Good evening everyone, and welcome.
 Tonight we honour our academic prizewinners. I congratulate you all for the hard work and dedication that was no doubt required to get you to your award.

I also congratulate all of you who have been the best that you could be in your learning. And, there are still some weeks to go – finish strongly.

To parents and families – I hope this 5 years has been a great experience for your sons and that they have grown to adulthood in a supportive and challenging environment.

To the two Boards of our College – thank you for all your commitment behind the scenes.

To our staff, thank you for your journeying with these young men over their time at Silverstream – for encouraging them, disciplining them, teaching them, laughing with them, being frustrated by them – but ultimately caring for them. Without a dedicated and caring staff, St Patrick's College, Silverstream could not support our young men to be their very best.

But tonight, my real thoughts are for our Year 13 students.

Kia mau ki te pono
 Hold on to your faith as it comes from God
 Sectare Fidem

You have spent 5 years wandering, daydreaming, being excited and bored in buildings called Redwood, Dowling, Kennedy and Evatt. These are not just old names – these people are our ancestors, our founders, dreamers, builders, makers of things, visionaries, and through the early years of Silverstream's existence in times of depression / war – great pragmatists and battlers. We are what we are today because of Redwood, Dowling, Kennedy and Evatt.

All around this school you find Sectare Fidem – on the chairs we sit on tonight – on the wall at the back, on your vests, your blazers. The words "Sectare Fidem" roll off the tongue of Streamers and believe me – they will continue to do so for the rest of your life.

Gerard Tully

Why did our founders choose "Sectare Fidem" as the life-long motto, the lifelong touchstone, lifelong guiding words for all Streamers on how to live our lives?

What did they mean?

Tonight I offer you some thoughts from our College Whakapapa – our shared history. From Redwood – the great Archbishop of Wellington for over 50 years – founder of both St Patrick's Colleges.

"When I founded your College, I prayed and hoped for its success as demonstrated in the lives of its students. I did not pray for their material success in the world of commerce and sport. I prayed for the more glorious and lasting success of lives spent for God and country by New Zealand men, and irradiating with an influence for good everyone with whom they might be associated during all the days of their lives”.

Fr Dowling – the first Rector of the College

“We endeavour to make our students good Christian men. And also worthy citizens, whose loyalty to king and country is no mere sentiment but is proved by deeds whenever the occasion arises”.

Fr Kennedy – the second Rector – the wartime Rector

“We all have to fight the good fight, even though we may never be called to the field of battle. We must all be soldiers and put on the armour of God – Trust, Justice, Compassion, Faith and Spirit.

And, Fr Evatt, the 3rd Rector

“Our task is to form men – Christian in heart, mind and conduct. Men who recognise the importance and dignity of the human person, understand the duties of justice and good will to all. Men who will challenge materialism and selfishness. The young man at Silverstream is trained in a manly pattern of living, a life lived in and through God’s Grace”.

And, so guys, tonight you leave to go your separate ways – out into the beauty and the bleak, the joyous and the painful, the glorious and the harsh place that we call the real world.

You will meet up again with many Streamers on your journey

- in the cafes and libraries of Victoria University

- on the sidelines of the big games

- or the pubs of London

And by all means raise your pint glasses together and drink a hearty toast of Sectare Fidem

- to friends

- to Comradarie

- to the brothers

- to shared experiences

Our school, our founding Fathers Redwood, Dowling, Kennedy, Evatt, our God, will join you in that celebration.

So long as we all understand that Sectare Fidem means these things but more importantly it is a way of living your life. It really means Truth, Justice, Compassion, Faith, Spirit Sectare Fidem your school – our school – wishes you well but also has demands of you.

That your life is not just about you.

But that you also serve God and country – you serve your brothers and sisters in need wherever you find them.

Kia mau ki te pono

Hold on to your faith, as it comes from God.

HEAD BOY'S ADDRESS

We expect
Black socks
We expect a White and blue tie
a Teal Blazer
We expect Hair off the collar
We expect Rugby and Football
We expect
To be given extensions on deadlines because we had training
We expect
To get away with being late to class because we were 'in a meeting'

We didnt expect to not have any detentions
We didnt expect to see Haize,
Thom and Iriapa breaking tradition with their right turns
We didnt expect, to have to do it ourselves

This year was a year of change. It wasn't something that came easily to us Streamers. We complained.
A lot. We pushed the boundaries. A lot. Well... I didnt but you guys did.
But that's ok cause were teenagers right. But it's something we're going to have to get used too.

This year we saw the end of the staff looking after us. They let us fall. Hard. They didn't catch us.
But at the same time, we were given opportunities that we never saw come our way before. We were allowed to speak at ranks, in assembly. We kicked the staff off the stage, we made them sit down with us. We were forced to realise that we were almost adults making our own decisions, walking along beside the staff. We were taking our first step off the ledge, into manhood.

It started with having to make decisions about how we were going to use our own time. A study period?
That just means chill out right? Or dealing with school related things that probably didn't involve study.

We were given more trust, teacher's didn't seem to chase us the same.
We had a leaver's ball organised by students. Turns out that's harder than you would think. We were given the responsibility of caring for each other. Those little people, the year nines. I personally hadn't seen them as my responsibility before. I thought someone else would take care of them. I thought at the end of the day that responsibility rested with the staff. Turns out. It's our responsibility.

Some of us may scoff or laugh as if this was a throw away comment.
But our school really is about belonging. When you look back at your time at Silverstream, one of the things you will think about is the brotherhood. The way we come together in times of need.
This year we have all belonged to that brotherhood. We were there for each other when we lost Zelius, one of our own. We were there for each other when our brothers were suffering. Whether you like it or not, we belonged to this community.

As year thirteens we have been role models whether we wanted it or not. We have been watched and modelled upon as we changed and grew, had successes and failures, and climbed the rock face towards our futures. It has been a pleasure to witness this humble leadership throughout the year. To watch as Kheinan guided Callum Harkin, to see Shawn work with Christian, to see Iriapa as a big brother to Neihana. To see those boys new to our school grow in confidence thanks to the role modelling of our year group. I would like to think that next years year thirteens have watched us, and will also use us as role models of how to welcome a new generation of Streamers to our school.

Aaron Conlon

I'm not going to pretend we've been perfect as we climbed the rock face of change this year. I've made mistakes and wish I could do a couple of things again. I wish I had remembered that I was here for my studies as well my leadership.
I wished I hadn't chosen to referee instead of coming to school some days so that I had some money to spend at New World on snacks.
Looking back, I'm fairly certain this didn't help my academic situation at this point in the year. Was it worth it? Probably not. But I was allowed to make this mistake and learn from
it. I was made to manage myself, whether it turned out for the best or not.

When we started climbing our rock face five years ago, we arrived with no idea how to tackle any of the challenges that faced us as we looked up to the top of the cliff face. We needed people to help us, to teach us and guide us, to allow us to make mistakes and find our successes. Often it was the little things that people do that made our challenges easier to conquer. Personally, there are a few people I feel I need to thank publicly for helping me.

To the whole of year 13, I would like to thank you for supporting and encouraging me to continue on my leadership journey. I would like to make special mention of my leadership team, Haize, Iriapa and Thom and all the MYL and YCL leaders for always saving my back. To the year 13 boarders, thanks for helping to make boarding my home away from home.

To the whole staff, thank you for always making me feel welcome and always persevering with my academics even when I didn't, specifically I would like to thank Mr Cole, Mr Packer, Ms Lawrence, Mr Bowden and Mr Pivac for all the extra efforts you have made for me. I would also like to thank Mr Tinney for being a genuinely good guy in the five years he has had to put up with having me in his class, Mrs L Kirton for putting in hours of her own time on top of what was required, and never making it seem like it was a hassle, to Father

John for being an awesome human being and his never ending work in developing the special character of our school, to Mr Tait and the boarding staff, Mr Shepherd and Mrs Pope, for taking such good care of me, to Mr Tully for inspiring me with his words and the great places you will take Silverstream in the years to come, and to Mrs Potts, my school Mum, thank you for always dropping everything and giving me your undivided attention when you knew I needed it, no matter how busy you were at the time.

I wish to thank my Mum and Nana for loving and caring for me throughout my life.

Mum, thank you for making the sacrifice of letting me leave the nest earlier than most Mum's would, for having the insight to know that that is what was best for me, for working so hard to pay for me to be here, I hope I am and will always do justice to your sacrifices, and for showing me your love for every single moment of my life so far. Writing this thank you to you I felt I could go on forever, and it would still not be enough words to show you the extent to which I truly do thank you.

And this takes me to my final resting place of this stage in my life, I'm ready to step off the ledge and keep climbing. I know that some rocks will be big and easy for me to conquer, and others harder for me to grip. I know that I may slip back, I may fall, but I have the faith of knowing that I have a group of brothers who will be there to catch me and push me back up again. I look out at you all and I wonder where my next resting place will be, how big the ledge will be, and how long I will land there for, and I wonder if it will be as safe and sturdy as the one I stand on now.

As I take this great big leap of faith into the unknown I do it in the knowledge that throughout our lives we will meet people who will challenge us, judge us, and seek to oppose our beliefs, but it is our response to such situations that will become the measure of our true characters.

Sectare Fidem.

STAFF NOTES

TONY GILES

It would have been with considerable surprise and disappointment, to our current Year 12 and 13 students in particular, upon returning to school in February to discover that Tony “the Terminator” Giles had left. Tony in fact received and accepted an offer of a position as Deputy Principal at Sancta Maria College in Auckland in the very last week of school in December, so although the juniors of 2012 found this out at the end of year prizegiving, our current Year 12 and 13 students, as well as the class of 2012, did not get an opportunity to farewell him.

Tony has given fifteen years of distinguished and skilful service to the College in a wide range of roles since 1998 when he was appointed as assistant HOD English (when Ms Duffy went on maternity leave). Over the years he has taught English, Religious Education, Careers; he was a Dean at Year 11 and has been the teacher librarian. In 1999 he was appointed as HOD English and 3 years later was appointed Deputy Principal in charge of Pastoral Care in the college, a major challenge for a young teacher in the relatively early stages of his career.

Tony met this challenge with a typical combination of skill, compassion and humour. He quickly established a reputation as someone who would not stand for students failing to reach his high expectations of them for their own personal behaviour and the upholding of the reputation of the College. However students also discovered that Tony was always firm and fair in his dealings with them, that it was their behaviour that he was looking to improve and that there was nothing personal in any consequences meted out to them.

Tony was also involved in sport, particularly in rugby coaching. He cites his 2 main highlights as coaching the 2nd XV in 2001/2002 and his U65 team winning the title in 1999, beating Wellington College 8-7 in the final, having lost to them heavily twice in the season.

Recognising his abilities, the Board of Trustees had no hesitation in appointing Tony as Acting Rector twice, in 2007 for 3 terms and in 2011 while they made the permanent appointment of our current Rector, Mr Gerard Tully. Tony showed himself to be an able administrator and leader. He was an incisive and creative thinker as well as being firm and decisive with his decision making. The contribution he made in 2011 in particular, leading the college through an ERO review while Acting Rector, was particularly valuable and appreciated by staff and members of both the Board of Proprietors and Trustees alike. Boys really enjoyed Tony’s assembly addresses which while invariably humorous, always contained a serious and relevant message.

Tony, we thank you for your gift of service to the College and while we recognise that your future lies in Auckland with Robyn and your sons, we will miss you and the valued contributions you have made. Sectare Fidem.

BEVAN PACKER

When people found out Bevan Packer was leaving Silverstream they could hardly believe the news. Bevan had been a part of the fabric of Silverstream for longer than most could remember, and yet he was still able to maintain his youthful good looks. The 'Sheriff', as he became affectionately known was involved in all aspects of College life. He had operated as Year 9 Dean, and then Dean of Chanel House for many years. He had led the PE department for well over a decade, coached First XV rugby for many seasons, co-ordinated all things rugby for many seasons, developed various athletes into top quality hurdlers, mentored many young teachers, worked within the boarding hostel, and all of this whilst also building a family with his wife Kate and coaching club rugby. Bevan's ultimate passion was rugby, and it was his team's performances on the field that seemed to have the biggest impact upon his moods. He had many a famous quote but my favourite was simply that 'there are two things we don't talk about at Silverstream- contraception and Rugby League!' Bevan is a passionate 'Streamer' and his presence here has already been sorely missed.

Bevan is now residing in Auckland with his wife Kate and children, Harry and Lucy, where he has taken up the role as HoD Physical Education at Howick College. However, many aspects of how things are done here at Silverstream are still reflective of the impact that Bevan has had upon us all. Silverstream will forever be changed for having had him as a member of our community.

ALAN BUNTING

Although Alan Bunting was not at the College for long, he certainly left an indelible mark on the students of the College, and especially the athletes that he spent time with. Alan has a history in professional rugby and his skills and expertise in this area were immediately put to use when he was given the head coaches role for the College's First XV. This team went on to have a very successful season, unfortunately culminating in a gut-wrenching last minute loss to Wellington College in the Premier 1 final. Alan also played a major part in the Junior Sports Institute and athletics programme in his time here. He is currently working for the NZRU as assistant coach for the NZ Women's 7s team as they push for a gold medal at the 2016 Olympic Games.

JONNY HEWSON

Jonny Hewson may have only been at the College for 3 years, but in those years he managed to play a positive role in all aspects of College life. Not only has he taught in a number of different departments including Physical Education and Social Sciences, he has also lived and worked in the boarding hostel, coached a wide variety of sports teams, actively involved himself in the special character of the College, and played a major part in the social life of the College staff. My greatest memory of Jonny is when he organised a group of 100+ students to show their appreciation to Mrs Pat Scholes, the matron at the time, with a 'tunnel of appreciation' as a part of the staff 'Secret Santa' programme. The thought and care that went into this gesture was truly reflective of the type of person Jonny is. He is currently enjoying travelling overseas, and with any luck may be back on our doorstep some time down the track.

STAFF NOTES

FRANCES PEPPER

A fierce defender of her Scots heritage, a marvellous maker of shortbread, and one who always seized the opportunity to dress up and have fun. Frances was initially employed as a Teacher Aide in the Learning Support department, having spent most of her previous years teaching Food & Nutrition and Physical Education. She was a strong addition to our team in Learning Support where her sense of humour, patience and Scots' determination encouraged students to go that extra mile, to keep persevering when the work was challenging and where she championed the cause of students who faced barriers to their learning. A testament to Frances' commitment to one of her students, who was profoundly deaf, was shown when she decided to learn Sign Language and attended evening courses over two years to develop a level of competency in the language. Over time Frances combined her teacher aide role with that of teaching junior Food & Nutrition, and with both Potts and Pepper at the helm in K7 the students were well catered for. With the prospect of selling their family home and moving to Waikanae permanently Frances, with much sadness, decided to retire in July 2012. Frances, your energy and ready laugh will be sorely missed. Na h-uile la gu math duit – May all your days be good!

SARAH PITMAN

Sarah Pitman arrived at Silverstream 5 years ago with a background in teaching Art, working as an art education co-ordinator at the City Gallery and lecturing at tertiary level. Students soon knew the standards she wanted met and it didn't take too long before they knew what was required, both behaviourally and in the quality of work they produced. Her work as an art education co-ordinator meant students visited Galleries regularly and saw how art related to the real world. Sarah left at the end Term 3 2012 to further her qualifications and study to masters level at Victoria University in curatorial work.

RACHEL COOPER

Rachel joined the staff at the start of 2011, as Head of Department for Learning Support. She brought with her huge enthusiasm and expertise in working with students who experience learning difficulties. Rachel's kind, patient and knowledgeable approach was appreciated by students and parents. The Learning Support Room was always a hive of activity during break times. Rachel also supported students with an interest in the arts e.g. the Hip-Hop crew and students entering competitions such as "NZ's Got Talent" Rachel left Stream at the end of term 3 2012 to undertake further study and to work on RTLB in the Hutt Valley area.

SHANE BILDERBECK

Shane worked at Silverstream as Business Manager from December 2008 to December 2012. Shane was a very friendly and popular staff member who always carried out efficiently the many and varied roles of his position. His role involved interacting widely with staff members, Board members, parents and the business community and Shane's knowledge, customer focus and sense of humour ensured that all relationships were managed in a professional manner. Shane left us to take up a similar business management position for Whitireia Polytechnic with responsibilities in Porirua, Wellington and Auckland.

ZELIUS VENTER

3/09/1997 - 29/06/2012

Zelius was a shooting star, a super nova, the biggest and best exploding sky rocket you could ever imagine. He spent his first year at Stream just being one of the boys, not showing up in any particular way, just doing stuff and having fun.

In his second year at Stream he discovered something new about himself – he found out that he could do things that marked him as extraordinary. This was first evident on the athletics track, where he ran 800m in 2min 11 seconds at the school champs without even breaking a sweat. This got him into Old Boy's and he raced that to win in 2mins 8.9 seconds. After this came McEvedy. There is a video on the NZSSAA website showing Zelius tracking the Coll runner and blasting away from him in the last 50m with his finger in the air – a win in 2mins 6.68 seconds. From here Zelius went to the Regional Champs and raced against boys a year older than him. This time he didn't win – but he did take second and qualify for the North Island Champs. It was at this point that he decided, with some prompting from home, to train. He hadn't come to any training till this point and we hadn't pushed him to do so as he was just improving every race so why bother him! Zelius did one mixed pace 800 with Tom Yates – then asked when were we going home! He had finished after one rep. He did the second rep but just jogged. At the North Island Champs he went through his usual pre-race warm-up which consisted of a large energy drink and a sit down for 20 mins. He then went for a jog to the start line. Zelius was in trouble in the heat as the pace was very hot. But, come the home straight, he hit over-drive and flashed past a number of other athletes to take the last spot for the final in an outstanding 2mins 3.99 secs. Zelius went back to the motel, phoned his parents, then returned 5 hours later to run a race that was legendary. In the final he took the lead, the words of his father "you can take twice the pain of any other boy" ringing in his ears. After one lap the experienced and faster boys went past Zelius. Zelius dug in and re-claimed the lead. Along the back straight he was passed again. Zelius dug in and re-claimed the lead. With 200m to go he was passed again. Zelius was struggling now. He was in the pain zone. In the last 100 the front guys were gone and Zelius was getting challenged by some back runners. Zelius dug in – and finished strongly. His time was 2mins 5 seconds – his second best time. In the space of 4 weeks Zelius had gone from nowhere to a nationally ranked athlete.

In the winter Zelius combined some cross country training with the other sport that he was excelling in – rugby. He started to understand what training in athletics was all about. He came to the NZ Sec Schools Cross Country champs as part of his ongoing plan to race a great 800 at the nationals in Dunedin. He had fun on that trip – and ran well enough to indicate he was on track.

2 minutes for an 800m was his goal. That would take a huge pair of lungs, a strong desire and the ability to take twice as much pain as any other boy. I have no doubt Zelius would have smashed 2 minutes. When the new track is opened at Stream the first official race will be an 800m – and 2 minutes will be the goal. A fitting tribute to a young Streamer who inspired us all. Sectare Fidem

“Zelius probably lived more in his 15 years than others have in their lifetimes”

Listening to music on his bike was his favourite thing, his release from the world.

to ask for forgiveness than permission”

YEAR 13 GRADUATION 2012

Friday 2 November 2012: At today's Year 13 Graduation, Andrew Hallot and Camiel van Schoonhoven were awarded Joint Dux for 2013, with Yashika De Costa Proxime Accessit. The evening started in the school chapel with staff, family and friends present as each student came forward to accept their graduation folder from The Rector, Mr Gerard Tully. The Leaver's Mass, led by Father John Greally, focussed on their time at St Patrick's, the values instilled and the friendships they had formed. Supper was held in the dining room before the prizegiving began in the Auditorium. In keeping with tradition, the evening finished with all students on stage to sing the school song "Sectare Fidem" and perform the school haka.

CULTURAL O'SHEA SHIELD

The O'Shea Shield

The host College this year was Cullanane college in Whanganui and the 67th year of the competition was celebrated. The team left on a fine Friday afternoon in the College van with Mr Boyle and Mr Cole accompanied by the staff in cars. Before long in the van the guitar came out and there was a musical sing song for most of the trip. We stopped at Bulls for coffee and a break. Most headed for McDonalds or the food bar in the service station.

We arrived at a newish motel at the foot of St John's Hill on SH 3. Soon other colleges checked in. It must be an O'Shea Shield weekend. Looking for an evening meal we drove off and after negotiating a confusing mix of rail and road intersections and going up the hill to turn we went up a main thoroughfare lined with every kind of fast food outlet imaginable. The staff had a formal meal in a modern restaurant while the boys were spoiled for choice among the other outlets.

