedly, struggled, as individuals coming together for the first time at College, worked to become a cohesive unit.

We started with a first up loss to HIBS and followed that up with a loss to Onslow before we won against Tawa. We lost again to Wellington College (strangely the game was played at Newlands College) and then we won against HVHS. Our last game was played for survival in the A grade when we played Onslow at Onslow and turned around our earlier loss with a comfortable win.

We started the second half of the season shakily with a 'tie' against HVHS.

Immediately after this game we did a bit of soul searching and committed to putting in more effort for the remainder of the season, and it worked!

We won all of our remaining games including a comprehensive win over arch-rival Wellington College setting us up to win the A grade competition.

We also began playing in the Sunday Junior Gillette Cup knockout tournament where we again beat Wellington College comfortably to advance to the Wellington final against a Scot's College team which had won its way to the final from the second division.

After several attempts to schedule the game for a Sunday, as we were supposed to, we finally played the game at Silverstream on the last Wednesday of term. We played way below our potential; batting first we were all out, inexplicably, for a mere 75 runs and although we tried valiantly in the field, Scot's got home with three wickets to spare.

The team was lead brilliantly by Henry Walshe who was the standout player. His highlight was scoring 117 against Tawa at Stream on the Saturday and then backing that up against the same opposition the next day with 96 in the Gillette Cup game!

Tom Foster was the leading wicket taker with close to 30 wickets in only six games before the Christmas holidays.

The rest of the players all supported the cause well and will become good cricketers if they keep developing.

I would like to thank Des Boyle for his help and support as well as Chris Conroy, Tony Walshe and Grant Smith in particular, for their stints at umpiring and other support they gave to me each Saturday.

To the boys, thanks for your 100% commitment and attitude as well as your impeccable behaviour which does credit to yourselves and to your families.

Football 2007

Silverstream witnessed another successful footballing season in 2007; even though the 1st XI failed to improve on its fifth placing in the 2006 national tournament, there were still many positives and much to work on in the coming years.

After three years at the helm, Ryan Sandford applied for, and was offered (despite some dubious visa irregularities) a coaching position in Texas, USA. Ryan's three years at Stream raised the bar in terms of professionalism, commitment and results.

His replacement in 2008, Brendan McIntyre, arrives from Lower Hutt, via Celtic in the Scottish Premier League and more than held their own against older teams and their positive, skilful and attractive football, and demeanour, was praised by several opposition coaches

The 3rd XI, coached by Dan Bidwell, enjoyed a stellar season. After a severe spanking in their first match, the squad rallied, gaining promotion then winning their grade. Mr Bidwell and the senior players deserve credit for persevering and developing throughout the season: giving the 2nd XI several scares during practice games.

The 4th XI, coached by Saul Treadwell and managed on Saturdays by Mr Reader played positive and entertaining football throughout the season.

The 1st XI after the Wellington College game.

A victorious 3rd XI.

we hold high hopes that his combination with Peter Hicks (Silverstream Manager of the Year award winner) reaps rewards.

One issue that has become apparent is the increasing skill levels and commitment displayed by our players from improved coaching and management in their clubs. This raised skill level needs to be met by the College in terms of qualified coaching staff and adequate playing fields.

Silverstream fielded four senior teams in the Saturday Competition. The 2nd XI gained promotion after the qualifying rounds and enjoyed a robust, demanding season, battling against strong 1st and 2nd XIs. The highlight was the development of several junior players who chose to represent the School rather than their clubs. Their commitment was rewarded with promotion to the 1st XI, where they more than proved their worth. Much of this successful must be credited to Gap student, Felix Bremner. Felix set and maintained very high standards from the outset; demanding and receiving the respect and commitment needed to succeed in a very tough league. The young squad

The Tuesday Bs, coached by Rob Tungatt and managed by Gill Hunter enjoyed a successful season in, at times, bitter conditions. The juniors played skilful, intelligent football and it was a joy to watch, even on one of the riverbank fields at Fraser Park in a biting southerly.

Third XI Football

The 3rd XI football team capped off a remarkable season of football, by winning the division final on the 25th of August, played at the St Patrick's College Silverstream on the number one field at 1.00pm. The team had earned itself a place in the final after dominating the championship round with nine wins and one loss, amassing a total of 42 goals for, while ceding only 22 goals against. The team's season began with a bit of a hiccup, going down 13-2 to Wellington College 7, but players were able to refocus themselves and train hard so that when it came to playing the same team again later in the season they won handsomely 4-1. Such was the turnaround of the team, that their story featured in the Dominion-Post the following week. This result gave the team members a lot of confidence as they were to play this team in the final. The final was a tight game with a lot of tension and nerves felt by both teams. Many opportunities were created, but none were capitalised on. It was not until well into the 25th minute, that captain Scott Stratford broke the deadlock with a scintillating goal driven from 15 metres outside the box. Wellington College 7 players were valiant in their attempts to score another goal to take the game into extra time, but a spirited Silverstream defence were able to hold them out to the final whistle. An excellent game of football that capped off an excellent season by the team. Congratulations to all members.

*Mr D. Bidwell, Coach
Mr J. Nawalaniec, Manager*

Football is growing in leaps and bound; numbers are increasing every year (there will probably be six senior teams in 2008) as well as the skill levels and abilities of the players. Huge thanks must go to the parents and staff who put an extraordinary amount of time, effort and expertise, coaching and supporting our lads week in, week out. We must however, always remember that these players are still students and that we must support and encourage at all times: parents, supporters and students raging on the sideline are not what we are trying to promote or achieve at Silverstream. Win modestly: lose graciously. Sectare fidem.

1st XI Football Report 2007

The sun was setting over the beautiful rolling hills as the first eleven for 2007 set its team and personal goals for the upcoming season.

The team was led ably by Andrew Ung, who had fantastic support and guidance from senior players: Simon Millynn, Samuel Blackburn, Jamie Mason, and Eyob Teka. The team set the following goals for the year;

- Win the Wellington Premier Title
- Win the six traditional matches
- Gain entry into the Premier National Tournament and surpass last seasons fifth placing.

As you read on you will see that these lofty goals were very difficult and only partially achieved but as, we know, Silverstreamers never takes a backward step from the challenges that they face.

Team List with Appearances for the College at the end of the season

Name	Total 1st XI Caps
Millynn Simon (Vice captain)	78
Blackburn Samuel	75
Ung Andrew (Captain)	72

Mason Jamie	57
Teka Eyob	52
Morta Ethan	39
Cunliffe Nathan	38
Meiklejohn Antony	35
Coad Andrew	28
Lindsay Jesse	22
Nono Mandella	21
Butler Kruse	17
Nono Francis	16
Dean Samuel	15
Check Hayden	10
Renshaw James	2
Aryton Shane	1
Higgins Liam	1

To earn a cap for the first eleven football team a player must play for the College in a full length game with a qualified referee, and a member of the coaching or management team must witness his play. Once a player has reached fifty games for the College he is eligible for a sports pocket indicating this achievement.

The team had qualified second and earned a place in the final regardless of the last round-robin game versus Town. The final was to be at a neutral venue but this was changed in mysterious circumstances and the game was played at top qualifier Wellington College's home ground. The final typified the Stream season flashes of brilliance in securing two goals and defensive lapses conceding three.

Traditional Games 2007

Last season the first eleven was the holder of St Bede's and Wellington College fixture trophies.

Versus Wellington College (Away) – 30th May 2007 – Lost 2 - 6

Played poorly in front of both schools. Did not react to the Wellington College tactics of playing long ball to negate our midfield and once we conceded the third goal in first half seemed to lack the ability to bounce back.

Lost the Fred Rooker Memorial Trophy. Goals from Blackburn and Higgins. – MVP, Mason

Versus St Bede's College (Away) – 6th June 2007 – Drew 3 - 3

A very young team struggled with the pace of the game and the tactics of the opposition to play the long ball in every situation. Goals from Blackburn, Mason and M.Nono saved the Benegree Trophy from ending up in the South Island for the summer – MVP, Morta

Versus Rongotai College (Away) 13th June 2007 – Won 3 – 0

A very pleasing game to be involved in, the team played expansive football which was too much for Rongotai and the final score reflected the dominance that Stream had shown for this match.

Won the Boyle trophy for the first time in 5 years.