Back at the motel some of the events had short briefings and the Religious Questions team, driven by Johan was particularly into it. Saturday morning dawned sunny but chilly. Two members of the team at least did gymnastics on the court outside in the half light. It was only a ten minute drive to the host college, a well laid out modern school with very ample playing areas. All the teams assembled in front of the Gym for the Powhiri.

The speeches of welcome were short, to the point and very sincere, as Cullanane College made it very plain how pleased they were to host the O'Shea. Our debate was against a well prepared and motivated St Peter's team. The topic was about whether NZ society respected human rights. St Peters debated from the basis of our welfare system which was set up after the great Depression of the 1930's to look after the weaker members of our society. This whole infrastructure of help has emerged which reflects Christian values and love of neighbour. Stream with the negative case to develop adopted a hard nosed approach on the lack of tolerance in our society, and at times widened the case beyond New Zealand. It seemed like a clash between theory and wishful thinking and facts on the ground.. The adjudicator praised Johann's apparent command of the issues. Even the intense and tearful delivery of the opposing team captain failed to persuade his decision in favour of the negative team. Perhaps it was the greater experience of the Stream team. Perhaps it was the need for a tighter definition to avoid the tit for tat use of examples. Perhaps it was the difficulty of tying down cases that debate human values.

To the Gymnasium for the Impromptu Speech of Sean Stack which he had to deliver before a nervous group of family members at the back of the hall. 'Vanity' was a popular topic but Sean choose 'Achievement' and put it into a familiar context namely his dragon boating team and his coaches ambitions for the team. He certainly painted a picture of a very demanding coach who was insistent that the team goals be achieved and more.

After a very generous lunch put on by the parents of Cullanane we moved to hear Tarquinn Alatipi who was our Junior Prepared Speaker. He spoke on the colourful family life he had had and in particular living with his brother with whom there was fair amount of sybling rivlary. However in the end all came out well between the two brothers.

In the Senior Prepared Speech Henry Grey spoke on the need for youth to strive forward to achieve for life in the 21st Century. Young people who struggle to adjust to the demands must be helped.

After dinner put on by the motel for the whole Stream group we made our way by van to Whanganui High School in the southern part of the city. A big crowd was expected judging from the number of traffic wardens visible by their jackets in the night. The crowd in the hall showed the usual excitement, anticipation and restlessness. Facilitated by two students who did a very good job showing patience with the crowd and in turn got support and cooperation. The Stream drama team did well and the members displayed excellent speech and acting skills. The theme was based on the family disappointment with a failing son. Back at the motel the staff enjoyed a short social time in Ms Duffy's room and exchanged anecdotes about the weekend happenings. On the Sunday it was an early start for the Religious Questions and the appearance of Johann Go, Matthew Kelly and Tim Scanlan before the tribunal, to be questioned on Pope John Paul's instructions to the Youth of the World on the occasion of Youth Day in Madrid 2011. Generally there is a simple warm up question but on this occasion it was straight into a definitional and abstract question. Many teams struggled with this at the start. Overall the team did well with all its questions but could have improved in the areas of explanation and the ability to apply material to what is happening in the life of youth today.

In the Scripture reading Chris Alosio struggled with the novelty of the situation which he found too artificial and did not produce his best effort on the day. The winner was a girl from St Mary's who read in a very clear and measured style with every word being heard. There was quite a long wait before making the trip to St Mary's Church in the city for the O'Shea Mass. Many of the students started their own informal games out on the field. Luckily the weather was mild and sunny. When Mass time came the Church was packed with students and supporters. The Mass was said by the newly ordained Bishop Charles Drennan. It was the usual lively affair led by a jazz band and drums. The Principal of Cullanane made a strong point of listing and thanking all the people in the school and in the parish for helping to run this major event for the first time.

Our results could have been better and were indicative of the need for stronger inputs in the cultural field in the College at the moment. However we did achieve distinction marks in three events. St Pats Town were just pipped at the post from retaining the Shield yet again but congratulations to Sacred Heart Napier and first time winners St John's Hastings for being the overall victors over the weekend. Before final departure a large group of students from all the Colleges mingled on the ample green areas outside the church in the warm afternoon sun. There were Hakas and counter Hakas, including a late one from Silverstream at the behest of Mr Tully. We departed for Wellington aware that we could have done better but given the significant task of hosting the event in 2013.

The team was as follows:

The Junior Prepared Speech - Tarquinn Alatipi

The Senior Debate - Johann Go, Chris Ingram, Ryan Green and Hans Wijaya

The Religious Questions - Matthew Kelly, Johann Go, Tim Scanlan, Zac Ringrose

Scripture Reading - Chris Alosio

Impromptu Speech - Sean Stack

The Oration - Henry Grey

Religious Drama - Haize Alatipi, Leo Maggs, Yashika de Costa, Saio Salaveo, Jordan Tonise and Jacob Baker

Team coaches were Ms Duffy, Miss Lawrence, Ms Nolan, Mr Cole, Mrs Law, Mrs Kirton, Father John Greally and Mr Boyle.

DUKE OF EDINBURGH

The Duke of Edinburgh's Hillary Award 2012

The Award programme again ran successfully this year at Silverstream. We had 25 boys enrolled at Bronze level but the number of Silvers dropped to eight of, only six completed their Awards.

Today the Award has to compete with many other activities and distractions in the lives of the boys but we are making no concessions to the effort required to meet the standard.

Most of the boys through out the monitored period between March and September reported regularly on their activities which ranged from gardening and landscaping to website design, car maintenance, First Aid and debating. Valuable social service like cleaning the grounds at the Hospice, visiting the elderly, Church service and so on. No doubt a huge amount of voluntary social service is done in the NZ community by the Award members.

On the Silver practice tramp the weather for once was clear and we ventured on the long climb up Mr Climie and along the ridge tops for some distance. The huge telephone towers were a handy point of reference for our location on the tractless ridges. Some hours later returning down to the park we had a tent setting practice followed by a walk down the ancient rail tunnel and an opportunity for some clowning around.

The weekend of the the Silver qualifying expedition arrived and the Golds came along doing their practice tramp as a separate and independent unit. Mr Watson was in charge of the travel arrangements and we made our way to Masterton via the Wairarapa express full of commuters happy that work was over for another week. A bus obviously reserved for trampers was driven to Holdsworth by a talkative driver who was just back from a European tour. It was getting quite dark when we got off and walked to the Lodge where we camped on the grass nearby. Outside the temperature fell rapidly but Mr Fouhy was safely escounced in the Lodge with the heat pump at 21 degrees. After preparing an evening meal using headlights, most retired to their tents to awake next morning to a white frost covering the tents and the ground around.

After that cold start with the sun coming up we started on the long trek over the mountains to Kaitoke. The group stopped for a photo at 'the Rocky Lookout' and then over the saddle and down some very water eroded tracks to Totara Stream. Lackie Watson had a fall but managed to get his cut knee bandaged up. The party stopped at the Torara Flats Hut which was empty. We arrived in the late evening at the selected campsite, down the valley just short of the major slip. Daniel Larkin, Matt Bastion immediately plunged into the excellent swimming hole on the river bend. After dinner the day ended around the fire and a sing song led by Ollie McClure.

Sunday dawned and another heavy ground frost and a thick mist. When this lifted it gave way to a fine day. Several trampers passed through our campsite on their way to the Hut or to 'Walls Whare'. We gathered around for a Sunday service. Pat McCann read from the Gideon Bible and Mr Fouhy gave the sermon on 'seeing God in nature'.

The whole group then made its way down the Waihine Valley under the big slip to the foot of the Cone Saddle track. At this stage the party had split into two groups: the fast moving group of Golds and Silvers and the slower group with Mr Watson and Mr Boyle. Unfortunately Mr Boyle stumbled and fell incurring a serious cut on the lower side of his hand. Unknown then was the slight fracture of his wrist. Self medicated and the wound dressed we moved on and finally caught up with the main party on Cone Saddle. Bags were dropped and a trip to the top of Cone Mountain was approved and led by Mr Fouhy fresh from his marathon training. The others retreated down to Cone flats but not before encountering a resident of Cone Hutt who became known as "as the man with many axes". He looked like a very eccentric huntsman and Mr Fouhy who was later to share a night in the hut with him reported that he was a good guy.

A fire on the river side and another social occasion was a fitting end to the day. We tried out the Satellite Phone on a few occasions with mixed results. Concern about its reliability in a real emergency were raised.

Next morning Mr Boyle and Mr Watson left early as by now the hand injury was becoming a problem. The whole group caught up at Smith's Creek and made it out in time for the 4pm bus pick up. A vote of thanks was made by Ethan to the tramp leadership and we started back to the College. We learned later that the infected hand injury and the hair fracture of the wrist landed Mr Boyle in hospital for two days. Silvers who completed their qualifying expedition were: Daniel Van Den Kerkhof, Ethan Loveridge, Patrick McCann, Daniel Larkin, James Mainwaring, Jesse Williams and they were presented with their certificates and medals at the Year 12 Prize giving ceremony.

Ollie McClure (Gold Level)

The Bronze Expedition

The Bronze Award went very well this year with 20 enrolled and 15 completing all stages. The death of Zeliuss Venter in a mountain biking accident was a sad event. He was an active member of the Award and would certainly have completed it. Most of the candidates pursued their activities actively and lots of voluntary social work was done. All were involved in active sports over the summer and winter seasons. The Bronze Practice tramp was in Keith George Park behind the College. We had a 40 minute steep climb with our packs to reach the pylons at the top where we had a welcome break. We had magnificent views of the valley and Wellington city in the misty distance. We then trundled down the other half of the loop track to get experience of going downhill with packs.

At the bottom we went under the motor way and began a 4km walk to Moonshine Park. We crossed the river just below the bridge to reach the park. Tents were set up and checked and after that we did some map and compass exercises followed by practice in using the 2 way radio(PMR).

Sunday morning was fine and sunny and we gathered for a gear check at the College. A big group of parents waved us off as we started the main expedition. Dropped off at the 'cattle stop' at Kaitoke we made our way in record time to the top of the 'puffer' track. Naturally there was a fast group and a slower group. Eventually we all caught up for a short break and a much needed drink. On we went through broken beech forest and swampy track to the turnoff for the Marchant Ridge where we had lunch. From there we started on the hour long downhill trek to the river where most had a refreshing swim in the warm sunshine though the water was icy. Connor Leahy had an underwater camera and did some exploring looking for fresh water crayfish. Later we tramped up the valley for half an hour to come to our camping spot on the river flats. After dinner we had a good social occasion around the fire. Next morning every one was up fairly early and the tents survived the strong winds that roared down the valley during the night. About 9 am we ventured off up the valley along an improved track. We had to detour on a very steep and slippery bypass to avoid a washout on the track. Around midday we arrived at Tutawai to find a number of Palmerston North Boys High Students camped there. So we moved to camp site B about twenty minutes up the track. Tents set up we started up the valley wading over the river on many occasions playing follow the leader. Ollie McClure and Randall Tyler were out in front forging ahead. Mr Boyle kept to the middle and Mr Watson brought up the rear. We reached Cone Flats and after the usual stone throwing exercise at the cliff over the river, we returned to our campsite along the track, getting in around 5pm. After tea a number of small fires were lit and everyone had a good social time gossiping and cooking. Some went for a swim in the river. Tom England and Nathan Lenihan were doing the dare devil stuff. The adults were camping under a tree nearer the track while most of the boys tents were nearer the river. Ollie McClure (Masta) was continually on the prowl watching for any disorder. Next day after an expedition photo and a very strict check of the camp sites and the dispersal of any fire stones we began the journey down the track to Smith's Creek where we had lunch and another river swim. Then out on the final leg of the journey along the eroded track that forced us down onto the river bed several times. Of course there was the approved new high level all weather track as an option. After the final demanding climb and the rather boring never ending downhill journey, the bus was a welcome sight. Mr Boyle and Mr Watson and Randall Tyler had to literally run as over the radio they heard that the bus driver was getting agitated and needed to leave urgently at 3pm. Joseph Faure gave a vote of thanks to the trip leadership and off we went back to the College. The adult party including Richard Law son of Mrs Law and Thomas Watson son of Mr Watson.

UP & COMING - OLD BOYS NEWS

Foundation Introduction

St Pats College Silverstream Foundation

The Foundation was launched at a Gala Dinner held at the College on 25th May 2012. The dinner was a full house and a great success. Our guests were privileged to have the generous support of Old Boys. The Honourable Bill English and Mark Sainsbury were outstanding speakers and spoke from the heart of the contribution that Silverstream has made in their lives, and encouraged all Old Boys to join them in supporting the Foundation.

Share Our Vision

It's a huge challenge to provide our Catholic youth with a first class faith based education in the 21st Century.

This is why the Old Boys and Board of Proprietors have joined forces to establish the St Pat's Silverstream Foundation. The Foundation is about more than just financial resources and will build a stronger College community where Old Boys and supporters can become involved in College life.

Sports Hub

The Foundation's first project will be an exciting new Sports Hub. A major development comprising a new gymnasium, aquatic centre and a state of the art all weather athletics track.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

All students have the opportunity to be involved in this cultural activity but in the end it came down to a dedicated few. In some ways public speaking, as an activity has struggles to get going in a strong sports culture. The pressure assessment activities put on student's time, especially during the winter sports season, all militate against a higher level of involvement. A number of promising students were targeted but many were too committed to other things to get involved when it involved a commitment to research, writing and speech delivery. However the debating teams we did enter all acquitted themselves well and enjoyed the experience. Of some significance for the future is the number of promising Year 9 students who were active this year. Public speaking is all about personal development. Many former students assert it was the most valuable single thing they did while at the College, from a practical view of gaining skills for the professional workforce. The Senior Premier A team consisted of Johann Go, Chris Ingram and Ryan Green and was supervised by Mr Mike Cole. The team competed well in the top grade but rarely come out on the winning side, though there were some very close debates. Johann is developing well in confidence and the ability to grasp and comprehend a complex case. Chris Ingram was able to back up his points with robust research. Ryan Green is a promising young debater and is very confident at the 3rd speaker position.

In the Senior Certificate Grade the emphasis is on participation and a number of speakers circulated through the team during the year.

The main students who took part were Liam White, Oliver Perkinson, Ethan Loveridge and Shaetrin Pathmanathan. The Coach was Ms Morrell, our librarian who did a most conscientious job organising and arranging the debates. It was good to see some Old Boy university students coming back to help with adjudication.

We also fielded a Junior Certificate team composed of Thomas McMahon, Joseph Faure and Jonathan Petersen. The team developed well and progressed unbeaten to the play-offs when in their first debate they met the rough edge of a line call. In this development grade there is always a clash between well prepared essay type speeches and making an effort to engage in debating the topic. The team aimed for the latter style. During the series of debates Thomas McMahon showed good development in his confidence and ability to think on his feet. His style was the opposite to the rapid fire delivery we so often associate with debating. Joseph Faure was often judged best speaker because of his conscientious preparation and his ability to cover in detail his side of the argument. Jonathan Petersen showed style and humour and a particularly earnest delivery combined with a skill in rebuttal, made him a valuable member of the team. The coach was Mr Boyle and he indicated that he was impressed with the attitude and commitment of the team.

A group of Year 9 students met regularly for debating and they were Robert Griffith, Isaac Gamboni Miguel Antonio, Dylan Bentley, Clinton Barton, Evan McKenzie, Jackson Shervey, Adam Rabe and Josiah Bautista.

Boarding School Blue and White Report 2012

Redwood House has gone from strength to strength in 2012. For the first time in many years a full intake of Year 9 students were accepted into the boarding school. This increased numbers from 75 last year to 94 at the highest point in 2012. These new Year 9 students were welcomed into the House and were made to feel at home with the Year 13 'little brother' programme and the guidance and moulding of Mrs Pope. The Year 13 group have been outstanding with the way they have role modelled positive and respectful behaviour. The quality of this group was reflected in the leadership roles assigned to these boys. Aaron Conlon was an outstanding Headboy who has had a positive influence on the entire College. He was assisted by Haize Alatiapi and Iriapa Moeau who were deputy headboys in charge of the sporting and cultural sides of the College respectively. Zayyar Win Thein was head boarder, Zac Ringrose was head of Marist House, Nick Kempster was head of Chanel House, Henry Grey was head of Patrick House and Khienan Morrissey was a pivotal leader in the spiritual life of the College. They were joined in Year 13 by Shawn Potaka, Morgan Preece, Dylan Hayes, Jared Bradley, Taylor McMahon, Campbell Spencer, and Arran Beamsley. Aaron, Haize, Iriapa, Zayyar, Shawn and Taylor, had all had the privilege of living in Redwood House for five years. Members of the 1st XI cricket team were Kheinan and Zac. Boarders who represented the 1st XV were Haize, Dylan, Henry, Sola Toomata, Joel Hintz, Losi Filipo, and Mat McCrae. New Zealand representatives were Losi (Under 16 rugby league), Joel (Under 16 powerlifting title holder), Alex London (Under 15 softball), and Mat MacCrae (Under 17 rugby). The majority of the boys have been involved in a wide variety of sports, from the major sports of rugby, basketball, athletics, cricket, and soccer, through to waka ama, touch rugby, lawn bowls, and ultimate frisbee.

The boarding staff remained reasonably constant from 2011 with Mr Tait, Mr Agnew, Mrs Pope, Mr Shepherd, and Mr Dalton being joined by Mr Lambert. Mr Lambert lives onsite. He is a teacher of physical education at Heretaunga College. This year he married his long time partner, Paula. Mrs Lanigan took over as Matron and has done a terrific job throughout the year calling on her experience as an accident and emergency nurse. Mr Jackson was also new to the staff and is invaluable as night supervisor. Mr Cole continued as a regular visitor on Thursday nights as did Ms Lawrence and Ms Carpenter who helped the boys with extra tuition.

Academic progress was a key goal for the boarding school and the tutoring system established by two day students, Tim Scanlan and Thom Nguyen was well utilised by the boys. This alongside with the academic mentoring by Mr Lambert and Mr Agnew allowed most of the boys to surpass their expectations with NCEA.

The youngest members of Redwood House were regular visitors and added to the family atmosphere of the boarding school. Elijah Agnew turned five and started at Silverstream School and the dynamic duo, George Tait and Kairan Agnew, turned three and now attend Heretaunga Kindergarten. 'Hurricane' Millicent Tait joins in the action with all the boys as she approaches two. We have had another rotation of GAP students with James Lyons and Barry Fitzgerald (both from Ireland), Dino Valente (Scotland) and Dominik Festing (Germany) departing and being replaced by Harry Wylie Carrick and Tom Bradley from England and Henrik Dichmann and Soenke Vesper from Germany.

Refurbishment of Redwood House has continued with the completion of the north end of the upstairs Maher Wing which will be ready to go in 2013. This completes the upgrade of all the dormitory areas. The standard of accommodation is now excellent throughout the House.

Father John has continued to increase student involvement at Sunday Mass which has given the boys a greater level of ownership over their faith. The chapel band has also developed under the guidance of Mr O'Connor with Khienan Morrissey and Matt Bastion on guitar backed up by Christopher Holmes on the piano. 2012 has been an enjoyable and rewarding year. 2013 will bring its own challenges and opportunities as we farewell the Year 13 students and welcome incoming Year 9 young men of Redwood House.

TE REO

The intention this year for the students taking Te Reo Māori was to create a whānau environment where the students worked both individually and collaboratively allowing them to feel supported by both their teacher and peers. Students had the opportunity to explore the language through a variety of ways. The students enjoyed playing games that helped strengthen their Kupu (vocabulary) knowledge as well as learning through art, written and oral practice.

The junior students came into Te Reo Māori with a thirst for knowledge and were able to bond with one another very quickly. The senior students across all three levels worked collaboratively in the same classroom. This enabled them to work as one unit and provided opportunities for those at a higher level help others gaining their first NCEA credits.

A number of students stepped up when opportunities arose. Herewini Ammunson, a year 10 student, deserves special acknowledgement for his kōrero of welcome to our new learning support teacher, Victor Herbert, who was handed over by his peers and students from Hato Paora.

Iriapa Moeau also made a huge contribution as a leader in 2012. Iriapa took the time to interact with the junior Te Reo Māori students and teach them the traditional school haka. Watching the boys perform the haka as a group was inspiring to see! Judging by this year's students, it is safe to say that the mana of Māori culture within the school will remain strong and its identity continue to be acknowledged at Saint Patricks' Silverstream. I look forward to seeing what next year brings...

Steve Jobs - Mr Apple

I think I am a bit of an Apple freak. I do, however, still have a Nokia phone, although not by choice.

So, with no iPhone, but some other Apple stuff, I wanted to know how Steve Jobs ticked. I needed to know how he came up with a product that people want to buy and he still manages to come out with something new by thinking differently to everyone else.

To begin, I decided to read the book Steve Jobs by Walter Isaacson. This quote in the book intrigues me

Walter Isaacson writes in an interview Steve Jobs had in San Francisco:

"The interview touched on many subjects, but Jobs most poignant moments were about growing old and facing the future: Job's states

Your thoughts construct patterns like scaffolding in your mind. You are really etching chemical patterns. In most cases, people get stuck in those patterns, just like grooves in a record, and they never get out of them.....

If you want to live your life in a creative way, as an artist, you have to not look back too much. You have to be willing to take whatever you've done and whoever you were and throw them away..."

The more the outside world tries to reinforce an image of you, the harder it is to continue to be an artist..."

Go beyond the limits of a piece of paper

As part of a Level 3 school project, to represent the creative side of Stream in the Arts', an identity called Creative Stream was born. Jack Close and Roydon Misseldine decided to take a risk and think a little "outside the square". They initially created an image for what is now seen as the Creative Stream identity as seen above. This image then grew to 2m x 2m, using 35 laminated A3 sheets of paper. They recorded the process and mounting of the image as a time lapse and posted it on YouTube. On the wall of what is now called the Creative Stream Gallery the image graces our students as the walk up the Dowling stairwell. This whole process can be viewed on the following link <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wXsa3-z6pal>.

Living your life as creatively as possible / Thinking differently

How do we become creative and live our life in a creative way. Some theorists say to be creative; it requires divergent thinking (generating many unique ideas – making stuff) and then convergent thinking (combining those ideas into the best result – finished ideas). And where does this divergent thinking come from and convergent stuff? Sounds complicated?

In Art+Design we are finding that increasingly the demands placed on students at Junior and Senior level require them to be effective thinkers, those idea innovators and problem solvers. Art and Design is not about being solely technically artistic masters of painting, amazing Photoshop computer manipulators, awesome illustrator vectorists (if there is such a word), however... it does mean, big ideas people, problem solvers, thought provokers, innovators, risk takers... students who can think differently, and as the old saying goes "thinking outside that big creative square!!" Art and Design are becoming increasingly competitive and so is the job market when they leave College. Are they prepared?

Roydon and Jack mounting the laminated A3's.

The identity was also developed into signage and mounted at various points around the College. Roydon and Jack researched materials and spoke with Baseline Printers in Lower Hutt and signage makers, before going to final production stage.

Some profiles on passionate dangerous young students, being creative

Christian Donnelly

Christian's Painting Portfolio in Level 3 focuses on portraiture and the technical approaches of the Renaissance Masters. His passion for Art History prompted him to work with iconic figures, scenes and patterns found in the works of the Mona Lisa, various depictions of the Virgin Mary and the myths and legends explored in the works of Sandro Botticelli. Using the finest brush, acrylic and oil paints, Christian takes a very committed and methodical approach to his practice. Christian is Canadian and will use this to his advantage as he looks to attend Art School in either Canada or New York State.

Ed McElwee

Ed created branding for a clothing brand called Path for his Level 2 Design portfolio.

The identity behind Path is that it is a brand that draws inspiration from today's street and urban culture. The campaign revolves around promoting people to venture beyond their everyday lives and habitat.

Joel Hintz

Joel completed his Level 1 Portfolio looking at the work of the contemporary Maori artist, Shane Cotton. Shane Cotton's work in the late 90's were Paintings that are postcards of significant places. Some described Cotton's work as representative of bookshelf type arrangements, stacking image and text in different shelves. This can be seen also in Joel's work, with the inclusion of place names, text and the NZ landscapes. Joel also uses, as did Shane Cotton, traditional figurative Maori symbols.

Joel has a natural talent. He worked very confidently, making a lot of decisions on his own.

Roydon Misseldine

Roydon has been prolific in his use of online media and design networking to create work in his Level 3 Design year. These sites have allowed him to post and develop logos and brands for various companies around the world. Some sites which he currently has work posted on: YouTube <http://www.youtube.com/user/RoydsFX/videos?view=0>

Roydon completed Level 3 Design in 2012 as a Year 12 student and is looking at continuing on in 2013 to complete his year doing Scholarship Design. Plans for Roydon at this stage are to continue with Design at Tertiary Level.

Tom McGuinness

Email from Tom:

"After College I left Wellington to attend Whanganui School of Design for a 3 year Bachelors. While there I decided to study abroad for a semester in Wisconsin's Stout University, USA. I came back to New Zealand to complete Honours in Graphic Design. After graduating, I worked freelance at an office job back in Wellington to be able head to the States in search of an Internship. I found a great firm in Boston called Soldier Design, <http://soldierdesign.com>. It is a very creative firm where I get to work a lot with snowboards, street wear, print design and branding."

Hohepa Thompson

After College, Hohepa went to Victoria University and completed a 3-year degree in Digital Media. In 2012 he went to Teacher's Training College and we were privileged to have Hohepa on a teaching section for 6 weeks in our Department.

MATHS

The Mathematics department launched a new initiative at Year 9 level in 2012 along with adjustments of the Level One curriculum and the introduction of the new Level Two curriculum. It meant that we had quite a lot to deal with and required a good team ethic. This was evident, with many a maths department discussion on Monday after school debating the way ahead.

Year 9

At Year 9 we looked at gaining better information with all boys registered on E-Asttle. This is a Education Ministry initiative that is used by many school throughout the country. It is on-line testing that can be set at curriculum levels and for various topics such as Measurement or Statistics etc. The program marks the work and then provides a profile of the student against national benchmarks. We tested all of our Year 9 at the start of the year and then at the finish. It was very pleasing to note the boys had all made progress, with the group significantly better against the rest of NZ as compared to the start of the year. Our less able students and our more able students had made the greatest improvements, which was even more satisfying.

The other initiative trialled by only a few classes was the use of group and rotational work. This basically works on the engagement of the students – and moves away from the traditional maths classroom teaching mode. It is quite intensive but the feedback from the boys was almost totally supportive. They loved the change in focus and the chance to talk with the teacher in a small group situation. This approach is a three year project and we will look to continuing it over the next two years.

At Level Two it was a new curriculum with a totally different assessment focus. Old Boys would find it all very strange! In saying that, the intention is obvious – to support creative and intuitive learning, rather than rote learning. I am sure we will appreciate the new approach once we get used to it.

At Level One we made adjustments to the one year old curriculum to suit our Stream boys. At this level we like to involve nearly all of our boys, giving them the chance to explore their strengths in Mathematics. I believe we do that well.

What's new for 2013? You've guessed it – a new curriculum at Level Three! No rest for the good as they say. Sectare Fidem

Overview

This department offers career education and advice to the students. We run the Gateway programme, the Year 12 and 13 Travel and Tourism courses, manage the funding for STAR courses, run within and outside the College, and administer all the courses which teach Core Generic unit standards.

Staffing

Ms Ann Bateman is currently the Head of Department and teaches the Gateway classes as well as Travel and Tourism. She is very ably assisted by Mrs Diane Kurton the Gateway Broker and Careers/ Gateway secretary.

Gateway Programme

This year we successfully placed 33 students in the workplace ranging from building, plumbing and electrical trades, retail, farming, hospitality, engineering, film, sports/ physical training, turf management and auto mechanics. We have continued to receive very positive feedback from employers about our students this year.

While in the workplace the students are signed up with Industry Training Organisations in their field of work and are provided with relevant unit standards. The students also do a First Aid Course, Health and Safety and also a Work Ready Skills Course, as well as having the opportunity to attend STAR courses at Whitireia or Weltec.

We held our end of year Gateway lunch/prizegiving on Tuesday 23 October at the Figtree Café in Upper Hutt which has taken a few of our chef/hospitality students over the years. This was attended by the students, parents, employers and some staff from the school.

This year the top Gateway awards went to Eli Meyrick Year 13 who was placed in retailing and Connor Fraser Year 12 who was placed in plumbing.

Careers

At each year level there are opportunities for students to gain information, education and guidance about their subject and career choice. They are able to make one on one appointments with Ms Bateman the Careers Advisor and Mrs Kurton the Careers Administrator. Lunchtime seminars are offered by a wide range of tertiary providers and industry training organisations as well as the armed forces. These are advertised on the front page of the College website.

Year 13 students are offered a one on one careers interview with a Careers Consultant at the beginning of the year in order to set careers goals. Year 12 students attend the Coca Cola Careers Expo in August where they are able to get information from Tertiary Providers and Industry Training Organisations. Year 11 students complete a job research unit in Religious Education. This year all Year 10 students took part in a visit to Whitireia Polytechnic for a tertiary exploration session this provided an opportunity for them to explore a tertiary environment, gain an understanding of entry requirements, terminology and future study options available.

STAR

This fund (the Secondary Tertiary Alignment Resource) is used to fund courses in the College which provide unit standard qualifications recognised in industry, such as carpentry, hospitality, electronics and travel and tourism. It is also used for students to explore possible courses provided by tertiary providers. This year students gained qualifications from Whitireia Polytechnic, Weltec, Natcoll, Otago University, Red Cross (First Aid), Plunket, and UN Youth National Conference in Wellington.

Student feedback

Y13 Theology – Otago University

“Doing these papers during Y13 at school was the best preparation for University Study”.

Tourism and Travel

This course, offered at Levels 2 and 3, allows the students an opportunity to complete a National Certificate over the two years. The pass rate for these two year groups has been very good at over 90%. 9 students this year have completed the National Certificate in Tourism (Introductory Skills) which required them to complete all the unit standards taught over Years 12 and 13, as well as a requirement of a certain number of numeracy credits at Level 1 and literacy at Level 2.

It has been a positive and eventful year, the sixth of running the Gateway Programme, which has had very successful outcomes for many of the students who took part.

PASIFIKA FAMILY DAY

St Patrick's Pasifika Family Day

Saturday 20 October 2012: The Pasifika Family Day was held on the first Saturday of Term 4. It was well attended and there were games for the littlies and the teens, with a volleyball tournament for the teens representing Samoa, Tokelau, Fiji & Tonga, won by Samoa. Then it was outside for games of touch, this time won by Tonga. Everyone joined in for a shared lunch, followed by a gathering in the Pavillion, where the adults were addressed by Ken Laban. Finally, Solo Toomata gave thanks in Samoan and English, and Ta'i Hewitt (Marcus' dad) closed with a prayer. As an extra, Mr Steel led a team who erected the new tent provided by Parents & Friends. It is expected that the Pasifika Family Day will be an annual event.

The Language of Special Character Staff Retreat - Belonging (Ordinary)

The Tuesday morning Assembly has had many inspiring student speakers. One young man, during Samoan Language week, talked about the language of our various subjects and how we are called to have a deep reverence for and understanding of the many languages that exist at Saint Patrick's College. I felt that our Special Character language also needs to garner that same sense of respect and understanding as we come to terms with what it means to utter those two words 'Sectare Fidem'. I have seen 2012 as an opportunity to explore that in a little more detail.

It was heartening and inspiring to begin our year with 20 staff gathering to take part in a retreat which focussed on one of the core values of Saint Pat's – that of belonging. The talent and commitment, that was so evident, was inspiring.

'My priest bit'

2012 would mark a new direction in the way our liturgical celebrations would be prepared. We were to focus on 'doing things with', rather than 'at' or 'for'. As a person who likes to prepare well ahead of time, this would prove to be somewhat outside of my preferred way of doing things. The way that the boys stepped up, and took responsibility was heartening the has me smiling on more than one occasion, when I was told that I would be doing 'my priest bit'. This showed that this mark of ownership was the only way to move forward. The outcome was superb...and to be honest I felt they connected more with their peers, than I could.

The stuff of life

Throughout the year, it has been a real honour and privilege to be associated with the various events that need to be marked with ritual and understanding. Many Old Boys with their partners wished to have their babies baptised at SPC. It was moving to see them taking up their new found responsibility and to put their new life in the context of becoming a member of God's family.

So too, it was an honour to officiate at various Old Boys who were getting married. This took me to Central Otago on one occasion and then at various venues around the greater Wellington region.

As in life and the joyful occasions, there was also a lot of sadness with the deaths of many loved one throughout the year. Perhaps none more poignant than that of our SPC family member, Zelius Venter. Each death and the way the community responded, made me feel that we understand fully when Saint Paul says, when one of the family is suffering, we are all suffering and when one is successful, we all share in that success. No one had to go it alone!

Sacraments of Initiation

Baptism, Confirmation and Eucharist are the three sacraments which initiate us further into the life of a disciple. We were blessed to have twelve of our young men who celebrated one or more of the sacraments. With the support of their families, friends and College community, they gave witness to what life in Christ can ultimately be about.

Ministry

One particular change that was made this year was to invite all year groups to become involved in the various ministries. Our year nines responded very generously and took their ministry very seriously. I am sure that it is from the example of our seniors and their stepping back to let the new ministers in, that has had a major influence on them.

Retreats

To step back from the very pace of College life is very important and hence our retreat programme gave each year group a chance to do that and reflect on some of the issues that we might not get a chance to do so. Whether it was looking at the deeper meaning of our College motto, making good choices or looking at being courageous, we hope that each person will have taken some valuable lessons from these times.

Doing the little things well

Perhaps it was the brief catch up with some of our College wanting to reflect on life, or the questions in the classroom, or just the giddy around the college, that shaped 2012 the most for me. To see both staff and student taking a bit of time out in the chapel to reflect, pray or just have some quiet time, was very heartening. The Faith Forums, the Tuesday morning Mass, Benediction, the blessing of the Canoe paddles, the O'Shea Shield, Becoming a Streamer, the Young Marist Hero Programme, the tutoring of a 13RST class, the Borders' Masses, Reconciliations, show to me that we are very blessed at Saint Patrick's College.

The Year of Faith

Towards the end of 2012, we, in conjunction with the Catholic communities around the world, embarked upon a special year to reflect more seriously on what our faith really means to us.

I continue to see my role as one (amongst many) who try and make those connections between the Gospel and day to day life – that it does have a deep significance as to who and what we can become as people of faith. It therefore is critical that we ensure that an inspiring message of who Jesus truly is, given to all at SPC.

There certainly is a wide continuum of thought and opinion when it comes to the Special (maybe more correctly, the ordinary) Character and this is refreshing. I believe that our College should always be one where we can really come face to face with our faith and wrestle with it, be comforted and given hope by it and to be satisfied that there are a lot more questions than answers.

It is an honour to work with many who are so deeply committed to this and look forward to doing so in the future.

LEO PASIFIKA

This year has been an exciting year for the Pasifika community here at St Patrick's Silverstream. It started with lots of hopes and dreams in our quest to raise the academic achievements of our students as well as their participation in all aspects of the college life. This resulted in the tremendous and outstanding involvement of parents, family and friends in and out of school forming a support group known as PPSG (Pasifika Parents Support Group).

Student leadership - 2012 has been a very good year for some of our boys in Year 13 with their leadership roles in the school. Saio Salevao, Iriapa Moeau, myself and the boys that did not get allocated a specific role but still got stuck in and helped. Congratulations to these boys for doing all of us proud by leading from the front and for all their services to the school.

Another notable event which took place this year was the Pasifika prizegiving where the PPSG acknowledged the students effort in weekly notes.

Rohan Russo, Connah Pamatatau and Marcus Hewitt are some of the Junior students who excelled in their academic subjects.

We attended the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of Samoa's Independence hosted by Porirua College, it was a long formal affair, we enjoyed the school items and the feast afterwards.

The PPSG continued to support our students but getting involved and organizing events to create a sense of belonging and achievement both in the academic subjects and the sports field.

FATHERS' FRIDAY

Friday 7 December 2012: Every alternate year, fathers of our junior students are invited to share a "school day" with their sons. Always a popular event, this year there were over 130 "fathers" - a father, an uncle, an older brother, a grandfather, or a significant male in their lives. Starting the day with Ranks and a liturgy, and ending with a rousing haka, fathers and sons had a host of exciting activities provided by the Technology, Science, Mathematics, and Religious Studies faculties.

ENGLISH

STAFFING:

2012 saw the departure of two members of the English Department. Rachel Cooper, who had arrived the previous year as HOD Learning Support, left to become an RTLB and to further her studies. Serena Lawrence, who had started with us as a first year teacher in 2009, headed off overseas in order to work and travel. Appointed initially as a teacher of English, Serena soon began to nurture and develop the acting talent we have here. By the end of 2012 she had created a Drama department which was known for its polished and enthusiastic performances. Serena has left a wonderful legacy here at St Pat's and we wish her all the very best.

STUDENT SUCCESSES:

The requirement that all Year 9 and 10 boys present a speech in front of their classmates – a daunting experience for most – was continued this year. Not only does this prepare the boys for a similar task in Year 11 and 12 English but it is, we believe, a valuable life skill. The best performing speakers from each Year 9 and 10 English class then go into the Speech Final, which is held in front of their whole year group. There were nine finalists from Year 9 and they spoke on a wide variety of topics. The top three place getters were:

1st: Jared Priston (The greatest game in the world)

2nd: Moeva Vaeau (Becoming a Streamer)

3rd: Josiah Bautista (What will you be doing in 15 years?)

The other finalists were: Josh Tainui, Andrew Stewart, Jimmy Viki, Michael Allen, Damian Gee and Lince Kelemete. All the speakers are to be commended for their very confident and articulate presentations and we wish them all the best in future speech competitions.

In the Year 10 final there were five speakers: Jeremiah Go, Jonathan Petersen, Max Quinn, Thomas McMahon and Malachai Wylie. Thomas gained first place with his speech on Racism; Malachai came second (Prep) and Jonathan third (Pride). Congratulations to all the finalists.

There have been a number of other note-worthy student successes this year. Sean Stack was the College's recipient of the Katherine Mansfield Birthplace Writing Award. Each secondary school in the greater Wellington area nominates a senior student for this award. The ceremony is held at the Katherine Mansfield Birthplace in Thorndon and this year the awards were presented by well known New Zealand writer Joy Cowley. Sean's winning piece is reproduced elsewhere in this magazine.

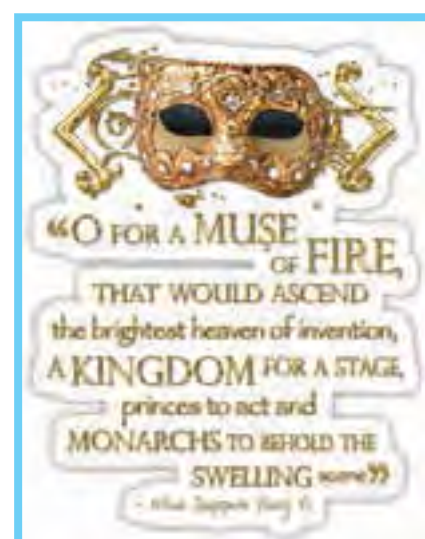

Our top-performing senior English students were formally recognised at the College Prizegiving ceremonies at the end of the year but we wish to acknowledge their success in this publication. Hemi Waitaiki was the top English student in Year 11; Johann Go and Lachlan Watson in Year 12; Thom Nguyen and Andy Hallott in Year 13. Congratulations to these boys.

DRAMA VISITS:

One aspect of the English curriculum which is sometimes overlooked is live theatre performance. We made an effort to address this by providing two opportunities for students to visit the theatre this year. As part of the Wellington Arts Festival in March, we took a large group of boys to the Opera House to watch Shakespeare's Henry V. We followed this up with a visit to Patricia Grace's Tu. Both performances were well-received by the boys and we hope to build on this interest in future years.

Best wishes.

Year 12 Geography fieldtrip to Mt Tongariro and Taupo.

With a relatively small class this year we utilised the services of the school mini-van and a hired people mover! The people mover was all class, until something went wrong...

Our first stop was in Taihape. We wandered around for a bit, grabbed a drink and a snack then continued north through Waiouru, over the Desert Road, through Turangi to our accommodation at the Lake Taupo Christian Camp. The lodges were pretty impressive. We had 2 people to a room and there was a communal living room area with kitchen, TV, couches and tables. The plan for the following day was to attempt the Tongariro Subalpine Crossing so we were ordered into bed early.

The next morning we were up early and got straight into our clothing of polyprops, leggings, jackets etc. The weather was pretty poor, with low cloud and rain so our chances of doing the crossing were slim. However, we left the camp after breakfast heading south for Turangi. This is where 'something' went wrong. Mr Tinney who was driving the people mover noticed the car had lost power and we could all smell a nasty burning smell over the last 10 minutes before Turangi. We stopped in Turangi to investigate. The burning smell lingered so after a few phone calls the local mechanic turned up to check things out. After a thorough check, his question to Mr Tinney was "are you sure you had the foot brake off"? The reply was "I am 99% sure the break was off". All the boys thought this was hysterical and rolled on the ground with laughter. The outcome was that no one knows what the problem was, so we continued towards the base of Mt Tongariro. Unfortunately, the weather got worse so we had to look at alternative options. We drove to the base of Mt Ruapehu and prepared to complete a trek at lower altitude. The rain kept falling but we headed on up the mountain, crossed a few small rivers and ended up just below the snow line. Later that evening, we headed to the Tokaanu hot pools for a soak. Reid found himself at the centre of attention from the local wahine. The next day we drove north to Taupo where the purpose of the day was to collect information on Tourism in Taupo. We went to the Huka Falls Jet where we got a talk from the manager, then to the Taupo Bungy for the same thing. We then had 3 hours in the afternoon to collect data from around Taupo. This was fun as the teachers parked up in a café and left us to 'self manage'.