Goals from Blackburn, Mason and M.Nono – MVP, Teka

Versus New Plymouth Boys High School (Away) 27th June 2007 – Won 5 - 2

This was the fiftieth game for the College for coach Ryan Sandford and was a fitting way to celebrate this with champagne football. The first half was tight but the second saw the goals flow and some superb play from all those involved.

Goals from Millynn 2, Blackburn, Mason and a NPBHS own goal – MVP, Mason

Versus Saint Patrick's College, Wellington (Home) 18th June 2007 – Won 1 - 0

This was the third meeting of these teams this season, and was a very tight struggle as the score indicates. Sam Blackburn won the game in the ninetieth minute with a scything fourth metre run that cut the Town defences to pieces. The six minutes of injury time saw Town have four scoring chances saved by the Stream keeper.

Won the Lepionka Cup – Goal from Blackburn – MVP, Lindsay

Versus Palmerston North Boys High School (Home) 25th July 2007, Lost 1 – 4

One of the few games in recent memory that after scoring first Stream went onto lose the game. With only nine shots in the entire game, not enough chances were created to force a victory. PNBHS were deserved winners of this trophy.

Goal from Blackburn – MVP, Millynn

National Tournament 2007

There were two results this season that caused the first eleven to end up in a difficult pool at the national tournament. A 1 – 2 loss to HIBs after leading with only two minutes remaining and the following week a pummelling 2 – 4 by Onslow College. As already mentioned, this gave the team a ranking of fifteenth and placed it in the pool with eventual champions Auckland Grammar, fourth placed Christchurch Boys' High School, and ninth placed Palmerston North Boys' High School.

Although we played some good football were not quite on our game and made too many defensive errors at crucial times

Game Summaries

Versus	Result	Score	Goal scorers	MVP
Auckland Grammar (Pool game)	Loss	0 – 8		Millynn
PNBHS (Pool game)	Loss	0 – 2		Blackburn
CBHS (Pool game)	Loss	0 – 4		Nono
NPBHS (8-16 playoff)	Win	5 – 4	Ung, Mason, Blackburn 3	Blackburn
Kings College (8-12 playoff)	Loss	0 – 2		Teka
Lytton HS (11-12 playoff)	Win	7 – 3	Dean 2, Millynn, Mason Higgins, Blackburn 2	Blackburn

From these results it shows that we were conceding goals like a leaking sieve, but when things clicked we could put some impressive numbers up ourselves.

Finishing 11th in the National Tournament was initially very disappointing but considering our poor play at times it is probably a true reflection of our ability during this tournament week.

With only four senior football teams the enormity of just qualifying for the premier national tournament is lost on most people. This year's finalists Auckland Grammar and Mount Albert Grammar have 43 football teams between them and a football budget almost comprising our entire school teaching budget.

So 11th out of the 220 schools that attempted to qualify is a much better expression of how well Stream did in this tournament.

Farewell to Ryan Sandford

It was with great sadness that the season ended with some disappointing losses as this was not the way to send retiring coach Ryan Sandford on his way from Silverstream. Ryan has worked tirelessly with the first eleven, bringing a professional approach to all aspects of the team both on and off the field. He was instrumental in the development of a feeder system into the first eleven primarily with the identification of skilful and talented players and the coaching of the Junior A team.

Ryan's record is outstanding; 59 games for the College over three years; 34 wins, 4 draws and 21 losses.

He leaves Stream with the best wishes of all those in the football fraternity. I wish him well in his new job coaching in America and hope the city of Houston, Texas is ready for his on and off the coaching field talents. I will finish by saying it has been quality for the last three years and I hope that we can continue what you have started.

I would like to also thank all those parents who showed support for the team this year and hope that this will continue into the future.

As Zig Ziglar an avid football fan has said, "What you get by achieving your goals is not as important as what you become by achieving your goals."

Rugby

In 2007 St Pat's Silverstream fielded twelve teams, competing across all available grades.

Members of the 1st XV, coached by David Cournane and Russell Poole, were relatively young and inexperienced and, in comparison to most of their opposition, a small side. However, they proved themselves to be very competitive in both the Premier 1 competition and in their traditional fixtures. The lack of experience did show in the end with a number of narrow losses leading to what was ultimately a frustrating season.

Thanks must go Gilbert Ullrich from Ullrich Aluminium, Murray Quinn from Quinny's Drycleaners, Gary from Lifestyles Gym, and Ross Wilson from Maher United Travel for their continued financial support.

The 2nd XV was coached by Nick Tait and Phil Bennett and started the year in Premier 3 and narrowly missed promotion to Premier 2 and then fell one win short of a semi-final berth. Season highlights included wins over the eventual grade champions and a comprehensive win over Hato Paora in the traditional match to claim the Mary XXX trophy. Along the way a great deal of young talent was nurtured and developed for the future.

The 3rd XV was an eclectic bunch, coached by Paul and Mark Brockie and assisted by Bevan Packer. Starting in the Premier 8 competition it quickly gained promotion to the Premier 7 grade. Players were combative and competitive in all games, often leading at halftime, but victories proved elusive.

Te Ahu Teki and Mark Archibald led the U80's to the semi-final of the U80A grade. The narrow loss in this game reflected the erratic nature of its results which often saw hard games won, and easy games, which should have been won, lost.

The U15A's were coached by Nigel Lloyd, assisted by Bevan Packer. This team became the first one in Silverstream's recent history to win a championship undefeated. This included an amazing semi-final win by 73-0, and a comprehensive victory over Wellington College in the U15 Division 1 final to win the Gus Hill trophy. There were also wins in the inter school games v Napier Boys' High, St Pat's Town (Challenger Shield) and Hato Paora.

The U15B's showed the strength of this grade at Silverstream, making the final before losing to a Wellington College side that had had a drastic change in personnel since losing to Silverstream just two weeks prior. Despite having a change of coaches as Gap students Joe, Eion, and Rooney returned home and Mr Dean Offord stepping in, the team managed to register crucial victories and earn itself a place in the Division 3 final.

The U65A's struggled with consistency throughout the season, but coaches Gary Nesbit and Hamish Vance managed to get the team to peak at the right time gaining a place in the Division 1 semi final where it went down by the narrowest of margins 0-3 to the eventual winners.

The U65B's were superbly organised by Charlie Tangianau and after a slow start to the season, went on a winning rampage to go unbeaten in the 2nd round on the way to a comprehensive victory in the U65 division 3 final.

The Under 65 Whites were guided by Buck Anderson, assisted by XXXX. They found wins hard to come by, but the highlight was the return win over a Paraparumu A side of dubious pedigree.

The u55A's coached by Nigel Paranihi and Peter Jones found themselves in unfamiliar territory, struggling to establish themselves in the top division of the u155 grade.

The under 55 Blues and Whites both battled gamely in a grade full of other schools A teams. Week after week they came up against more experienced and strangely enough for a restricted weight grade much bigger opposition. Credit must go to coaches Paul Western (blues) and Brett Archibald (whites) who managed to keep the focus and determination levels high throughout this challenging season.

Further thanks goes to Sandy McConnell from Seven Electrical, Paul Runciman from Runciman Motors, Maurice O'Reilly from Make$:Cents Accounting, McDonalds Silverstream, Konica Printers and ASB Queensgate for their assistance throughout the year.

First XV

The 2007 Silverstream First XV is not a team to be remembered as the most successful ever, or the biggest ever, or the fastest ever, but never the less it is a team that deserves to be remembered. Twenty-two of our finest young men came together to strive for success in the face of adversity, at times reaching lofty heights, at other times, falling short of their capabilities.

Preparation for the season started earlier than normal, with our biannual pre-season Australian tour to get ready for. This brief tour, in the April holidays, involved two games and numerous training and team building exercises in the Sydney heat. In the first game we managed to overcome our travel fatigue, high humidity and an extremely worthy opponent (Barker College, the championship winning New South Wales team) to prevail 12-10. The second tour match, versus Oakhill College filled the squad with excitement as some outstanding running rugby (our game plan for the season) led to a comprehensive forty point victory.