The next day was our last. We tidied up and even had Josh Robertson-Weepu doing some vacuuming! Our lunch stop was in the most random place – an old rugby ground just south of Sanson. The trip was a great experience and one made better by the relaxed approach from Mr Tait and Mr Tinney.

Year 13 Geography trip to Golden Bay

Mr Tait, Mr Tinney and 20 Year 13 Geographers set off across the Cook Strait with sights set on the distant destination of Pohara, Golden Bay. We arrived in Picton, picked up our rental vans and tracked west towards Nelson. After a short stop in Nelson, we were once again on the road heading west for the windy beast that is the Takaka Hill. After finally making it over the hill, we were rewarded with awesome views across Golden Bay out towards the Farewell Spit. Upon arrival at the Pohara Camp ground, we set up our cabins, and then hit the beach for touch rugby and a swim.

The next day was dampened by the steady rain falling, but did not deter us from walking to the mouth of the Takaka River, followed by a trip to the well known Waikoropupu Springs. The rain didn't ease up so we headed back to camp mid afternoon and spent the rest of the day playing cards and watching TV. Day three dawned with the sun shining, so we had breakfast, collected our river study equipment then headed South-West into the hills to find the Cobb Reservoir. The lookout over the reservoir was amazing. After sketching the valley at the lookout point we slowly made our way down the Takaka River, stopping at various points to do our river studies. We arrived back at camp late in the afternoon, had some down time then headed over the road to our dinner spot – the Penguin Café.

Day four. We headed back over the Takaka Hill to the southern entrance to the Abel Tasman National Park (ATNP), a place called Marahau. We spent some time there collected information on the impact that tourists are having on the area. We then walked into the ATNP for a few hours to a remote beach where we had lunch and a swim. We passed several groups of people along the track which surprised most of us considering it was late in March and after the supposedly busy period.

Day 5. An early start, back in the vans and headed for Picton. Everyone was really tired so we slept for a lot of the journey. We had a few brief stops then arrived in Picton around lunchtime. We boarded the ferry around 1pm then relaxed all the way back playing cards, sleeping and wandering around the ship. We had jam packed a lot of things into the five days, but overall the trip was really enjoyable with most of us having never been into Golden Bay. Lastly, a big thank you to Mr Tait and Mr Tinney, who were relaxed and fun to have as teachers on the trip.

SOCIAL STUDIES

All Year 9 Social Studies classes participated in a one day fieldtrip to Zealandia and the Otari-Wilton wildlife reserve to learn more about New Zealand flora and fauna and how we can act more sustainably in our everyday lives.

For the first time at Silverstream, the Year 10 programme was split into 3 subject areas of; Geography, History and Social Studies. This was done to give the Year 10 students some idea of what these subjects are about at Level 1. Mr Tait was in charge of Geography, Mr Columbus in charge of History and Mr Hewson in charge of Social Studies. Late in Term 4 all students went on a fieldtrip to the Miramar Peninsula which began at the Wahine Memorial near Breaker Bay. We walked the Eastern Walkway and stopped to learn about Gallipoli at the Ataturk memorial. During the walk we stopped at various points to learn about the impact early Earthquakes had on the land around the Miramar Peninsula. The walk ended in Seatoun where we were picked up by bus and taken to Scorching Bay for lunch, a swim and a game of beach cricket.

Mix Festival Makes its Mark

Thursday 27 September 2012: Tape graffiti? Old-style games? Learning rap? Green screen technology? Making videos? These and many more activities were on offer to students at the very first Mix Festival. At the end of the day, students came together in the auditorium for a concert presented by Stream's talented musicians. A big thank you to all the activity leaders including the team from NatColl Design School.

LIBRARY

Reading is knowledge and knowledge is power.

I arrived at St Patrick's College, Silverstream mid-2012, as the new librarian. This posed many challenges and opportunities for me. Daunting at first, I was soon busy helping the students with their research, reading and academic needs.

Going in with full steam, I changed the library layout, with the aim of making it more visually accessible for teachers and students alike. This was welcomed by the students who felt it was much more accommodating for their reading and learning needs, as well as for positive social interaction.

My goals for next year include improving research knowledge among students and staff with the help of Johann Go, Year 13 Leaders, and the academic tutoring programme, which is scheduled to run after school every day of the week. Also, it is my wish to facilitate wider reading habits by introducing literature which appeals more to the interests of our students.

To improve the positive social interaction in the library, we are also in the process of starting a chess club and various other games to assist in learning and reading skills.

I was fortunate enough to be able to remove all literature not read within the last 8-10 years, so as to promote more up to date resources in our library. We donated these books to a school in Tonga (St Andrews High School) whose school was damaged by Cyclone Renee. They were most grateful and humbled by our donation which was hugely beneficial in adding to their library.

I would also like to acknowledge the work of my predecessor, Mrs Deborah Murrell whose prior work in the library allowed me to achieve a smoother transition.

A great thanks to students Liam White and William Szabo, both of whom gave up a significant amount of their time to assist me with the workings of the library database.

And a sincere thank you to all staff and teachers who have supported me through my journey. Also, a special thanks to the students who welcomed me into their library with open arms.

I am excited about 2013, the new challenges and opportunities it will bring. In my time here I would like to make a difference, by making the library a fully functional research facility for all students and staff.

Hamlet

"O horrible! O horrible, most horrible!" A father, a king, lies dead. Good God! My entire being is consumed with the thought of revenge, the very idea that my own uncle could commit such a dastardly deed - and even unto his own brother - is abhorrent to me. "O vengeance!" What's more, I cannot even confide my troubles in anyone. For to do so, to tell of my knowledge would be to lose the element of surprise, to mock the serpent and then turn my back; and to ultimately spell my own end. No, I must continue to internalise this moral struggle, whilst maintaining courtesy towards the very man whom I wish to drive my knife into - even as I plot the circumstances of his demise.

And what, too, of my mother? Her treachery approaches that of her new husband! A marriage in such haste - not two months after my father's death - speaks of a dastardly plot, a "rank offense which stinks to high heaven!" The intensity of the loathing in my veins is matched only by my desire for revenge upon the orchestrator of my father's demise.

But "O, what a rogue and peasant slave am I!" For I know in my heart that even given the opportunity, stumbling upon Claudius' sleeping body, I could not do unto him as he did to my father, for I am a "coward." I stand now, berating myself for procrastinating, and yet I only write to stall more time! My guts are naught but "slaves offal" and "pigeon liver." Even if I were to muster the intestinal fortitude to do the deed, I would not dare trust myself to govern.

For how could a man such as I bring justice and solidarity to a great nation like Denmark, when I squirm and avoid the issue of revenge like a schoolboy does, study? This man murdered my father and my king as he slept, allowing him no chance to repent his sins, no chance to defend himself! And yet I still shy from what I am commanded to do, not only by my morals, but also directly by the man whom I wish to avenge. Am I "a coward?" My conscience "plucks my beard, and blows it in my face," yet I cannot retaliate, for I have wrought my own humiliation. Every move Claudius makes as king his very being, even, mocks my very existence, my morality, my beliefs in ultimate justice. When he places his lips upon my mother's cheek, when he dines as the head of the table, when he retires to his kingly quarters; his very presence drives me to the verge of madness! O, that "bloody bawdy villain!" Remorseless, treacherous, lecherous, kindless villain!"

And so, I have one more move left to play - the play - to indulge my cowardice, and finally prove to myself beyond all doubt Claudius' guilt. From then on, I fear, I will have no more opportunity for procrastination. Once Claudius sees this band of players re-enact my father's murder in perfect detail; (if, indeed, my father's ghost is to be trusted) his reaction will prove to me his guilt. Alas, it will also alert him to my knowledge of his vile, foul, covetous deed. "The play's the thing wherein I'll catch the conscience of the king."

I fear though, that his conscience - if indeed he has one - once pricked, may bring about panic, endangering my safety, and affording him reason to do unto me as he did unto my father. From now on, I must guard my back always, and act swiftly and decisively on any opportunity to bring justice to Claudius.

The gods have given me the upper hand! They have awarded to me a loyal friend in whom I can place my trust. Claudius' spies know not of my plans, and soon, he shall pay the price for his deeds.

MUSIC

"It is our job, as parents, educators, and friends, to see that our young people have the opportunity to attain the thorough education that will prepare them for the future. Much of that education takes place in the classroom. We must encourage our youngsters in such pursuits as music education. In addition to learning the valuable lesson that it takes hard work to achieve success, no matter what the arena, music education can provide students with a strong sense of determination, improved communication skills, and a host of other qualities essential for successful living."

- Edward H. Rensi –

The greatest difference experienced in the Music Department compared with previous years has been the decline in brass and woodwind instrumentalists. Camiel Van Schoonhoven was the only trumpet player left in the itinerant programme. The jazz band changed from a jazz orchestra configuration to that of a jazz combo.

Camiel and Andy Chang (flute), while being regular members of the College Jazz Band, were also members of the Wellington Youth Sinfonietta. Along with Aleksa Vujicic, they have contributed to the music life of the College during mass, liturgies and public engagements.

The jazz band performed in a showcase at St. Brendan's Primary School as an exhibition of 'next steps' for their intermediate students. Camiel, Aleksa and Thomas Yeats performed to a community group in Stokes Valley in an on-going initiative to expand solo and group performance experience in NCEA courses.

We have had seven bands enter in the Rock Quest Competition. There was no production of SiSoMo this year. In spite of this, Music students sought out opportunities to find gigs privately and have them videoed and used as evidence towards their achievement standards.

This is the last year we offer free tuition in violin to all students taking this option under the itinerant scheme. It was initially offered this way to get students to "give it a go" as not many were drawn to the instrument as they were to the more popular instruments like guitar and drums.. I will now only consider offering free tuition for violin for six months if there is a commitment to continue as a paying student for 18 months thereafter. I need to add that there is a significant benefit to all students when learning a musical instrument regardless of career choices.

There is a huge interest among Music students in technology to develop their ideas in musical composition. The diversity in genre in compositional work is encouraging and exciting. It ranges from classically styled to contemporary pop and progressive jazz. Students use traditional scripting methods (pencil and paper) to highly sophisticated software like Sibelius, GarageBand and Logic to notate and create realistic audio demos of their projects.

Students deserve the well wishes of all as they become more and more involved in a subject like Music which demands an endless pursuit of perfection while the process is fraught with a mixture of frustration, fun and fulfillment.

FOOD & NUTRITION

Overview 2012

Once again this year has been a busy and productive year in the Food and Nutrition room with over 200 students moving in and out of the room on a weekly basis, many with different food experiences. It takes a huge amount of management and staffing resources to make each students experience a positive one. Mrs Frances Pepper left us at the end of Term 2 and Mrs Marjory Brown joined the staff at the start of Term 3.

Mrs Pepper writes

Thank you for the memories. After five years at St Pat's there are many enduring memories that I will take away with me.

When I first arrived I was immediately impressed by the school façade and the sense of history and then of course there were the grounds and the stunning vista to the hills.

Ms Duffy and Ms Carpenter guided me through the mysteries of the Learning Support Department and I loved working as a teacher aide.

During this time I also experienced my first traditional – amazing, exciting and then there were the spine chilling hakas.

Astonishingly there was a move back to teaching and under the guidance and support from Mrs Potts I was back with the Year 9 and the Year 10 Food and Nutrition. Cooking with the boys – what fun! I thoroughly enjoyed it.

I leave with wonderful memories and for that I thank you all and wish the students, staff and school community all the best for the future.

from Mrs Pepper with whom I had worked at Sacred Heart in Lower Hutt. My background is in teaching Textiles and Design, but I have always enjoyed the classes of Food and Nutrition.

The special character of St Pats has been a highlight of my time here. I have enjoyed the Masses taken by Father John and the formal occasions of Prize giving when I see the rewards of the hard work the boys have done throughout the year. In the Food and Nutrition Department Mrs Potts welcomes both staff and students into a warm and vibrant environment.

Year 9 FAN

Food and Nutrition is part of the Physical Education and Health Curriculum and all boys at Year 9 have the opportunity to learn about the importance of healthy eating. During each of the two terms, each class learnt some basic nutrition skills and have prepared and eaten simple dishes that will give them confidence in the essential life skill

Mrs Brown writes

I was delighted to have the opportunity to work with Mrs Potts at St Pats having heard so much about this special school. You might ask who had I been talking to? Good press had come from my husband who is an Old Boy of the school and was here in the 1970s and also of preparing food for themselves, friends and family. We hope they have enjoyed their time while gaining some understanding of the responsibility we all have for making good food choices.

Year 10 FAN

Year 10 two classes of 20 plus students have each had two terms of classes, 3 times a week. Each week students have prepared simple, tasty and nutritious food which they could cook at home for the family. The emphasis has been on both the nutritional makeup of the meals, along with the importance of presentation. While the students have still worked together in pairs or groups at times, there was much more individual work which gave the opportunity for creativity and flair. Students have completed the HETTANZ Certificate in Food and Nutrition which gives them a chance to work with the marking scale they will meet with NCEA at Year 11. The topics covered were Sports Nutrition, Media Messages and Cooking with Limited Resources.

Year 11 FAN

This class enjoyed a range of experiences this year, with many Excellences being achieved with some fantastic work by a variety of students. Most of the class are staying for Level 2 next year and the class will be able to build on the knowledge that they have gained this year for even better results next year.

Year 12 FAN

Food insecurity or 'hidden hunger' is a big issue in New Zealand requiring attention and social action, something St. Patrick's College Silverstream has identified. This was one of the standards that the Level 2 Food and Nutrition class investigated this year. Results of the 2002, Ministry of Health National Nutrition Survey found that between 20-22% of New Zealanders experienced food insecurity with higher rates in Pacific and Maori people.

Year 13 Food and Nutrition

Summing up Year 13 Food and Nutrition we can all say that this subject was an enjoyable yet academic year as the senior students worked towards completing their five years in Food and Nutrition for 2012.

Our year started off with our class being accepted into the Young Enterprise Foundation Scheme which is operated by The Lion Foundation. The next step of this three term assessment was to split into two businesses one named Enhanced and the other Epiphinot where we were all allocated our certain roles within the company this included; CEO/Communications Manager/Financial Manager/Advertising and Marketing Managers and Production Managers. Now as two fully functioning companies we decided what was expected of us throughout the year and what we need/want to achieve for this year. As both businesses progressed throughout the weeks in both their practical and academic studies for this assessment, both came to conclusion of what products they were going to sell for Martin Bosley and the target market they were looking for. With Enhanced creating a Feijoa Syrup and an Orange & Ginger Sauce and Epiphinot creating an Orange & Carmel and a Coffee Carmel Sauce, both businesses had very good concepts on how they want their year to run and what Martin Bosley expected of them. We visited the Wellington Food Show at Westpac Stadium where we reviewed different businesses ways of Sales and Marketing and Packaging ideas to assist us with our own business.

As both businesses have had great help from our teachers Mrs Potts/ Mrs Brown and Mrs Pepper it was now coming close to the crucial part of this program. We had the products prepared, sampled and packaged and we had gathered all the Nutritional Information on this product as well as the HACCAP Plan/Food Chemistry/ Health & Safety Regulations and the Concepts and Briefs planned by both companies. Now what was needed of us was to sell these products at both the Wellington City Market, located near Te Papa and North City Plaza in Porirua. Both groups did tremendous jobs on selling and advertising their products with Enhanced having a more successful sales rate in Wellington and Epiphinot selling more of their products in Porirua. In order to complete this massive assessment both businesses needed to finish their Visual Diaries on the year that was and complete the business side of this project. We were then paid for the sales both company's made during the different markets we operated.

Our next and final step was to complete Standard 90676 Describe Technologists Responsibilities to a Wider Community. This involved the ethical and moral understanding of a technologist and the laws and regulations they must abide by; we had two technologists who we researched and did a case study on and we had the most enjoyable opportunity of meeting them during our classes. Patrick Herd an Electrician from Victoria University and Areti Kasoulides-Paulson an Engineer from Aurecon. This gave our class the extra credits we may need and also adds on to the assessment of creating products as a technologist for Martin Bosley. As our year at St Pats finally draws to a close we can say that this year was a productive and beneficial year. We learned about the Hospitality and Economic Industries. Our five years in Food and Nutrition have taught us the main principals, ideas and concepts which we can continue to carry through life. From all the 13FAN Boys we just want to thank Mrs Potts for her dedication, hard work and effort over the five years at Stream. We cannot thank her enough. To Mrs Pepper and Mrs Brown for their excellent input they gave us at times when we needed it. Also for the work they do with the other classes. Mrs Duffy for her advice and knowledge which she passed on to both businesses which was very beneficial. To Mrs Smith for her behind the scenes work with keeping the class and the pantry transitioning smoothly.

RELIGIOUS STUDIES

The Department started off the year with one new member, Mr Peter Woods. He settled in easily, soon finding the need for gumboots as he faithfully strode out, whatever the weather, to coach his rugby team on Tuesday afternoons. Mr Woods is also involved with golf so his extra-curricular activities do take up a considerable amount of his time. Students have warmed to his kindness and interest in their welfare and his vast biblical and theological knowledge.

As is usual in this Department, our boys are encouraged to see the study of the Faith as just one aspect of the life of a Christian. Service and concern for others, especially the less well-off in society, is also inherent in what it means to truly be a disciple of Jesus. As well, a public expression of their faith and commitment means attendance at Mass, Benediction and the various liturgies which are conducted to celebrate or commemorate the on-going cycle of the Church's year. We have been fortunate in having our Chaplain, Fr John Greally, who has been a stalwart of the Special Character dimension of our College and someone whom the boys trust and respect. His presence in the classroom is always welcome with many of the boys commenting on his superb teaching skills. As well, he has been the instigator and facilitator of all the Year Level Retreats this year, apart from the one delivered to Yr 12, which again came from Choicez Media based in Australia.

As is usual in the Department, the Senior students have worked at the three levels of NCEA, many determined, studying very hard to achieve Merit and Excellence grades with a very pleasing success rate. Religious Studies is now a stand-alone subject for University Entrance and students have realised that it opens up pathways to many exciting further study opportunities. For those students willing and able to study Theology through Otago University, long, late hours, both at school and at home, have paid off with yet another year of high grades attained. Congratulations to this year's students: Andrew Hallot, Thom Nguyen, Sean Stack and Patrick Murrow who now have 18 credits towards their university qualification.

In the Junior school, the teachers have endeavoured to provide a stimulating programme which attempts to teach the basics of our Catholic faith and draw them closer to a fuller knowledge and love of Jesus. In this way, our Marist values make a good fit, so that what is learned in the classroom can be lived out in a Marist way.

Many visitors come and go to the Religious Studies Department, all welcome, bringing the Good News in a more practical, everyday package. One of these visitors was Fr Bernie Georges who spoke to the boys on Choices. He discussed the consequences of decisions they make impacting on the rest of their lives.

Another very popular visitor is always Senior Constable Kerry Fenton. He has visited all classes again this year as part of our endeavour to produce responsible citizens who understand the caution required around drinking and driving and drug use. A highlight of the session is always the chance for students to don specially manufactured goggles which mimic various stages of intoxication. Laughter erupts as students stumble around the room, unable to perform even the simplest of tasks. Although this is certainly a lot of fun to see, it also serves as a very practical lesson in responsible social drinking.

As part of the Ethics topic studied at Year 13, Rachel's Vineyard came to discuss and demonstrate issues around the beginning of life. Boys were amazed to see and to hold a tiny plastic foetus, complete in every way. They were surprised to discover that, with current legislation, a life such as this is regularly being aborted. After this, many were finding it hard to reconcile their previously held beliefs about just when life begins.

The Department is always keen to encourage the sharing of resources and personnel across the school. The Year 12 boys were able to listen to Mr George Lake, from the Languages Department, who spoke interestingly about customs and practices around Death and Dying in the Maori Tradition. This gave them a good background for their class work. It also served to further their understanding and appreciation of the whole dying process and the importance and significance of the Tangihanga to those left grieving for their loved ones.

The young men of our College are certainly keen to grapple with issues of Social Justice. This is discussed within the various topics taught throughout the year levels. This year, Year 12 students contacted Caritas. They then conducted on-line discussions with various personnel who could better acquaint them with the problems on a global scale and assist them in considering what the best solutions might be. As a result, the boys applied this knowledge to their in-depth study of Haiti, post earthquake. From this they have acquired an understanding of the dire situation of the Haitian people. It has also made them aware of the comparative comfort in which they live and are being educated.