Returning to Wellington, the season started in earnest, and the successes continued to come. Victories over St Bernard's, Upper Hutt College, Hutt Valley High School and Bishop Viard in the first four weeks had us sitting atop the leader board in the Premier 1 competition. However, the tough part of the season was still in front of us with the imminent traditional fixtures intermixing with important competition games. June was not a good month for the team with a number of narrow losses in traditional matches against Wellington College, St Bede's, Rongotai and New Plymouth Boys' High School.

This record of four losses in four traditional matches was not one the team was proud of and this gave us the steel we needed when it came to the fifth traditional against our brother school, St Patrick's Town. In this incredibly hard fought match on our home pitch (the first home traditional we had this season) Silverstream came out on top 14-10 thanks to a massive defensive effort. This win reinvigorated us with confidence heading into our final traditional against Palmerston North Boys' High. In the tightest of all games played this season we lost to a late penalty goal 10-11.

This gut-wrenching loss seemed to take the wind out of the players' sails a little, and although we ended up only missing out on a semi-final in the Wellington Premier One competition by an unfortunate bonus point issue, the players will admit that their end of season performances were not up to scratch. This was a disappointing end to the season, but the individual efforts of all squad members do need to be recognised here.

The team was driven from the front by a largely youthful front row. Ernest Ullrich, Avagalu Seumanufagai, Attila Va'a (an Under 15 player!) and Stephen Carter, all of whom had a solid season and will be returning in 2008 to give our front row an imposing look. The only front rower we farewelled was our most improved forward for the season, Sofara Aiono. Our regular starting lock, Charles Lloyd, will also be returning in 2008 but reinvented as a loosehead prop for the purpose of furthering his representative career. He was ably supported in the second row throughout the season by Ofisa Taeao, an outstanding lineout target, and Matthew Lyttle, a wiry and mobile player.

Our loose forwards were a mixture of youth and experience. Anthony Ellis and Greg Lealofi both have plenty of rugby left in them for the College, a prospect that fills their coaches with excitement, while Brook and Kyle Cowan are both moving on to other avenues. Before doing so, they left a lot more than just sweat and blood on Silverstream's Rugby fields.

Our link for the season between forwards and backs was also the most experienced member of the squad, and our captain for the season, Ellery Wilson. Ellery had an outstanding season and never gave up on our cause; he became a true leader of men. Outside Ellery, Kayne Hammington, another player returning in 2008, directed traffic for his back line until his season was cut short when he was severely concussed in our match against St Bede's. This position was filled for the remainder of the season by Sam Purvis and, later, by Sam Biggs. The diversity of these players will be missed next season, as Purvis was asked to play in the 9, 10 and 15 jerseys during the season, while Biggs took the field in 13, 12 and 10. Their diversity should serve them well as their attempt to further their rugby careers outside of school.

The midfield was kept solid throughout by the attacking and defensive efforts of George Fainga'a, Tame Whata-Simpkins and, as mentioned previously, Sam Biggs. Each of these players had their own unique strengths in their game, and we look forward to calling upon the hard running and off loading abilities of George, while we farewell Tame, a gifted stepper, and Sam, the best defender in the team. This mid field was able to utilise the speed and skill of Collin Faumuina, seemingly impossible to tackle at times, and Parataiso Silafai-Leaana, a gifted runner with two more years of service to Silverstream Rugby to offer, on the wings. Finally, from fullback the top try-scorer for the season, Jason Woodward, made his mark. Jason is returning in 2008 to add experience and speed to an already exciting training squad we have in place.

2008 promises to be an extremely exciting season with fifty percent of this season's squad returning, and another thirty-odd players making up a training squad that is working hard to help re-establish Silverstream as a rugby power house. They are being supported in this endeavour incredibly generously by Lifestyles Health and Fitness Centres who have provided all squad members with full memberships. Other sponsors that must be thanked for their generous support throughout the season are Quinnys Drycleaners, Ullrich Aluminium and Maher United Travel.

Success in 2008 is going to come as a result of passion, perseverance and performance on the part of all involved.

We thank the Silverstream community for its support during the season and ask for that to continue into the future.

Stream, PREPARE FOR GLORY.

The 2nd XV of 2007 had a challenging but very rewarding season. Playing in Premier 3 division allowed the team to face up to many 1st XV's from other schools and an early goal was set to reach the semi-finals of the competition.