The Junior students have also followed this theme with their study of Refugees. They learned that Jesus himself was a refugee in Egypt. They considered the plight of Mary and Joseph at this time, widening their scope to take in all the refugee situations in the world today. From this it is hoped that they will begin to realise we are responsible for the welfare of all the citizens of our planet, regardless of creed, colour or ethnicity.

Further related to this theme of love and compassion, the Compassionate Marists formed this year. Made up of caring, social justice-minded young men from all year levels, they regularly visit the elderly at the Home of Compassion in the lunch break, talking, assisting with writing letters, wheeling them out into the sunshine or just being a gentle presence for them. The boys have commented that they gain far more than they can ever give.

The boys at Year 12 have also benefited from the programme facilitated by Plunket. This provides skills in the care and education of pre-schoolers. It includes thinking about the child's general health, nutrition, exercise and education so that s/he is given the best possible start in life. Many of the boys were unsure about the programme at the start but were soon engaged, finding out things about pre-schoolers they had never before considered. As many will be fathers themselves, sometimes less than ten years out of college, it is to be hoped that these new found skills will be put to good use in bringing up the next generation.

The Year 11 boys have begun considering their future vocation. In the Careers module they attempt to identify the type of person they feel they are, along with their particular strengths and weaknesses. Once they are comfortable with whomsoever they think they are, they can consider suitable occupations and discover the requirements needed to achieve this. By focusing on what is required at this stage in their lives, it is hoped that the boys will have enough time to pursue and achieve them satisfactorily. It is the wise man who finds a job he really likes for then he will never really work a day in his life!

Mention must also be made of the numbers of young men who call in to see me each day, happy to help wherever the need arises. Sometimes it is to organise Benediction, set up the Chapel for a liturgy, choose hymns or write prayers, console someone who is sad or confused, tidy the books, clean the desks, sometimes to ask questions about their work or even just to chat and share their news. They are always such a pleasure to see.

Another use for the Religious Studies Department has also been discovered. It has become a haven for boys who arrive early on cold mornings. They can study, play cards, listen to music, talk and practise the piano. Likewise at Breaks One and Two, they pile in, taking advantage of the heating in the winter terms and the sunny situation in the summer months. It is good to see them gathered together in the Marist way, interacting with each in the spirit of Christian love and acceptance. Hearing the music of familiar hymns echoing around the upstairs corridor of Dowling certainly announces faith is alive and well in our College community. The Department is fortunate in having such collegial and hardworking staff who genuinely care for the young men in our College. We thank God for the goodness and love He shows to us all.

ST VINCENT de PAUL

The Young Vinnie's group within our school have had a very successful year. At the moment we have about twenty members on our books, but not all our members are actively engaged for various reasons. It is our aim in 2013 to encourage more members from within the junior school to our organisation. Young Vinnies is the youth branch of St. Vincent De Paul society.

We are an organisation that reaches out and provides whatever help to whoever is in need. We fund raise through Junior socials, collect cans of food twice a year, visit the elderly and infirm. As our symbol shows, we are the hands of Christ in action. "A small act of kindness to just one person is better than none".- Mother Theresa.

The Young Vinnies group here at Silverstream this year have done just that! We have reached out to help many families less fortunate than us in our communities and around the pacific. As a group we started a can drive to raise cans. Our members designed posters, each morning we placed the House bins in the front of ranks. Encouraged by the words of Mr Tully the numbers grew. Collectively we raised over 3000 cans. These went to support the work of the Upper Hutt Food Bank and Upper Hutt SVDP, that was a great social effort.

After the seniors left for exams, our Juniors did their bit for the end of year Christmas can drive. They collected over a thousand cans along with other goodies and presents for those in need of a Christmas lift. Our Junior boarders after school, went house to house, visiting supermarkets etc collecting cans, they filled the school trailer – it was a wonderful gesture.

Along with collecting the cans, three of our students, each week went to "Connections" a local church on Wednesdays to help pack the cans up in boxes with fruit and vegetables. Then helped with the distribution to the elderly, and needy in our community. It was important to see where the cans went after collection.

Students from Mrs. Potts Home Economics class took some of the collected tins, packing them into an A4 cardboard box. They wrote up simple individual recipes with instructions on how to cook and prepare the donated veggies and bread/ pasta etc. with the contents of the tins. In all about 30 boxes were prepared and the boys had the opportunity to see how well they were received. It is hoped we can do this exercise again in 2013. Students in groups of about three or four went each week to visit the "Home of Compassion" which is the old age home adjacent to the school. Students went on Wednesday and Fridays after school to visit the residents. We know that the residents looked forward to the visits as well as beginning to learn each others names. What a wonderful gift of sharing their time!

When winter hit this year, we collected warm clothes and blankets for the many still in need living in Christchurch. Four bins were collected for distribution, a good effort! Opticians and eye specialists from around New Zealand and Australia made a special appeal for sunglasses and reading glasses as they were going to do free missionary work in the Islands. Sadly we did not collect as many glasses as we had hoped. We also donated money to the Westpac Helicopter Trust to compliment money raised by the whole College in the Memory of Zelius Venter, a promising student from our school who was killed this year in a riding accident.

The Young Vinnies Mass was held at Bishop Viard College this year. A number of our students attended in formal uniform, what made this even more special was the awarding of the Young Vinnies Badges after being blessed by the presiding Priest. After the mass a lovely finger meal with tea was provided, This was a chance for the boys to chat to the girls from the other schools. In 2013, some time in August, St. Patrick's College Silverstream will be hosting the mass and we reckon it is going to be the best mass yet! A very special thanks to Kheinan Morrissey who was our Chairman for 2012 and who did a lot of work behind the scenes to make our conference the success it is. Let us also not forget the wonderful work done by Anne De Sousa who travels around to all the conferences and supports us in all our work. A big thanks also to Mr Hallot, our teacher in charge who has gently lead by example. Lastly congratulations to Ollie McClure who has been voted as Chairman for 2013. May be also be an inspiration to our whole group

“Memories are made of this”

At the start of every week I cast my eyes over to my calendar and see what is coming up. Sometimes it is something exciting, sometimes I wish the week was over before it has even begun. Sometimes a specific date jumps out at me, and I eagerly anticipate the upcoming events. However, sometimes the date stands out for a different reason. A reason that feels like the whole world is crashing down around me. A reason that makes me want to curl up and cry. The most recent of these dates? October 14. The anniversary of my mother's death.

It was a night like any other. Dad had just bought a new cellphone and my nine year old self was testing out the fascinating camera feature. I distinctively remember taking the first photo of my mum on the phone. It was of her closing the curtains in the living room. Little did I know that would also be the last photo I would ever take of her. Little did I know that the closing of the curtains would be the closing of my mother's life.

I often hear sirens racing past my house in the dead of the night. Police, ambulance, fire, they all scream past in a messy blur. I had never given much thought to them. Until October 14. That night, the sirens were outside my house. That night, the emergency sirens weren't the only things racing. As I awoke with a start, my heart began beating a mile a minute. Why were the sirens so loud? Why were they at my house? October 14 was the night that changed my life as I knew it. It was the end of my mother's journey.

It's strange, waking up to find your whole family standing around in their dressing gowns and slippers, staring at you with sorrow deep in their eyes. It wasn't Christmas and it certainly wasn't my birthday. My innocent nine year old brain could not possibly comprehend what could cause such a large gathering so early on a Saturday morning. After all, October 14 was just a normal day. My head spun. The news was broken. Shock took over my body and paralysed me. In my parents' bed lay my mother's corpse.

For the next few days, I was in a state of confusion. Every morning I would wake up and expect Mum to be there, greeting me good morning and making me breakfast. Helping me to get ready and hugging me tight. Instead various family members would come and visit, putting their arms around my shoulders, comforting and consoling me and saying “everything will be alright”. How? As far as I knew, the most important person in my life had just disappeared and was never coming back. Nothing would ever be the same again. Nothing could make my life return to normal. All I wanted was to be in my mother's arms.

Eight years on, I still never forget that night. Dad has a new phone now, and the curtains have been changed, but the scene remains vivid in my mind. Mum is still my greatest source of inspiration, and whenever I feel upset or stressed, I think of the battle she fought. Regardless of her illness she still cared for me and never complained. She always had a smile on her dial and a spring in her step. She was my mum, and nothing can take that away from me. She was my mum, and her spirit lives on in my heart. Even though she is not physically present, I will always have my mother's love. So the next time I see October 14 on the calendar, there will be tears. But there will also be smiles as I remember the good times, the memories I will treasure forever.

STREAM GETS DOWN AT THE "BRING IT ON" HIP HOP COMPETITION

Saturday 8 September 2012: Band of Brothers, Stream's Hip-Hop Team, "got down" at the Wellington Region "Bring It On" Hip-Hop competition held at Te Rauparaha Arena in Porirua (NZ) finishing in third place, narrowly missing out on first. At assembly the following Tuesday, the team came together again to "strut their stuff" in front of their fellow students. Unfortunately, the school stage was much smaller than the one they had practised and competed on - in this video it looks crowded and there are a number of back-flips missing from their competition performance. But it still looks awesome! Watch their school performance on YouTube at <http://youtu.be/LLMvKoyjpY>

ST PAT'S IDOL ROCKS THE STAGE

Wednesday 2 May 2012: St Pat's Idol rocked the auditorium today showcasing many talented Streamers. Held over lunchtime in front of 400 of their fellow students, performers ranged from hip-hop to gospel, from dance to barbershop. Organiser, teacher Rachel Cooper, invited local international singer/songwriter Anita Prime to judge the competition with Anita's company Vocal Expressions www.vocalexpressions.co.nz providing singing tuition for the winners. Anita also took to the stage, "wowing" the audience with two numbers including "La la la". First equal: Sione Uvea (Hip Hop dance) and Top Boyz vocal (Chris Alosio, Ezra Fa'alogo, Tyson Toelau, Lester Maulolo, Vern Sosefo)

Highly Commended: Jordan Tonise (Vocal) and Trio vocal (Josh Blaikie, Jordan Tonise, Saio Salevao)

Other performers were: Arnel Evangelista (Vocal); Tapiwa Mutingwende, Leslie Bowman, Jermaine Rogers (Hip hop); and Leslie Bowman (tap).

Prizes were sponsored by Mr & Mrs Cooper: $400 worth of singing lessons/dance lessons to both winners and $400 worth of singing lessons to Jordan Tonise for best individual vocal. All other contestants were given two free singing lessons by Anita Prime.

TECHNOLOGY

It has been a productive year in the Technology department with many changes. We have a new Head of Department Belinda Curran and a new technology teacher Paul Wilson. Patrick Hallot has shifted roles to take charge of Design and Visual Communications and Level 3 Carpentry. Frank Burke our technician has continued to play an essential role in the department keeping all our tools and machines in tip-top condition, as well as assisting the boys with the benefit of his many years of practical experience.

The junior Hard Materials Technology projects have been a great success, with 'whale-tail' wine-bottle holders, CO2 dragsters and wooden toys being made at Year 9, and wooden stools and nesting boxes for Zealandia in Year 10. The Zealandia project saw the boys getting involved to solve a tricky problem faced by Zealandia – how to provide nesting sites for native Kakariki birds that these fussy green parrots will accept, and so help boost their breeding numbers. The boys will be donating their nesting boxes to Zealandia at the end of the term, and we look forward to seeing which ones the birds like the best! At NCEA Level 1 and 2 the boys have completed unit standards which form part of the Level 1 and 2 National Certificates in Carpentry. At Level 1 the boys learnt the safe use of hand tools and portable power tools to make a dining-tray, a wheel barrow and a cape-cod chair. A total of 14 boys successfully completed all the unit standards required to gain their Level 1 National Certificate in Carpentry – a huge achievement! At Level 2 the boys used hand tools, portable power tools and fixed machinery to make an oilstone box, a stepladder and a sawhorse, with almost all the boys gaining the 5 compulsory unit standards for Level 2, and 4 successfully passing their Level 2 National Certificate – another very significant achievement for a single year's work.

We are lucky to be one of the few schools able to deliver Level 3 BCITO Unit Standards. While the course is mostly theory we do have an element of practical work to complement the theory, with the boys making a tool-box and a cape-cod chair. A number of these boys are considering moving into a building career.

The Level 1 Metal Work (Tools-4-Work) class used lathes, mills, drills and the welding gear to make a toolbox, clamps and a wind-vane to a very high standard. We are very pleased with the high quality of the work all the boys have produced this year, and they take away a valuable set of skills and knowledge that will put them in an excellent position for next year.

We are looking forward to an even more successful 2013 and wish all the boys the very best for their endeavours.

Paul Wilson
Technology Teacher

Design & Visual Communications

2012 was a great year for the Design & Visual Communications Department. It was the last year of the old Achievement Standards Graphics in Year 13. From now on we are Design & Visual Communications, previously known as Graphics and before that Technical Drawing, like all living things it has evolved. Today the focus is on freehand sketching, rendering, instrumental drawing and reflecting on the design era, designers of today and yesterday. The use of Photoshop, ArchiCAD, Sketch-up and Desktop Pro are integral to our design work.

In July we had a wonderful evening where the boys displayed their best work and invited parents to drop in and view their displays. Many boys have put in extra hours after school and in some cases during the holidays with me. The results speak volumes, smaller classes and one-on-one guidance has produced very few Achieved results, no Not Achieved with plenty of Merits and Excellences. Well done to our boys. Most are returning to do the next level and I am delighted to guide them through again.

POWHIRI FOR VICTOR HERBERT - NEW HEAD OF LEARNING SUPPORT

Wednesday 7 November 2012: At today's powhiri, Hato Paora College(Fielding) handed over one of their taonga as their current Deputy Principal, Victor Herbert, was welcomed onto the staff of St Patrick's College Silverstream as the new Head of Learning Support. Of Ngati Porou descent, Victor has been Deputy Principal at Hato Paora from 2007, having worked there for 11 years as Head of Physical Education. Victor and his supporters from Hato Paora were welcomed into the school chapel with a haka led by Year 10 student Herewini Ammunson and Year 11 student Regan Eketone. During the hongi the accompanying Hato Paora Year 13 students honoured Victor with their school haka. Victor returns to Hato Paora until the end of the year and joins Stream fully from the start of 2013.

OLD BOY PROFILE

Arthur Richardson – Silverstream's first day pupil – born 23 November 1917

Arthur Richardson was a first-day pupil, and one of the very few Day Boys, when St Patrick's College Silverstream opened in 1931. He remembers the first Ranks in the Quad taken by Father Dowling SM, the founding Rector. It was a fine sunny morning and Fr Dowling spoke to the boys about the new College and his hopes for the future. He talked of nurturing leaders of men, loyal to King and Country and Church. After speaking he gave the boys a half-day holiday. In those days the boys played tennis and golf, but the playing fields were being planned out especially for rugby. Arthur recalls that Father Dowling was a man of great presence and when he spoke people listened – he had great mana. Another member of the staff was Father Kennedy, who was a highly respected teacher.

The Cadet Army Corps, which lasted to the 1960s, soon became a prominent feature of the College life with the annual barracks week. Officers from the army camp at Trentham were sent to the College to help with drill and shooting and infantry tactics.

After he left College, Arthur worked for D Scott Hardware & Timber Merchants, located near the Ambulance station in Cable Street, Wellington. He delivered hardware goods by bicycle around the locality, often over cobblestone streets which were common at that time.

Arthur remembers little of the Depression or the politics of the time, as his father was in the army and thus was able to make a reasonable income to provide for the family. When the Second World War broke out, Arthur enlisted in the early echelons and experienced a period of training in Fiji. He actually took his golf clubs with him, but sadly these were left behind in Fiji when he was sent to Egypt. He served in the 5th Field Regiment, an Artillery Unit, and while in Egypt was based in Maadi Camp. The New Zealand division, which was part of the Commonwealth Expeditionary force led by General Alexander, advanced across North Africa but was pushed by the better-led and trained Germans back into Egypt. He remembered the retreat as a helter-skelter operation and the force escaped as the Germans ran out of fuel. The continuing campaign saw the New Zealanders advance against General Rommel and ultimately to victory at the battle of El Alamein. Arthur recalls the huge artillery bombardment that preceded that battle. The Commander was General Montgomery and the defeated Germans retreated towards Tripoli and the final surrender in Tunisia in May 1943. Arthur's unit was then sent across to Italy and it advanced up through Italy to the battle of Monte Cassino and then on to the liberation of Rome.

After the war ended Arthur returned to New Zealand and was employed by the NZ Forest Service until his retirement in 1987. He married Mary and they had two sons, Peter and Michael, and a daughter Anne. The family lived in Oak Street, Upper Hutt, where Mary continues to reside, although Arthur is now cared for at the Home of Compassion, Silverstream. Peter and Michael attended St Patrick's College, Silverstream, as did Peter's son James, and Anne's son, Hamish.

Today Arthur is in the Home of Compassion. His artillery career has led to problems of hearing, and he also has a shell fragment in his knee, but otherwise he is quite well and takes great interest in the College activities, which can be seen clearly from the windows of the new building there. He is visited regularly by family and friends, including another Stream old boy – Tim McMahon. He recently celebrated his 95th birthday at a small party attended by family and a few friends.

Level Two English Extension - 2012

Home should be a place we consider safe. A place where we can live our day-to-day lives without fearing assault or abuse, a place where we feel secure, and a place where we can fulfil our desires in life. For me as an immigrant, New Zealand is my home. It is the place I feel safest in and where I wish to fulfil my life wishes and desires. Unfortunately, for many immigrants and refugees in New Zealand, the place they consider home is not welcoming and not a safe place for them to be.

The Kite Runner, a book by Khaled Hosseini vividly illustrates the lives of immigrants; their hopes and struggles, successes and failures. We are given a detailed insight into the lives of such people and how they cope with the world around them. Through the ideas portrayed in the text, and through my personal experiences, we can gain a better understanding of the nature of immigration.

Perhaps the most misconstrued idea about immigration is the idea of sacrifice. Many locals assume immigration is purely for self interest and self gain. This is most certainly not true. Imagine being the richest man in your district, owning the most grandiose house and being so rich you could build an orphanage or opera house by simply clicking your fingers. Now, imagine giving up all your wealth to migrate to a country to give your children an opportunity for a safer and more prosperous life. This is precisely what a loving father, Baba, did as a final gift for his son, Amir. Baba was prepared to start his life from scratch and work as a labourer at a gas station. "One last gift for Amir."

Baba's altruistic and selfless sacrifice visibly shows us the love that exists between Amir and Baba, but furthermore, it gives us an insight into the motive behind immigration. We are shown that Baba and Amir did not immigrate because of the welfare benefits they could receive as refugees or for any similar reasons. Rather, Baba's decision to immigrate was fuelled by his desire for Amir to have a chance at a successful and prosperous life. As an immigrant of New Zealand, I can personally relate to this concept. My parents' decision to immigrate to New Zealand has been the greatest gift I have ever received from them. Through their sacrifice and love, I am able to have access to a good education and have a chance at a successful future. Symbolically, my siblings and I are 'Amir', and my parents, 'Baba'.

Despite all this, immigration is not without its struggles and difficulties. Moving to a new country to start a new life is not an easy choice to make. As The Kite Runner describes, it can be a journey filled with violence and unspeakable danger. Witnessing adversity, experience in pain and suffering are part and parcel of escaping a country as refugees. The affliction, however, does not stop when you reach the shores of your intended destination. Here, your troubles take a different form. Employment discrimination, bullying and racial stereotyping are just a few of the many problems immigrants continue to face in our world today. Immigrants are incessantly accused of stealing jobs and depriving locals of opportunities, when many locals themselves are not committed to their work. So, it makes me ponder this question in my head; how can people blame immigrants for stealing their jobs when many of them do not even realise the value and privilege of work?

Baba is the prime example of a dedicated worker. An immigrant from Afghanistan, Baba works tirelessly and diligently at a petrol station. Even when he experienced sickness, he did not falter in his effort and desire to work. "I work always. In Afghanistan I work, in America I work." Those words came from an immigrant who understood the enormous privilege of being able to work. Many immigrants in New Zealand hail from all over the world. These immigrants share one common trait; they have all experienced genuine hardship. As a result of this, most immigrants, like Baba, understand the privilege of being offered a job. They work tirelessly day in and day out to provide for their families.

While you are reading this article, immigrants and refugees in New Zealand and around the world continue to experience abuse and a lack of acceptance by locals. I would like to issue everyone with a final challenge: the next time you pick up your Chinese takeaways, get treated by an African doctor at A&E, or visit the local dairy run by the Indian couple, I urge you to take a moment to reflect on the lives of these immigrants. Reflect on their sacrifices and their struggles.