The season started with a hard fought 6-5 win against Newlands College and the team has set a high benchmark for determination especially on defence. A series of narrow defeats left the team hungry for a victory and the team gave a superb display to beat Kapiti College 37-3. This gave the team momentum for the 2nd round and wins against St Pat's Town, Kapiti College, HIBS, and Wainuiamata allowed the team to finish a very credible 3rd place in a very competitive competition.

The draw was not kind for the semi-finals with the unenviable task of playing a very strong Horowhenua College 1st XV in Levin. The game was a seesaw affair with Horowhenua winning a very close fought battle.

In traditional fixtures the 2nd XV was very successful with impressive victories against Hato Paora College (42-8) and Palmerston North Boys High School (19-3).

As with all teams it starts up front and the team had a strong front row with the experienced Peter Moll and Jo Kelland along with Charlie Falesiu terrorising opposition. Good support was given by Cade Sydow and the mobile Ben Tonise. Big Jamie Norman had a superb season at lock with Mona Sio and the biggest improver James Maher who also covered blindside flanker. The team had two aggressive flankers in Caleb Beaumont and Jarrod Wilson and the live wire Gareth Stokes with Anthony Bennett tidy at No.8.

The team had two good halfbacks in Nathan Hope and James Loe but with the early school retirement of James, Nathan made the position his own. Jordan Simpson-Hefft showed an array of skills at 1st 5/8 and the mid-field of Junior Talamaivao and Kairan Mahia caused teams difficulties with hard running and tackling. The back three was a competitive area with the fine finishing skills of Isaac McLean, the Fijian flyer Levi Ekavati, and the rugged Jordan Owczarek along with Blake Thompson being very illusive from fullback. Lincoln Timoteo played most backline position to a great success and the versatile Cameron Heka could be put into most positions on the field and play superbly.

A special thanks to Phil Bennett for his forward coaching expertise and to the captain Jo Kelland who was ably supported by Peter Moll and Junior Talamaivao. I am looking forward to next season with some high standards set and to be built on.

Boring

by

Jason Pather (10DB)

There are many boring things in life. I would make a list, but that would undoubtedly be boring. Instead, I am going to introduce to you, what is possibly the most boring thing ever. Think about that. What I am about to tell you is even more boring than the most boring thing you can think of. This is the human embodiment of Bore Himself, the archetypal bore. It is of course, the weather bore.

The weather bore is someone whose whole life is controlled by the weather. It may seem slightly ridiculous, and you may be thinking that no one like this actually exists, but just read on and let me prove to you that the weather bore does in fact exist.

The weather bore has many and varying techniques for attaining its high level of tedium. First of all are the constant reminders of what the day's weather is going to be like.

"Johnny, take your jacket to school today, it's supposed to rain!" or

"You won't believe it Peter. It's going to rain again today. Just how am I going to get the washing dry?", or even

"Kevin! Take that jersey off! It's supposed to reach 20 degrees today, and I won't have you coming home sweating like a pig!"

You see, weather bores have nothing better to do than try to memorise the entire weather report and hurl hunks of it at you when you really couldn't care less.

Another, more annoying trait of the weather bore is that the weather never seems to be satisfactory. If it is going to rain, anyone unfortunate enough to be in the vicinity of the weather bore is likely to be given a lecture on exactly how many times it has rained in the past week, and how sick they are of the rotten weather and "isn't it meant to be spring?" and so on. No thought is given to the countless boiling Africans who would give their two front teeth, a few fingers and their mother to have a decent downpour of rain.

If the weather happens to be sunny, the weather bore will undoubtedly be moaning that,

"It's about time we had some sunshine", and, "How unbearably hot it is," – probably in the same sentence – and how all the plants are going to die and the rivers are going to dry up. You see, a weather bore is never satisfied. When it is raining they want sunshine and when it is sunny they want rain. It is simply impossible, unless you are God, to please a weather bore.