ATHLETICS

Old Boys Cup

The athletes and the coaches knew that Town had three Year 9 boys who were sprinters of national quality – record setters at 100, 200 and 400m at NZ U12 level. This was hugely significant as sprinters cause much damage, usually combining speed with jumping and throwing to a high level at the younger age grades. Alongside this Town had a good team of middle distance boys, with the NZ U16 1500m champion one of them.

It was immediately obvious when the 200's started that we were in trouble as Town took out 31 points to our 19. The "turbo twins" plus the "Paese terror" showed up immediately with 1st and 2nd in one grade and 1st in the next grade up – avoiding wasting a top sprinter by having one of the twins race a grade up. Fletcher Greaves 23.2 win in the U16 grade and Jack Shipp U17 win in 22.6 helped us keep in touch. Keanu Moran 23.7, Lester Maulolo 24.8 and Reid Mccashin 23.9 all took valuable second places. The middle distance boys were up next with the strong man 3000m. The event was almost a white-wash to Town except for the outstanding win by Ryan Scaife in the U15 race with an Old Boys record of 10min 1.8 seconds and a 3rd place to Dom Roe in the Senior 3k. Dom's race was notable for some decidedly un-sportsman like tactics from the Townies who should have known better. Dom was promoted to 3rd under appeal as the Townies surrounded him and stopped him running freely during the race. With Dom a first year Senior it was a torrid experience. He will be the better for it!

In the field events it was fairly even. The javelin, a Stream standout event, we managed to win by 29 to 21 points, with another Old Boys record achieved by Nathan Moen getting the 600g javelin out to 52.86m in the U15 grade. He was joined in the winners circle by Nick Mannix 50.7m in the 700g U16 grade and Andrew Knight 48.83m in the Senior grade. Ken Tuffin 45.1m, Lui Luamanu 44.27m and Troy Mohr 44.56m all took seconds in their grades. On the other hand the shotput saw us gain only 19 points to Towns 31. Lui Luamanu took our only win with 12.71m in the U16 5kg grade.

Back to the track we then hit the 800m races. This was going to show who had the best middle distance team and it came out 24 points to Stream and 26 points to Town. While this did signal where the result was heading it was an event that unearthed a new talent at Stream in the form of one Zelius Venter. Zelius had virtually no training or athletic history of any sort behind him but showed a huge pair of lungs and a strong sprint in taking out the U15 800m in 2min 8.9 seconds. Fletcher Greaves moved up to 800m and took on the NZ U16 1500m champs, narrowly losing but still running a very strong 2min 3.9 seconds. Dan Jordan, team captain, won the Senior 800m in 2min 5 seconds and Max Press showed that the Stream Year 9's, while not fast, were strong with a great win of 2min 22 seconds in the U14 grade.

The jumps were fairly even apart from the triple jump. Our lack of facilities is always exposed in the jumps as they require the correct surface. Town had made much use of Newtown park and there triple jumpers won every grade. In the long jump it was even, and the high jump was won by us narrowly with 26 points. Regan Gubb with 1.73m and Rohan Russo with 1.70m were outstanding for us in the U16 grade, while Tom England and Antony Aston-Barron took first and second in the U15 grade.

The 400's and 1500's were also taken by Town, with our depth exposed particularly in the 1500 where Thomas Yates was forced to run in the Senior grade due to a lack of Seniors. He still took a great second place with 4min 31 secs after running up a different grade in the 800m and taking second there also in 2min 7 secs. Jack Shipp and Fletcher Greaves showed there experience with solid wins in the 400's.

Final points Silverstream 258, Town 388.

Athletics Report

The season started with a tour by a group of athletes who had competed well at the NZ Secondary School Champs in Dec of 2011. The tour was a chance for the boys to combine competition with a road trip around the lower North Island in mid January to early February. It did require the boys to join clubs, which they did. The experience was enjoyable for all, with a memorable trip to Hamilton where an over-night stay was required in Taupo and then Hamilton. The competition was very strong and it did give the boys great feedback on where they were. It also revealed the hidden talents of the Jordan boys, who leapt into super-plumber action when a pipe burst its tap in our camp kitchen in Hamilton. A larger group of boys followed this tour up with some pre-school training back on the grass track at Stream.

The Willis Mile

In between Old Boys and McEvedy we hosted a track event that was a launch of the sports facilities project at Stream. Nick Willis, the Silver Medallist over 1500m from the Beijing Olympics in 2008, was coming to Stream to attack a sub 4 minute mile on our grass track. Glen Woodward and his ground crew had the track in superb condition and it looked magnificent. We invited the Hutt Valley schools to take part in preliminary relays and they did so, running some great times. We also had an attempt on a world record in the super-shot by a number of throwers, led by the many times NZ Hammer Throw Champion, and NZ Representative, Phil Jensen from Lower Hutt. They were not quite successful but certainly attracted attention from the 2000 plus crowd who attended the meeting. We also had an 800m for women that featured Anne Hare, a 5000m Olympian from 1984, plus a number of top women from the Wellington region. When it came time for the mile, the wind had got up to a point where the school tent was blown over. It was also cold. In spite of this Nick and his training buddies from the States and England set out with the 4mins in their sights. The crowd were asked to ring the track and move into lane 4 creating a wind break and a corridor. This provided Nick with the adrenalin to ignore the wind and the first lap flew by in 61 seconds. The second lap was 60 seconds and they were on pace. By the third lap the gaps were opening up and a huge gust of wind visibly slowed the runners on the back straight. Nick was on his own by then, with only Hamish Carson staying close. The last lap saw Nick really pushing hard as he knew it was going to be close. Crossing the line in 4mins 3 seconds was a fantastic effort in the conditions. It was a great finish to a great evening and an awesome launch of the sports project. A huge amount of work had gone into the event and much thanks has to go the Lower Hutt athletics community and the Stream support staff. The evening concluded with drinks and nibbles in the school dining room and a short speech from Nick supporting the venture plus a short reply and speech from Brian McGuiness, the chair of the Board of Proprietors, and a driving force behind the project.

McEvedy Shield

The Town team were obviously strong but we felt we had a chance still if the Coll athletes were strong enough to cancel out some of the Town performers. Coll had been working hard over the summer – so it was going to be an interesting McEvedy yet again! Coll were the defending champions.

The 3000m was the first event and it was a win to Stream! Ryan Scaife continued his hot form from Old Boys' with a decisive win over three Coll boys, taking first in 9 mins 52.20 secs. This was followed by the 200s – and Town came to the fore. For Stream it was ominous. We took 8 points in total! These were: Jack Shipp, first in the senior 200m in 22.94; Fletcher Greaves second in the U16 grade in 23.64 and Lester Maulolo fourth in the U15 grade in 24.68. In the field events Town were going very well while we were just looking for points. In the High jump Regan Gubb continued his fine form with a win in the U16 grade with 1.65m, while Tom England only gained fourth in the U15 grade with the same height! Rohan Russo did not get a point but competed up a grade and did clear 1.75m which would have claimed points in his correct grade. Town had two athletes gain points in every grade of the High Jump. In the 800m, Zelius Venter continued his rise with a glorious win in the U15 grade in 2mins 6.68 secs. Thomas Yates, running in his correct grade, was rewarded with a fine third in 2min 5.91 sec. Tom England showed his versatility with a fine third in the U15 grade in 2min 10.06. Coll had made a come back in this event.

In the Javelin, Stream came back with a 1-2 in the U15 event and a 2-3 in the U16 grade. Nathan Moen with 51.29m was close to the record. Ken Tuffin threw a fine 44.58m. Nick Mannix and Lui Luamanu in the U16 grade had 45.0m and 44.53m respectively.

In the Discus Saio Salevao threw 48.75m to win the senior event – a distance that would put him in the top 8 nationally. In the U15 grade Lester Maulolo again showed his ability with a win and 42.67m. Vern Sosefo and Joe Apikotoa took second and fourth in the U16 grade. The shotput was also a good event for Stream with 12 points. Lui Luamanu showed up again – this time with Regan Gubb – in the U16 shot as they took 2nd and 3rd. In the U15 grade Asafo Aumua and Tone Fau'olo also gained 2nd and 3rd – with 13.00m and 12.87m. The Long Jump was not so great – with only Hemi Waitaiki, first in the U16 grade, jumping 5.44m and Matt Bastion, third with 5.31m, gaining points. It was a similar story in the Triple Jump with Tarquin Alatipi 4th with 11.48m in the U15 grade and Kasey Joe-McIndoe taking a great 2nd in the U16 grade with 11.86m. Back on the track in the 100m it wasn't great. Lester Maulolo won the U15 100m in 11.90 and Jack Shipp the senior 100 in 11.34 but that was it – and that was it for our effort to win the shield! Town were making big strides and even Coll were struggling. In the Hurdles Lester Maulolo won the U15 grade with 15.24, Lalovi Leaupepe ran a great 2nd in the U16 race in 15.26 and Sola Toomata ran a strong senior hurdles in 15.85 seconds in gaining 2nd place. The 1500's went with Ryan Scaife winning his race with dominance again in 4min 39.16, followed by Zelius Venter in 3rd. Daniel Larkin picked up a 4th in the U16 grade in 4mins 30.80 seconds. In the 400s we did well with Fletcher Greaves winning the U16 race in 52.61sec, Jack Shipp dominating his rivals with a senior win in 51.79 secs and Tom England 54.71 and Luese Moemai 57.68 taking 2nd and 4th in the U15 grade. However, lack of depth for us was exposed and Town had it all in excellence and depth. They had the shield wrapped up with an hour to go. They did well. For us Jack Shipp was all class – and stayed strong while his fellow sprinters struggled. He was inspirational. For the first time in McEvedy history a Stream age group got zero points. This was the U14 boys who struggled against the speed of the Townies and the other athletes who were Year 10 but down an age group. It was hard times for the Year 9 boys and would take great courage to recover from this start at the school. Stream athletes are developed – not imported – so we have hope for these boys.

Final Points
Stream 120.5
Town 201.5

Neville Shield

This year's event was held in fine weather! It meant we had a real competition on our hands. The expectation was a big win for Town as they were the McEvedy Champions. The reality is any athlete can only go in three events and we knew that played into our hands. We also had a classy group of middle distance boys at Year 9 and Year 10. This proved to be the difference, with our field eventers as good as the Townies. The middle distance team were well led by Ryan Scaife who was looking to race well at the secondary school champs in the next few days. He dominated the 800 and 1500 – and took a 3rd in the 400 just to make it a good training day. In the Year 9s it was domination everywhere in the 3000, 800 and 1500m. The team of Press, Hunter, Collins, Carson, Anderson, Priston and Sarten were just superb! Town tried hard but couldn't cope with the Stream machine. It was terrific. The other outstanding result for Stream was the greater efforts from our sprinters who now looked far more confident against the sprinters that smashed them at the start of the year. In the relay the Year 9 Stream boys almost beat the Townies. There will be a day that they will win!

North Island Athletics Championships

The athletics season finished over the first weekend in April with a team of 15 competing at the North Island Champs in Tauranga. This is a regionally based competition with our boys representing Wellington against the best athletes from the other regions in the North Island.

The outstanding performance at this event for Stream was the win by Fletcher Greaves in the Intermediate 400m in 50.40 secs - a PB for Fletcher and a new U16 Stream record. This came on top of his winning performance at the NZ Sec School Champs in December and his domination of the Old Boys and McEvedy events. Other performances of note were achieved by Nathan Moen with 5th in intermediate Javelin with 48.34m a new PB, Sola Toomata 5th in the Sen 110 Hurdles and Zelius Venter 6th in the 800m final and a new PB of 2min 3.99 secs. Lester Maulolo was ranked 4th in the Int Hurdles but was DQ'd for jumping the gun in the final.

NZ Secondary School Athletics Championships

The champs were this year in Dunedin. The cost was high so the team was not as big as previous years and the focus was largely on middle distance. We still had two 400m class acts in Fletcher Greaves and Jack Shipp. The emerging Year 9 middle distance team were definite medal contenders in the road race teams event as they had dominated the local scene and were just on fire in training over the three months prior to the champs. The formation of the StreamzTC had provided them with the opportunity to be track ready.

In the three weeks prior to the champs three of our class acts hit problems, two of them major. Jack Shipp had an argument with his appendix – and the appendix won! Tom Yates had an argument with the bones in his feet – the feet won! Fletcher had a disagreement with his hamstring – and nobody actually won. It meant that Jack and Tom came down to help the boys – and missed out on competing. This was particularly frustrating for Tom who had put in a magnificent year of training, while for Jack it was certainly not part of his buildup for the summer ahead. Fletcher did compete, but was not in the same shape he had been in earlier in the year.

Results

Year 9 Road race team - 2nd in 3man event, 2nd in 6man event

Out of 106 competitors in a road race over 3km:

Trent Hunter 13th	10:01.54
Max Press 14th	10:01.86
Liam Carson 17th	10:04.84
Jake Collins 22nd	10:12.79
Josh Anderson 25th	10:18.97
Jared Priston 52nd	10:55.67

Nathan Moen: 5th in junior Javelin with 39.92m

Ryan Scaife: 6th junior 1500m in 4min 17.89 secs (was 3rd with 200 to go but got passed in the last 150m - his first serious race - a tremendous time)

4 x 400m junior 8th (England, Moen, Press, Scaife) 3mins 52.47 seconds

Tom England: 11th 400m 55.12, 12th 800m (pb in the 800m for Tom in 2mins 7.86 secs)

Graham Saggars: 11th senior 3000m 9mins 59.53 secs (ran with the pace and after passing 1500m in 4min 40 found the second half very hard)

Keanu Moran: 11th 200m 23.55, 25th 100m 11.47 secs

Max Press: 13th in 1500m junior final 4:32.90 (after the road race)

Fletcher Greaves: 16th senior 400m 53.68 (first year senior, competition is a lot harder and a dodgy hamstring)

Jake Collins: 18th junior 800m 2:14.38

Dan Larkin: 21st senior 1500m 4:36.29

Liam Carson: 23rd junior 1500m (after a nasty fall where he got up and finished still in 4min 52)

Vincent Blane: 44th in senior 6k road race in 21min 50.12 secs

The outstanding track performance came from Ryan Scaife who showed a mental toughness against the best in NZ in the Under 16 grade that would only be down to his experience as a NZ weight grade boxing champion. Ryan had never faced competition on the track like he met at Dunedin. The fact that he ended up with a time of 4min 17 indicated a potential far greater than his 6th place result.

So, the athletics season for 2012 came to an end. It was a year of real highs and lows. By the end of the year the Year 9 middle distance team could claim second ranking in New Zealand! The tragic passing of Zelius was hugely sad for the school and provided a real contrast. The Neville Shield win was our school farewell to Zelius and I'm sure the middle distance boys gutsy efforts at the nationals was a final and fitting way to honour Zelius who would have finished his year with the boys in Dunedin.

BADMINTON

Badminton for 2012 started off on a positive path as the experienced Stream side consisting of Taylor McMahon, Shawn Potaka, Kheinan Morrissey, Iriapa Moeau and Cam Soper showed their dominance as individuals and as a team on the court. With the season starting in Term Two the team were victorious against Taita, St Bernard's, Naenae, Upper Hutt and Hutt Valley High School showing their skills in both singles and doubles matches. As Term Three began the team were continuing their victorious streak until the final stage of the competition where Stream played Hutt Valley High at Stream. Both teams battled it out with clear wins from Shawn Potaka and Cam Soper in singles and Kheinan Morrissey and Cam Soper in doubles. This brought the game to a 3-3 Tie. With the game at a 3-3 tie the only way to determine the winner was by adding all the points scored in each game. 103-105 St Pat's Stream won the Hutt Valley Division Competition for their grade and then went on to win the Regional Division Championship for their Grade in Wellington for 2012. With the dedication from each player this year Stream had a great and successful year in Badminton. A Special Thanks to Mr Hydes for his dedication to the game and supporting our team during the season and to Kheinan Morrissey for the continuous transportation he has given the team this year.

TABLE TENNIS

2012 saw a huge growth in the number of boys playing table tennis at St Pat's. This year we fielded eight teams in the Upper Valley competition which catered for boys who were either new to the sport or with limited experience. We also had one team entered in the Premier Grade which was captained by Thom Nguyen.

Thom had a phenomenally successful year which included two national Under 18 titles, New Zealand selection, and the ultimate honour: the New Zealand Junior Player of Year. The College Sport article outlining Thom's achievements is reprinted on this page.

Special thanks must go to Mr Stephen Hirst in his role as the Wellington Region Table Tennis Coach. In this capacity he organised the Monday and Wednesday afternoon leagues and he was very supportive of table tennis at St Pat's. He also teamed up with Thom in Term 3 to put on a display for the whole school at assembly. The majority of boys hadn't seen table tennis of this quality, so the demonstration was very well received.

Star wins trophy in last year as junior

Tim Barton
TABLE TENNIS

THOM NGUYEN wanted to make his last year as a junior a big one and is doing just that.

The St Pat's Silverstream table tennis star has been named New Zealand junior player of the year.

Nguyen, 17, is the first Wellington player since 2005 to receive the Russell Dickey Memorial Trophy.

The trophy, which can be won only once by any player, takes into account conduct and team spirit, as well as performance.

Nguyen's award came after he picked up two titles at the national junior championships in Christchurch this month.

The year 13 pupil, who is deputy head boy at Silverstream, won the under-18 singles, beating top seed Kevin Wu in three games – 11-9, 14-12, 11-9 – and teamed with Wu to win the doubles title. It was the third successive under-18 doubles victory for Nguyen, all with different partners.

It was also his second singles' title. He won in 2010 before falling to Wu in the semifinals last year.

He went into the 2012 singles' final as the underdog, after Wu had beaten him in three games in the teams event.

"Going into the final, I think I was better prepared mentally and that made a world of difference," Nguyen said. "I had my chances against him in the teams event, but wasn't able to capitalise.

"We've been close competitors for quite a few years now, and he certainly has history on his side, although we are very good friends outside the game."

Nguyen prefers singles to doubles, but has picked up two major doubles titles this year, the first when he combined with Auckland player to win the under-21 doubles at the Oceania championships last month, beating the top-seeded Australian pairing. But he regards the under-18 championships as the high point of his year, "especially since it's my last year as a junior, plus being named player of the year".

Nguyen has more titles to defend, beginning with the Wellington championships next month.

He will be the defending champion in the open, under-21 and under-18 singles at the Wellington championships, as well as the open and under-18 doubles.

Another target is the defence of his New Zealand secondary schools' title, in September, while his long-term goal is the world junior championships, in India in December.

BASKETBALL

Silverstream fielded two senior and three junior basketball teams this year in the College Sport Wellington leagues in 2012. The Senior A boys were victorious in the Senior Boys Division 1 grade, which was their best result since the 1990's. Not only did they win the Bill Eldred cup for the Senior 1st Division but also the inaugural Rongotai College traditional fixture. The Junior A team, coached by Terry Stallworth and Jonny Hewson, were undefeated through the championship round of the Junior Boys Division 1 league before succumbing to Newlands College in the final by four points. They were down by as much as 15 points in the second half before an intense fight back led by Captain Kenneth Tuffin, Tone Fauolo and young Year 9 Dom Kafatolu to draw the scores level in the final quarter before Newlands eventually pulled away. This was a young team made up of Year 9 and 10s with the aim of developing this group into a senior force in the future.

The Senior B boys, coached by Peter Tompson and Rob Tungatt, played well for most of the season and pulled out some good wins along with some very narrow losses. At one stage they were threatening to make the Division 5 finals before loses in their last three games meant they fell from 1st place to finish in 5th.

Our Junior B team grew so big after the trials that we had to split the boys into two with the Blue team coached by George Lake and Izak Pivac while Scott Marriner took the Junior White team along with Ann Bateman. The Blue team drew the short straw and were placed in the top grading pool meaning they had to play the top teams from the likes of Wellington College and Rongotai. Despite these early losses they continued to develop and enjoyed playing as a team. Many of these boys will be pushing to make the Junior A team next year. The Junior White team had some great success in their grade and had some very competitive results. In an enthralling final against the St Patrick's Town B team, the boys dipped out by just a few points in such a see sawing game. Again the future looks very bright for Silverstream basketball when so many young students are enjoying playing this great sport. There were also four Senior Social teams competing in the YMCA league in Upper Hutt against teams from HIBS, Heretaunga and Upper Hutt. In the end two Silverstream teams contested the final with the Redwood Rams team winning the final by 10 points.

2013 will see Silverstream push for the Premier grade not only to make numbers but to reach the semi-finals and beyond. Both the Junior A and Senior A teams will be travelling to Regional Tournaments to compete against the best teams in the lower North Island for 6 spots in the National Tournament.

A special thanks to TEAMTALK and CENTRAL GROUP for their sponsorship of Silverstream basketball this year and to CHAINSAW PHOTOS for supply the photos for the Blue and White

Senior A

The Senior A team was coached by Jason Russo for the second year running in Division 1. The goal this year was to gain promotion into Premier grade which was always going to be a tough task. Preparation began with the Junior A and Senior A teams taking on a Hastings/Napier tour to challenge Hastings Boys' High School (twice), Napier Boys' High School and St John's. The tour was a great experience for the boys especially playing such top opposition. It was a highlight to see the Junior Boys come away with a draw against St John's and a win against Napier Boys' High School. The Senior Boys had a rougher ride although the second game against Hastings Boys' High School was definitely the highlight as the team pulled together to push the opposition right until the end of the game. One last adventure on the journey home involved Jonny Hewson's van running out of diesel providing an hour of extra training pushing the van down the road in order to find a petrol station.

The Senior A team then turned their attention to the preseason tournament hosted each year at Silverstream. The tough competition looked like it would be St Patrick's Town B team and Hutt Valley High B and so it proved to be. Running through the round robin undefeated, the Senior A encountered their first real tough game against an energised Hutt Valley High team in a preliminary final that went into overtime. Once more these two teams met in the grand final and once more a Jonathan De Jong buzzer beater forced an overtime game. As the drama of the second overtime unfolded, our boys lost by 6 points as HVHS turned up the defence. Through the first round of grading games the Senior A team accounted for Porirua College easily followed by another win over close rivals HVHS B. This left the final grading game against the reigning Premier champions, Hutt Valley High School's top team.

There were thoughts entertained at the end of the first quarter with scores at 10-12 of an upset. The remaining three quarters did not go to the same plan as a very physical HVHS side showed why they were ranked Number 1 in Wellington. So Division 1 it was. Once again. In the first round three wins against Kapiti College, Wainuiomata College and Wellington College B to two losses to St Patrick's Town B and Tawa meant that once more they were to miss the dream of Premier basketball for 2012. On queue came the Rongotai Traditional basketball game. Rongotai turned up with their premier status and the thoughts of competing against them were always there. The team who lined up for this first ever game were Rohan Russo (c), Jonathan De Jong (vc), Benjamin Ross, William Horua, Mitchell Bialy, Nicholas Mannix, Ayman Ahmed, Jordan King, Christian Giannotti, Cameron Soper, Jeremy Clegg and Kenneth Tuffin. An eventual 97-73 win meant the result went to Silverstream. A win against a premier side in a Traditional fixture no doubt re-instilled the confidence in the team.

The competition round featured two 100 point games for the Senior A as they accounted for Wainuiomata again 102-91 before thumping Kapiti College 140-47 in a game where Rohan (38), Jonathan (22), Ben (17), Salesi (16), Glenn (13), Regan (10) and Christian (10) all made double figures. Around the same time was the second Traditional game against St Patrick's College Town's top team who showed their 2012 Premier winning class by beating the team 60-110.

In the semi-final Silverstream faced Wainuiomata for the third time this season. Whilst cruising for most of the game, the Senior A team could never quite shake a determined Wainuiomata squad hurting from two previous defeats. The score eventually finished at 93-72 with Rohan (30), Jonathan (23), Salesi (18) and Ayman (10) all coming up big to send the team to the final. Te Rauparaha Arena, 2012. Long will these young men remember their final. The line-up of Rohan, Jonathan, Glenn, Ben and Ayman was tall and experienced. Playing the unexpected St Patrick's Town B team meant that new plans for the final had to be formed and that was to "go big". Ben Ross, in particular, played like a man possessed as he dived, ripped and fought for every ball in order to keep Silverstream in the game. Down and out it seemed halfway through the last quarter with Town B enjoying a double figure lead, the Senior A boys fought back through some big plays including rebounding on the defensive end from Glen, a crucial steal by Nick and a couple of free throws from Christian provided the necessary gap closing. Down by 1 point with less than 30 seconds on the clock, Silverstream had the ball from a timeout. On the inbound the play went awry with Jonathan ending up with the ball and four players on him. Nonetheless he launched his jump shot with 6 seconds to go to win the game. Long after the final whistle the reality was still sinking in that Silverstream were the Division 1 champions.

Thanks must be given to Coach Jason Russo who gave up so much of his time over the last two years to develop the talent in this team. Also thanks to David Giannotti for all his work as the manager of the team.

CRICKET

2012 was a successful season for the Silverstream Cricket Club with highlights including: the 1st XI winning both Traditionals, and playing in the 20/20 final at the Basin Reserve; the 2nd XI, coached by Pat Houghton, gaining promotion to Premier 2.

Silverstream fielded nine teams, maintaining a player base of approximately 120 students engaged in a summer sport. The appointment of Ewen Thompson as Director of Coaching, towards the end of the season, will help future development of players and coaches. As an ex Black-Cap, Ewen brings a wealth of experience and knowledge and we look forward to his direction and leadership.

1st XI REPORT

With the loss several senior players, the team was an unknown quantity. The first Traditional, against St Pat's Town would reveal the strengths and weaknesses of the squad.

The team started strongly on the opening day, before a middle-order collapse at 150/4, limited Stream's total to 181. At the end of play, Town were 42/3

On day two, the Town batsmen were restricted by accurate bowling from Matthew Kelly and Zac Ringrose, and could only muster 130 runs. In Stream's second innings, the side was rocked by a hat-trick of wickets and were reeling at 20/5 when Kheinan Morrissey stepped up with a magnificent 108, aided by a plucky Zac Ringrose batting at 11, who survived a torrid spell of body-line bowling to enable Kheinan to make his first century for the 1st XI.

Stream set Town a target of 240 which proved too great a goal; Stream retaining the Old Boys' Cup by 40 runs.

The second Traditional, at home, against a strong St Bede's, was a very low scoring affair. Batting first, St Bede's were rolled for 69. Stream responded with 80. In the second innings, St Bede's collapsed again, making 65. This was easily achieved by a confident and united team with 8 wickets to spare. The Traditional was over in two days and Stream retained the Evatt Cup.

Unfortunately the team's success in the three-day form of the game was not repeated in the one-day format and the 1st XI struggled to retain their premier grade status, narrowly avoiding relegation with a win over St Pat's Town.

The College wishes to recognise the efforts and contributions of the parents and staff who assisted with coaching and managing. The junior cricket teams show much promise and should, with an improvement in batting, be very strong senior sides in the near future.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross Country is the breeding ground for middle distance champions. In 2012 this statement was absolutely demonstrated for a group of Year 9 boys.

Cross Country School Champs

This year we changed the format to a 3km race and made the senior event invitation only. We also invited rugby, basketball and football top teams to compete against runners in the senior grade; 3km for all runners.

SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Year 9	Time	Year 10	Time	Senior	Time
T Hunter	11.15	R Scaife	10.15	T Yates	9.58
J Piston	11.22	Z Venter	10.16	D Larkin	10.07
L Carson	11.50	T England	10.58	F Greaves	10.14
J Collins	11.59	L Mulder	11.07	D Roe	10.15
P Aitkin	12.08	C Rice	11.16	C Tiatia	10.16
T Hati	12.17	L Wood	11.24	T Mallender	10.18

The school champs were highlighted by a great race between Ryan Scaife and Zeliuss Venter, with Ryan just holding out a fast finishing Zeliuss. In the senior grade Tom Yates continued a strong finish to the athletics season with a sub 10 minute 3k and a first ever defeat of Fletcher who was starting to find the longer runs challenging. At Year 9, Trent Hunter laid down a challenge to all the other Year 9 boys with a lead from the front win. It was pleasing to note the runners won the senior race.

We then launched into training with a promising core group of runners who continued on from the summer.

Karori Relays

We had high hopes but found a lack in depth once again coming back to weaken any good individual run. The senior team was predominantly Year 11 guys so they can improve dramatically. It was a miserable day, Karori at its worse. The boys had fun in spite of the rain and wind! Year 9 missed third place by one second.

These champs were held over the “long course” where times are often quite slow. The Year 9 team showed steady improvement with signs of depth as well; the boys running together well as a team. We missed Ryan Scaife from here on in the winter as he focussed on rugby and his main sport, boxing. He was missed as we were left with two strong runners and a group who were still developing. In the seniors we had promising results from a group that had primarily Year 11 students leading it.

National Championships Auckland

A great trip with a stop-over on the way up in Taupo. The team was keen and ready to go, with superb accommodation just a few k's from the course. Mr Fordyce accompanied Mr Steel as staff support on the trip, offering his words of wisdom on several occasions to the boys. We had two dads along helping as well – Mr Rice and Mr Carson. The course itself was rolling hills but well groomed as it was the grounds of St Kentigern's College. The weather was fine – it was on! Our best team performance came from the Year 9 team who gained 6th in NZ. This is outstanding as it was built on a strong team effort, with the six boys who counted all finishing within 44th to 99th place out of the 208 boys who took part. This was well supported by the other two Year 9 boys, Hamish Tustin and Jared Sarten, who were only around 10 to 15 places behind our leading six. In Hamish's case he had been in the top 50 early on and had to work hard to stay up close to the other boys after probably going a little hard too soon. The team that followed us was Wellington College – a great win over them after they beat us at Wellington Champs.

Detailed Results

The Year 9 team 6th :

Trent Hunter 44th
Josh Anderson 64th
Liam Carson 71st
Jake Collins 72nd
Jared Priston 97th
Max Press 99th

Jared Sarten was a non-counting member 124th

The U16 top result was Tom England in 51st, Zeliuss Venter 78th out of 208 runners

Seniors were 16th - a young team which has 2 years more to improve. Interesting to note Wellington College senior team was 14th while Town were 6th also, and Scotts were 11th.

Tom Yates 116th
Dan Larkin 120th
Vincent Blane 148th
Graham saggers 167th
Fletcher Greaves 169th ---too far for a 400m runner
Steven Boyle 185th

Alex Gray, Jordan Gray - non-counting members around 200th

The trip home was highlighted by a snow fight in the National Park. A nice end to a fun trip that set the scene for a good summer ahead. We got back to school and discovered a committed group emerging in Term Three to take the performances up a few notches.

Stream VS Town Cahill Cup

This annual race against Town was at the start of Term Three. We were a team in mourning for the loss of Zeliuss Venter over the holidays. The team ran with armbands of white and blue.

Cahill 2012: Dedicated to Zeliuss Venter
A course over 2.2km around St Pat's Town campus

Year 9 race won by default as our boys were in total control but the marshal halfway round the course sent them the wrong way and didn't show any concern either!!

The Under 16 race was a close contest. With Zeliuss Venter running we would have won this grade as he would have come in with Ryan and Tom.

The seniors were well beaten, although its fair to say this is a strong Town team on the national scene – having won the Wellington teams title and getting 6th in NZ Sec Schools.

This would have been a win for Stream overall if Zeliuss had been here – he was ready to run and then go play Rugby. Ryan did this – and won for Zeliuss.

Wellington Road Race Champs

This event again saw just our Year 9 team racing, with two individuals in Tom England, in the U16 grade, and Vincent Blane in the senior grade. The other runners had no need to compete and trained after school. The Year 9 boys wanted to see if they could continue their success into the road race – a race that they were aiming to compete in at the NZ Secondary Schools Athletics Champs at the end of the year. The results were astonishing – with the Stream boys winning the 3 man and 6 man events against a previously seemingly unbeatable Scott's College who had won early winter events easily.

DRAGON BOATING

The 2012 Dragonboating season began early, and it had to in order to continue the previous team's unbeaten record.

One of the first priorities as a team was to set goals. Mr Agnew set us a huge challenge right from the beginning. He wanted us to retain our undefeated record AND also become New Zealand champions. The journey to achieving our goals was easily amongst the most physically and psychologically demanding things any of us had ever attempted previously. We trained over four times a week, rain or shine. Often we would find ourselves one of the only boats heading out into the teeth of a raging Wellington southerly. All the early mornings and freezing paddling sessions were part of an effort by our coaches, Baz Taniwha and Chris Fox, to toughen us up for the races to come.

Our racing season began with the Wellington "Fun Day" regatta. Through this day we won all our races, including those against men's teams.

Our first true day of serious racing was the CollegeSport Wellington Dragonboating festival. We won our first heats easily, often powering ahead by more than a boat length. It was in the final that we met our first proper challenge. We were locked into an even battle with HIBS right up until the last quarter. It was possible to hear them breathing, separated as we were by just a metre of water. This was where all the trainings came into their own. Just as our muscles were beginning to scream at us to stop, we drew on deep reserves of strength that until then we didn't know existed, to power us ahead. Watching the surprise on the faces of the HIBS stroke pair was priceless. With the first half of our season done we had only one goal left to complete: become New Zealand champions. To do this we had to travel to Auckland to compete in a much longer sprint race than we were used to. Adding extra difficulty was that it was on fresh water, which we had never paddled in before.

Our race day in Auckland was immensely tense. Although we were still setting personal bests each race, people were still worried that it wasn't going to be good enough. (Part of this concern came from a misreported time from one of the girls teams, leading us to believe that we were paddling 10 seconds slower than them.) When the time came for the final race of the day, and the season, the tension at the start line was tangible. Halfway down the course we knew we weren't doing as well enough. At that moment our coxswain made the call we wanted to hear. "Full Speed." Finally, for the first time in the season we had been given free rein. The boat leapt forward, almost losing our steerer and we flew through the water and across the line. We were met with cheers from the Auckland crowd who recognized a truly great race.

In the end our time was far better than the current New Zealand school boys' record. I, and the team would like to thank everyone involved for the immense help they gave us. To Ms Lawrence and Mrs Potts, who fed us and looked after us. To Mr Agnew for being up before 6am most mornings for training. And last but not least, to Baz and Chris for putting up with our complaining and pushing us further than we thought we could go.

FOOTBALL OVERVIEW

One great, and frustrating, thing about football is how one goal can make or break a season and 2012 didn't disappoint in this regard.

The main talking point for the year was the 1st XI; their relegation from Premier Grade and subsequent 'demotion' from the premier national tournament to a satellite competition. Whilst many saw this as a huge comedown from the giddy heights of the 2011 national final, the coaches used the opportunity to blood young, promising talent and this will prove fruitful in the upcoming season.

The young 1st XI finished the season with a hard fought win, in extra-time, over a skilful St Bernard's 1 XI, who had defeated our lads twice in the season, and would not have been out of place in the Premier grade, in the Division 1 final on the artificial turf at Wellington College.

Our 2nd XI, under perennial 'bridesmaid' coach, Mike McLeish, finally won their division final (after losing 2 previous finals) whilst the 3rd XI, managed by the uber organised Sue Carpenter, again, with a large number of Year 10 players, experienced the pressure of competing in a division final. Kevin Havell and Gil Hunter, once again, dusted off their boots and tramped out into the middle of the #3 field to coach the 4th and 5th XIs.

Huge thanks must go out to the teachers and parents who sacrifice time and money to help our students play 'the beautiful game'.

To earn a cap for the 1st XI Football team a player must play for the College in a full length game with a qualified referee, and a member of the coaching or management team must witness his play. Every player that starts a game for the 1st XI is given a Player Number corresponding to their position in the history of all the players to represent the College's 1st XI. The strength of this year's team is shown by only using 18 players (including 2 goal keepers).

Once a player has reached fifty games for the College he is eligible for a sports pocket indicating this achievement. Scott BASALAJ gained this honour and finishes with exactly 50 career games for the 1st XI.

The season started with confidence after the highs of the Runners-Up result at the National Tournament in 2011.

Brendan McINTYRE returned as head coach and brought his Scottish hard edge to those in the team. Those returning players still felt we needed to prove ourselves at the Wellington regional level. The players set themselves lofty goals prior to the start of the season, as follows;

- Win 6 Traditional games
- Qualify for the top 16 National tournament
- Win the Wellington Regional Competition
- Remaining unbeaten at home

We failed to achieve all our goals but are buoyed by the youth development that has occurred this year and look forward with anticipation to next season.

National Representation

During the season the honour of having Scott BASALAJ represent the New Zealand Under23 and the full New Zealand teams was announced. Scott attended the Olympics with the NZ OlyWhites team (the first Streamer to attend an Olympic games as a participant)

Old Boy Support

It was fantastic to see so many Old Boy's supporting the team this year.

Season Summary

Once again we started the year slowly and missed out on the Wellington Region Premier Grade. This was especially disappointing for the senior leaders trying to emulate the results of the 2011 National Tournament runners-up team.

There were remaining challenges for the squad to face; winning all six Traditional matches, the Division one title and performing well with a development team in the second tier national tournament. We only

- a desire and enthusiasm for playing for and representing the school

Traditional Games 2012

The 6 Traditional College Matches are held in high regard by all the 1st XI players past and present. The following are the match reports from a solid season of traditional results but ultimately not quite as promising as we hoped for.

New Plymouth Boys High School (Home) 16th May 2012 ~ WIN 3 – 1

We created lots of chances and led at half time thanks to a Hayden STUTHRIDGE headed goal off a Cory VAN de COOLWIJK corner. Harry KERR dominated the ball in the air and through Mitchell BLAIR and Shaun MELROSE controlling the midfield we were able to change the point of attack and kept the New Plymouth boys out the game. We conceded from a defensive error but bounced back to retain the trophy via a MELROSE and Lachlan WATSON late goal. Shooting still needs to be improved with only three shots on target in the second half.

Goals from Hayden STUTHRIDGE, Shaun MELROSE and Lachlan WATSON

MVP – Harry KERR

Wellington College (Home) 6th June 2012 ~ WIN 1 – 0

After winning this fixture in 2011 we were trying to set a Stream record by being the first team to defend this trophy. We played with intensity and dominated Coll in the first half. Many chances were created but we struggled to put them away. Predictably Coll bounced back in the second half and we were put under pressure and were saved by BASALAJ in goal several times. Mitchell BLAIR terrorised the defenders and Shaquille STIRLING showed that Silverstream passion and pride are alive and well.

Goal from Shaquille STIRLING

MVP – Scott BASALAJ

Saint Bede's College (Home) 27th June 2012 ~ WIN 2 – 1

We started slowly, losing possession in key positions and giving the St Bede's team opportunities. The football to close out the first half was superb – controlling the pace of the game and keeping the ball away from the opposition. The half time score of 0 – 0 was not reflective of the match. Samuel DEWAR scored after some superb work by Shaquille STIRLING and Mitchell BLAIR scored a wonder goal from outside the box. St Bede's capitalised on a defensive error and pressed us hard for the rest of the game. We were deserved winners of the trophy.

Goal from Sam DEWAR and Mitchell BLAIR

MVP – Shaun MELROSE

Rongotai College (Home) 20th June 2012 ~ WIN 5 – 3

We controlled the game and kept the ball for long periods. Our midfield of MELROSE and VAN de COOLWIJK were outstanding and combined with Mitchell BLAIR dropping back to receive the ball, dominated the opposition. STIRLING's Traditional hat-trick was built on the back of VAN de COOLWIJK's quality delivery into the box.

Goals from Shaun MELROSE, Shaquille STIRLING 3, Samuel DEWAR

MVP – Cory VAN de COOLWIJK

Palmerston North Boys High School (Away) 25th July 2012 ~ LOSS 1 – 5

After controlling the first half by keeping possession and squeezing the game onto Palmy we were disappointed to be down 2 nil at half time. Both of these goals came after periods of us on attack and were the result of simple errors. The second half saw the Palmy team become more physical and showed that they wanted to win the game more. We finished the game with almost the next year's first eleven but a sad way for the Year 13 boys to end their traditional campaign.

Goal from Joshua BLAIKIE

MVP – Shaquille STIRLING

We didn't create any chances in the second spell but still deserved the draw from the play in the first half.

Goal from Samuel TAYLOR-MALLON

MVP – Harry KERR

Saint Patrick's College, Wellington (Away) 18th July 2012 ~ LOSS 0 – 1

We were the only team trying to attack and play football. Town were happy to sit back and defend and this tactic was to ultimately stifle our attacking ball players. The referee gave a contentious penalty towards the end of the match which killed off our hopes of a win.

MVP – Shaquille STIRLING

Most Valuable Player for Traditional Games:

Shaquille STIRLING – 1st

Cory VAN de COOLWIJK – 2nd =

Shaun MELROSE – 2nd =

National Tournament 2012

We decided to take a development team to the tournament. Two Year13 students (Hayden STUTHRIDGE and Shaquille STIRLING) were taken as mentors and they performed admirably and guided the younger players as they started their journey to play for the full 1st XI in the years to come.

National Tournament

Game One; v. Ormiston Senior College – WIN 10 – 0

Starting the tournament against with a young team did provide some concerns. The opening goal allayed these fears. We were too big and strong for the opposition and controlled the whole game.

Goals from Shaquille STIRLING 3, Lachlan WATSON 2, Keelan McEVOY 2, Jonty BILDERBECK 2, Harry KERR

MVP – Samuel DEWAR

Game Two; v. Papanui High School – DRAW 1 – 1

We scored early from a WATSON goal and looked to carry on the form from the first game. We created so many chances but didn't put the opposition away. With two minutes left in the game an error gifted the opposition an undeserved draw.