However, to get the most boredom out of a weather bore – as if you wanted it – is when the weather forecast is wrong. This is when the weather bore truly shines. Think of the one thing in your life that you look up to the most, and have the most respect for. For weather bores this is the weather forecast. I know it's sad. They base their whole life around this ten minutes squeezed in at the end of the news. When these ten minutes are wrong, the weather bore unleashes an avalanche of boredom, so vast and violent that anyone within earshot is instantly liquidised. The vocal vitriol that spews from the weather bore's mouth may cover everything from "they said it would clear up after lunch, but I'm sure it's just got heavier!" to "how can they get paid so much when they can't even do their job? They're as bad as politicians," with possibly a small amount of,

"I am going to murder that weather reporter!" and a bit of,

"What do they teach these kids at school?"

"I don't know what the world's coming to," and maybe even a few underhand mutterings of World War III and a nuclear apocalypse thrown in for good measure.

Now that you know about the weather bore, you may realise that someone you know is in fact a weather bore. If this is the case, then you will need to know the one simple way of destroying one. Think of the weather bore as a tree. If you take all the dirt and rock away from under it, not only will it die, it will fall into the mantle and be obliterated in a sea of molten rock. The same will happen to a weather bore if you take away the one thing it needs for survival: the weather forecast. Without this, the weather bore will go the same way as the hypothetical tree of two sentences ago. So next time you hear

"Karen will be with you after the break for the weather forecast," take all means necessary to ensure that the weather bore is cannot listen to the weather forecast. You may have to resort to changing the channel and "accidentally" throwing the remote in the fireplace, pulling out the TV power plug and "accidentally" snapping off all of the (sticky-out metal bits that go into the wall) or simply hitting it with a hammer (the TV or the 'bore', you choose). Whatever you do, it is imperative that you ensure the weather bore can never again harm you or anyone you love, because as mentioned above, the risks of having a fully-fledged weather bore on the loose can be disastrous.

Once upon a night a handsome prince and his beautiful princess went to the ball but there were no frogs.

"The Worst Journey in the World"

by

Christopher Reisima (13WT)

Dreams begin to fade into obscurity as the piercing light of day interrupts my restful slumber.

And thus, the battle has begun.

The dreaded 'Mum' has broken through my defences with a simple yet intrusive "Time to get up", now I am caught between two savage worlds.

Although I am reluctant to part from my peaceful and encompassing state, the veil that protects me from the waking world has been severely torn, and reality begins to set in. I open my battle-weary eyes.

Here we are again. Yawn.

Sliding out of bed, I struggle to fight off the inevitable, but it is too late. He has already found me, cowering anxiously in the corner.

The vicious warlord I know as 'Routine'.

Depressingly predictable, the Routine challenges me to a duel every single day. Sigh.

I grab the bottle of "Dimension" deodorant off my dresser and aim it carefully. Psssst.

I grit my teeth at its icy burn, and quickly pull on a shirt.

"Hurry up!" yells Mum, her battle cry ringing through the house like the sirens of an air raid.

Boxers, pants, tie, socks ... all taken care of. I swing open my door and head for the kitchen, thoughts of hot toast and honey spreading through my mind.

Instead, I am greeted with the unpleasant sight of a sloppy, bland bowl of Weetbix, already prepared for me by my dear Mother. I thank her weakly, and sit down to eat the repulsive mulch.

My glass of OJ waits in close proximity, ready to fend off whatever vile taste this formidable foe leaves behind. I raise my weapon and plunge it deep into the enemy. Squish.

It releases a soft whimper as diluted milk bubbles to the top. First mouthful. I hesitantly munch on the soggy cardboard-flavoured cereal, and then gulp it down.

Hmm.

I take another mouthful. It may not be the most appetising breakfast, I realise, but I can tolerate it long enough to clean the bowl.

However, my relief is short lived as I gaze towards the clock, staring straight back at me, a shimmer of menace in its bright red digits.

Ten to eight!

I hastily glug the remainder of my OJ and rid myself of any dishes before the fearsome 'Mum' unleashes her wrath upon me.

A minute later, I dash to the bathroom, avoiding an onslaught of scattered clothes on the way.

Numerous rays of sunlight engulf the room, producing a faint, mesmerising glow. I rub my eyes for a few seconds, before arming myself with a toothbrush, all set for combat.

After several rounds, I holster my weapon, a clean, fresh sensation left in my mouth. To complete the rejuvenating experience, I wash my face, and then peer curiously into the mirror.

A new person is revealed: a warrior. A warrior ready to take on the world.

"Eight!" bellows Mum.

A sense of impending doom washes over me.

I throw my cloth down and rush to answer the call of duty.

Back to the kitchen, lunch packed, schoolbooks in bag, out to the car...the monotonous Routine continues to control me at every step, much to my frustration.

I approach the front door, feeling the uneasy anticipation of a major conflict about to commence.

The outside world is bitter cold, a stark contrast to the welcoming warmth found indoors.

At long last, I gather the courage to march out into the combat zone.

I make my way to Mum's Honda, subconsciously hoping that the day would come to a close as rapidly as it had begun.

The drive is an intimidating journey in itself, but I manage to remain optimistic, even in the face of imminent warfare. It is not long before we arrive at my school, looming ahead.

Now the battle really begins ...

The Universal Word

by

Jason Pather (10DB)

(Published in the Dominion Post Thursday 31st May 2007)

My world is a kaleidoscope of sounds, colour and music. There are people all around me, heaving and pushing, trying to get closer towards the band which has just taken the stage. It is, of course, a hopeless struggle – there is a solid wall of humans in between the vast majority of the audience, and the band – but still they carry on trying.

The band – I can't recall its name at present – strikes up a chord, and the place goes wild. The drummer starts hammering away at his drum kit like the world is about to end, and he has to hit a million drums a second to finish the song before it does.

The twin guitarists rip into their guitars, like lions into an antelope carcass, their fingers moving over their fret boards faster than greased lightning with a turbocharger. The vocalist is roaring into his microphone, with incomprehensible fury, and coloured spotlights sweep over the crowd, picking out faces, streaked with sweat.

But I am away from it. This band is fast and energetic, its members are talented as individuals, and they have sent this hall into chaos after just a few seconds, but nevertheless, I cannot bear to stand here a minute longer.

The sounds behind me fade as I make my way to the exit. It is like leaving a battlefield – there are bodies strewn all over the floor, most of them drunk, and the machine-gun like drumming and war-cry like vocalising – I cannot bring myself to call it singing – also add to the effect.

Once I am out in the fresh air again, and can hear myself think, I ask myself: 'why did I leave?' The band wasn't exactly bad, and – then I stop myself. They weren't bad. In fact, they were rather good. But that was the problem. I repeat that word to myself, "good". What does it actually mean? By the time I step off the bus and walk the few steps to my house, I think I've got it.

"Good" has no meaning.

It has no meaning because it can be used in every circumstance I can think of. It can be an adjective, a noun, a plural noun and a verb. It can be used by anyone, anywhere, at any level of society. It can be used to describe almost anything: weather, day at school, play, concert, state of international relations, and the list goes on.

I think of the many times I've used that word: "How was school?" "Good", I would inevitably answer. "How was the Science test?" "Good". "How was soccer practise?" "Good". "How was the French trip?" "Good". In fact, "good" may well be the most used word in the English language. Think about it. How many times have you said "good" today? How many books have you read that haven't had the word "good" in them? If your answers are "quite a few" and "none", then you're not alone.

I've reached home by this time, and quietly let myself into the house. I have to find out what the master says. The second-highest selling book in the world – after the Bible – must have the answer. And no, it's not Harry Potter. It is of course, the humble dictionary. Page 365 is brave enough to house this catastrophically destructive word, and almost the whole page is dedicated to its description. It has twenty different meanings. No, that is not a spelling mistake. twenty different meanings for a four letter word, and in a Thesaurus, there are 166 synonyms. I have typed that in bold so you know your eyes aren't deceiving you. One hundred and sixty-six words that mean exactly the same thing as "good".

I think I have made myself clear. "Good" is an amazing word, and is used an awful lot in our lives. However, this is not a particularly good thing. Why don't we use one of those 166 other words, instead of the usual monotonic "good" for a change? Just because it is easy to say and spell, doesn't mean we have to always use it.

Unfortunately, it is not that easy. After walking into the lounge to announce that I had, in fact, emerged alive from the concert to my parents, the inevitable question was thrown my way: "How was the concert?" and the answer was already out of my mouth before I could think: "Good" I answered. And punched myself.