Goal from Lachlan WATSON

MVP – Samuel DEWAR

Game Three; v. Lindisfarne College – LOSS 1 – 4

We took the lead early in the first half again from a well taken Sam GILLESPIE goal but let the opposition take control of the possession. We lost shape and made errors towards the end of the second half (from midfield and defensive errors). Lindisfarne scored 4 goals in 15 minutes and we were never able to get back into the game. This loss meant that we needed to win the remaining games to gain a spot in the top 8

Goals from Samuel GILLESPIE

MVP – Samuel DEWAR

Game Four; v. Tamatea High School – WIN 12 – 1

As the score line indicates we were the much better football team. This game gave an opportunity to use the entire squad and gave our goal scorers confidence to progress into the rest of the tournament. We were still not happy about conceding a goal and need to tighten up the defence if wanting to progress further.

Goals from Benjamin RATAHI, Samuel GILLESPIE 2, Michael FABER 2, Shaquille STIRLING 5, Samuel DEWAR and Own Goal

MVP – Samuel DEWAR

Game Five; v. Taupo-Nui-a-Tia College – WIN 2 – 1

This was a must win game to ensure a spot in the top 8. Shaquille STIRLING was superb in the first half and terrorised the opposition and netted two quality goals. We sat back and defended for much of the second half and didn't have any shots on target. An error gave the opposition a penalty and made the last two minutes a tense affair to gain the quarter final game. The closeness of the score accurately indicates that the Taupo team were one of the better football teams we had played.

Goals from Shaquille STIRLING

MVP – Hayden STUTHRIDGE

Game Six; v Horowhenua College – LOSS 0 – 2

The quarter final game saw us conceding early for the first time in the tournament. We dominated the rest of the match but couldn't get past the opposition's 9 man defence. As we pushed on to try to win the match we let a goal in right at the end of the game.

MVP – Hayden STUTHRIDGE

Game Seven; v St John's College (Hamilton) – WIN 5 – 1

The disappointment on missing out on the semi-final match was let out against St John's. All players used wanted revenge and outplayed a much larger opposition. Defensively we were very strong and senior players were strong on the ball allowing the younger players room to show their skills. Liam WOOD and Michael FABER were superb at moving the ball and fed the ever hungry strikers.

Goals from Shaquille STIRLING 2, Liam WOOD, Michael FABER and Own Goal

MVP – Jeremy BARR

Game Eight; v Havelock North High School– WIN 3 – 0

We controlled the game from the outset and were too big and too strong for the opposition. Hayden STUTHRIDGE led the team and was able to win everything in the air. Shaquille STIRLING terrorised the opposition again (including a goal from 55 metres) but the winning of the game was the contribution of Harry KERR leading the defensive unit and Liam WOOD controlling the midfield with Samuel DEWAR. Unfortunately WOOD broke his arm in the last minute of the game.

Goals from Hayden STUTHRIDGE 2, Shaquille STIRLING

MVP – Liam WOOD

Most Valuable Player for Tournament Games

Samuel DEWAR – 1st

Hayden STUTHRIDGE – 2nd

Shaquille STIRLING – 3rd

GOLF

Golf is a great game. It is also a social and healthy way for the boys to finish a school day. During the first term, St Pat's fielded a team which played at Manor Park, Trentham and Te Marua golf courses. The scoring used was a stableford system, played over nine holes, so it provided a good way for emerging players to develop their game.

In April we fielded a team in the Wellington Secondary School Championships. The team comprised of Ben Ross, Mitchell Scott and Max Quinn-Tapara.

The highlight was golf becoming part of the winter traditional against St Pat's Town. This match play event took place at Miramar Links.

Tyler Vailini, Max Quinn-Tapara, Jared Bradley and Kheinan Morrissey played well. The result was a win in this inaugural event. Max worked hard to develop his game and is now a single-figure handicapper. In November, at the Junior Championships at Trentham, Max was runner-up in the boys' best gross score. Jonty Bilderbeck was runner-up in the non-handicappers' section.

We are grateful to Scott Puddick, the professional coach at Royal Wellington, for providing on-going coaching during the year. It is hoped that the game will develop at the college over the next few years and that our association with Royal Wellington will help this growth. It is worth noting that Dr McEvedy, a member of the golf club, noticed a farm for sale which would later become St Patrick's College, Silverstream.

The resources available to the boys, including coaching, courses and driving ranges, provide a fantastic opportunity to learn to play the game during time at St Patrick's College.

HOCKEY

With the squad providing a promising season, a local business wanted to provide sponsorship to the team. For the first time in many years the squad was fitted out in some impressive apparel. Many thanks to Mike Williams @ Focus Glass Ltd.

2012 was definitely a highlight for the College Hockey fraternity. Right from the start we were destined for a great season. To kick start the season the 1st XI had one on one training with the Harrison sisters (Members of the NZ Women's Hockey Team. Highlights don't stop there, after many years of struggling to make the top division competition our 1st XI played with passion and determination against Paraparaumu College securing a 2:0 win and obtained promotion to the P1 Secondary School's competition.

The Squad then qualified for the National Tournament (Olympic Stick) in Taupo. Although they narrowly lost to Whakatane High School in a nail biting pool game the team dug deep for the remainder of the cross over games. The quarter and semi-finals saw some great leadership from the senior players resulting in the squad playing in the final against Waiuku College. Both Kevin O'Kane and Ben Clegg scoring the only goals in a convincing 3 – 0 win.

During the final round of the P1 competition the squad did not want to be sitting bottom of the table with the possibility of relegation, going into the last game of the season it was a must win game against HVHS. Down 2:0 at half time captain of 2 years, Thomas Pavitt, and celebrating his 100th game as a member of the squad, motivated and led his team to an outstanding 5:2 win.

As a reflection and direct result of the players attributes, a large number of the squad members were named in representative teams ranging from Wgtn U18 – Hutt Valley U15s during the 2012 season.

A special thanks goes to Mark Peterson for coaching the squad for the second consecutive year.

We farewell 3 Yr 13 students from the squad Ben Horn, Blair Scannell & Ben Meyrick your contribution to the team has been much appreciated.

All the squad members should be proud of their achievements during the 2012 season and look forward to 2013.

1st XV

The 2012 First XV season can best be described as one that exceeded expectations. All of the pre and early season talk was that the youthful, inexperienced nature of the Silverstream side would not be good enough to compete with the power houses of Wellington Secondary School rugby. As we all now know, this was not how the season panned out and this youthful, inexperienced side were good enough to lock away the Premier 1 and Williment Trophies for the summer.

The season started with a series of trials that saw an initial squad of 26 athletes selected, that would soon be whittled down to 22 based on pre-season performances. The pre-season saw three very tightly contested fixtures played out, the first ending in a narrow loss to Feilding High School, followed by hard fought wins against Rotorua Boys High School and the Upper Hutt U21s side. This period of the season also included the announcement of the side's captain for the season, Andrew Knight, 1 of only 7 members of the squad playing in their last year at the College.

With pre-season games and trainings out of the way the team faced a daunting prospect in facing Wellington College, at Wellington College in the first round of the season. Some enterprising rugby was played throughout, but the lack of experience at this level told in the end and Wellington ran away easy winners. A confidence boost was needed and this came in the form of wins against Rongotai and St Pat's Town in the next two rounds. However, these two victories were either side of a disappointing loss to a New Plymouth side we probably should have beaten.

As June, and the busiest part of the season rolled around we were unaware of the rollercoaster we were about to board. Gut-wrenching losses to Wellington College, St Bedes and St Bernards were interspersed with victories over a talented Scots, HIBS, Rongotai and Aotea. Closing in on the end of Term Two, the most disappointing feature of the season to date was that we had only won one of the four traditionals played to date. However, there were clear signs that the side was starting to hit form and their defensive prowess was starting to be recognised. Our run to the title was about to begin and, with the exception of a comfortable enough quarter final victory against HIBS, the next four fixtures all went in our favour, but each with a margin of less than 3 points!! The team had developed a winning habit and they did not intend to break it easily. These fixtures included a televised win over St Pat's Town, an injury time victory against Palmerston North Boys- the first in 11 years-, a heart stopping semi final win over the best side Scots has produced in decades, and the legendary effort in the final to beat Wellington College 6-3 despite only having scraps of possession to play with throughout.

Whilst it is unfortunate that this dream run came to an end the following weekend against a very good Gisborne side, this should not detract from the fact that the side everybody had written off at the start of the season had produced the goods when it mattered to win the prized trophy of Wellington Secondary Schools sport.

The side was generously supported by Mike Schrijvers and the team at Elite Electrical Ltd, our primary sponsor, and Greg Lynch at Silverstream Physiotherapy must also be mentioned for the support that he provided throughout. A team is only as strong as their support network and it appears that this network is growing in strength as Silverstream rugby starts to restake a claim for rugby superiority in this region.

Traditional Fixtures

New Plymouth Boys' High School

lost 8-15

As a reflection of the side's inexperience, the New Plymouth forward pack was able to dominate throughout and as a result they came away with a hard fought, but well deserved win.

Wellington College

lost 11-24

In a game where we were in the contest up until mid-way through the second half, at the end of the day we were outgunned by what was viewed to be the dominant side in Wellington rugby at the time. However this result was turned around at the end of the season.

St Bede's College

lost 14-15

With time up on the clock we had the lead in this fixture, but unfortunately St Bede's had the ball, and they showed outstanding patience and discipline to maintain possession and eventually score, breaking the hearts of our side and supporters.

Rongotai College

won 27-0

Whilst this was our biggest win in a traditional this season, on reflection this was probably our worst performance. A lack of intensity from both sides made this a very uninspiring spectacle.

Palmerston North Boys' High School

won 11-10

In a bizarre game of rugby, an unfortunate and penalisable mistake from the Palmy halfback right on full time meant that a penalty kick was enough to give us our first victory in this fixture in 11 years.

St Patrick's College Town

won 22-20

With this game being played live on College Rugby, the boys made sure they had their boots shined and their hair done, and all of this fine tuning allowed them to sneak away with a narrow win in a very competitive contest.

2nd XV

Despite a few ups and downs during the 2012 season, the 2nd XV was able to put together a commendable season to go through to the semi finals of the Prem 3 division only to lose by 5 points to the eventual grade winners. With a large number of the team being made up from the 2011 Under 15 team, the team was very inexperienced at the 2nd XV level, but thankfully with a handful of 2011 2nd XV players we were able to field a very competitive team every weekend.

The season got off to a terrible start with a bad run of injuries depleting our numbers and resulting in having to play some of the boys out of position. The team were able to win all but one of our traditional games, beating Fielding High School, Hato Paora, and Hastings Boys High very convincingly, however we succumbed to a very strong Palmerston North Boys High later in the season. The regular season games were a mixture of easy wins and some very close wins and losses. The majority of the games were played against 1st XV teams. Two of the toughest teams were Paraparaumu and Tawa College. Tawa went on to win the grade after narrowly beating us in the semis. They played Paraparaumu College in the final.

The players themselves deserve a great deal of credit for playing good rugby throughout the season. Players deserving special mention are Peter Coles who played every minute of every game and with the same intensity and consistency. Kasey Joe-McIndoe who played the season carrying a nagging groin injury. Nick Mannix and Isaako Sopoaga who both suffered bad injuries which kept them out of most of our games but were able to pull our team out of some difficult situations when they were available. Derrell and Keanu who improved as players and leaders as the season went on. Nese whose uncompromising and aggressive play often inspired the team to pull off some great wins. Our front row of Regan, Lewis, Joel, Cameron and Joe who were able to give us some great ball from the scrums and the tight play. Young Kaide McCashin deserves special mention who came into the team as our 3rd string half-back and spent a lot of his time on the bench but consistently turned up to training and when injury occurred to our other halfbacks was able to step up and play all of our games through the finals rounds.

Through consistently good form Joel and Joe were able to force their way into the 1st XV for the second part of the season and stay in the team right through to the Premier 1 final. Also to Keanu, Jack, Reid, Nese and Lewis who either played for the 1st XV or stood by for them through the season.

As a result of consistently good play some of the boys were able to make it into Wellington Rep Teams: Isa and Nick in the Wellington Under 16A Team. Lewis, Joel and Vern into the Wellington Under 16 Development Team. A special thanks must go to the assistant coach, Phillipe Rayasi who was able to stitch together a very competitive backline every weekend. Without his expertise our backline wouldn't have been able to function as well as they did. With a handful of basic backline moves done with accuracy, our backs were able to run in some great tries. Thanks must also go to Darrah Burke who as the School's scrum and lineout coach gave the forward pack the ability to dominate our opposition teams. To Ms Curran the team manager for ensuring the boys had clean jerseys every weekend, for allowing us to take over her classroom as our home changing room, and for putting up with the demands of the coaching staff and players. Finally to the parents and supporters who turned up rain, hail or snow (or not quite snow) to support the boys through their games.

I have enjoyed coaching the boys this year. It has been a great learning curve for me in terms of being the head coach for a Saint Pat's Silverstream team. Hopefully the boys have grown in a positive way in terms of their rugby knowledge under the tutelage of myself, Phillipe, Darrah and Ms Curran. I also hope the boys have grown in terms of their development as good young men. I look forward to coaching the boys in the future.

Dennis Ngatai
Coach.

3rd XV RUGBY

The Silverstream 3rd XV Rugby team had a rewarding season in 2012. We started the season with a mixed group of boys with different goals for the year ahead. Some of the team had missed out on 1st and 2nd XV selection but were enthusiastic about playing rugby. Our season goal was to create a great team atmosphere and install pride in being in the Stream 3rd XV. The team grew to be an awesome group of players that worked well together on and off the field. We had an excellent start to the season, going undefeated for the first 4 games. There were various injuries in the team throughout the season which forced players into positions some had never played before, but the boys stepped up and delivered. We had a fierce front row which was tough competition for our opponents and we regularly won tight heads and secured our own ball come scrum time.

At the breakdown our forward pack turned over opposition ball regularly and played quick and hard. This cost the opposition precious metres which regularly lead to points after we gained momentum from 'pick and go's'

Our back line was a gelled unit with players who have worked together in various union and touch teams, providing excellent ball handling skills, pace and vision. We scored many glorious tries from our back-line during the season which ran rings around our opposition. This often lead to frustration from these teams and caused them to lose composure allowing us to dominate the play.

We made the playoffs after beating Hutt Valley High 2nd XV at their grounds which proved to be an intense meeting which tested our defences. We secured the win over HVHS after playing their mistakes which gave us points on the board. We then played Rongotai College 2nd XV at Rongotai and after giving up a first half lead the boys fought back with immense pride and passion to secure the win.

Unfortunately we were knocked out in the semi finals after a defeat to a well composed St Pat's town 2nd XV, but full credit to our boys for leaving nothing on the field and giving their absolute best on the day.

In all we played 15 games, winning 11 and only losing 4. These were against a mixture of 1st XVs and 2nd XVs. One of those loses was by one point to the eventual competition winners Naenae College 2nd XV. A very special win for this team was a 1st XV scalp after we thrashed Kuranui College's 1st XV, 22:0

This has proved to be a team with massive potential which we believe will benefit St Pat's Silverstream rugby over the coming seasons with many players being earmarked for the 1st and 2nd XV's selection.

It has been an absolute pleasure for both of us to coach the St Pat's Silverstream 3rd XV this year, it not only allowed us to be part of an awesome group of rugby players but also be part of a great group young men.

5th XV RUGBY

The under 80's aka 5th XV of 2012 had a clichéd season of two halves. With very little pre-season training to speak of, some of the squad new to rugby, the motley crew of Year 11s and 12s - and our sole Year 10, Marcus Hewitt, hit the grading games with enthusiasm and energy and learnt from there. The premier 6 division got underway successfully with a good old fashioned 60 point drubbing of St Pat's Town, followed by convincing wins against a much bigger Kapiti 2nd XV and a win over an angry Wellington College XV where fighting seemed to be their priority. The mid year holidays saw us on top of the table, however Term Three was to prove the opposite as we continually confronted injuries, wet weather, poorly represented trainings and of course stiffer opposition heading towards the sharp end of the competition and our ultimate demise in the semi finals. The forward pack maintained a very competitive edge with huge contributions from Matt Jenkins, Anthony Perkins, Cam Gorrie, Troy Polaczuk and No.8 Ethan Loveridge who captained the team superbly all season. Many a bone crunching, try saving tackle by custodian Oliver Szabo often helped to keep the team in the hunt. On a lighter note, 'van' trips to Paraparaumu were always at full capacity as the boys looked forward to a team road trip and the opportunity to practice their social skills on Paraparaumu's female population under the guidance of self proclaimed team mascot Caleb Ford and an exuberant Jack Close. Well done on the 2012 season lads, all the best!

U15 RUGBY

Coming into the 2012 Under 15 season, the team had high expectations of themselves after dominating the Under 14 grade the previous year. The team also had big shoes to fill with the outstanding U15 team the previous year. Going into our first game we were a confident side which showed with the win over Christchurch BHS (43-32), though it was a rather shaky game. The team got kicked back to reality after our first grading game against St Pat's town which we lost (28-12) this was a huge wake up call for the team as we realised that we had become complacent.

Our first big test of the season was our first traditional against Hastings Boys' High who were a very disciplined and strong side. The first half was a battle and the score ended up being 5 at the break; the team then lacked conviction and lapsed in concentration which led to Hastings Boys' running away with 2 easy tries, and winning.

From then on the team trained hard to try get a revenge win against St Pat's Town in the round robin fixture and the next time we faced them the team drew 26 all after blowing a healthy lead at half time. This again highlighted the amount of work we still need to do as a team. The boys then went onto win the next 5 games heading into the holiday break.

Tragedy struck the team on the 13th July 2012 with the death of our fellow brother and team mate Zeliuss Venter. It was a hard loss to the team and many of us struggled during this time. We were faced with a decision to play St Pat's Town for the Traditional on the 18th July 2012 and many of us were unsure whether this game should be played. With an inspirational speech to the boys from Asafo and Nathan came the decision to play in the honour of our fallen comrade Zeliuss. The boys played this game with passion and put everything into this game and undoubtedly it was the best performance this side has played with a comprehensive victory 48-0. There were many outstanding performances from individual players in this game but the standouts were Nese Solia and Desmond Fa'afoa.

In the remaining 4 games the team showed character winning 3 of these games and secured their spot in the top 4.

The semi final game against Wellington College started off well for our side with a lead at half time. Wellington College came out roaring in the second half and had us on the back foot. The game continued to be neck and neck until the final 5 minutes when Wellington College scored a try to secure the game and their spot in the final. It was a huge disappointment for the team as we had beaten that side twice during the season comfortably. The season on the whole was good with 8 wins, 1 draw and 1 loss. But when it really counted our team did not rise to the pressure of this occasion.

The team was lead by Nathan Moen as Captain who showed great leadership and skills in the number 10 jersey. Josh Brown was a brick wall all season and showed a huge work ethic which showed as he received the Best and Fairest Award. Luese Moemai was our top try scorer closed followed by Asafo Aumua who was a force at no. 8, Desmond Fa'afoa was the bull at Centre and Sione Uvea as the run-away winger. Connah Pamatatau was the top point's scorer with amassing 60 pts with his accurate kicking boot.

The 2012 Hurricanes Regional U15 tournament was held at Stream for the 2nd year. The team dominated their pool with 3 convincing wins. Unfortunately we got knocked out in the semi final by Tu Toa who went onto win the tournament.

Outstanding performances in this tournament were from Losi Filipo who was the top try scorer in the whole tournament and Asafo Aumua close behind. In the backs Keaton Te Amo defence was impeccable.

On the whole the boys played well but didn't reach their final goal of Div 1. Huge thanks must go to Simon Stack as forwards and Head Coach, Hannes Venter and Mr Fouhy as the backs coaches. Also to David Bowles for his outstanding management of the team. A big thanks to all the parents who supported us through our ups and downs.

It was a group of very talented boys who will no doubt be the backbone of future 1st XV teams.

U14 RUGBY

The 2012 season for the Under 14 team showed a lot of promise but fell short of expectations. The squad held much potential but not all boys showed the level of commitment required to obtain the results they were capable of. Subsequently the results were inconsistent and we were beaten quarter finalists. When we played to our full capacity we had the ability to foot-it with any team, as we showed against Mana College, who were the eventual grade winners. We had them under pressure for large sections of the game and narrowly missed out on a great victory. On the other side of this, some days we didn't turn up and got beaten by teams with less ability.

Overall the team did develop as the season progressed and showed a good level of improvement as shown by wins against teams that we lost to in the grading games. An example of this was an early season loss to Wellington College that was turned into a 17-5 victory later in the season. Also many of the boys progressed their games significantly and will be better players in following seasons.

Squad members:

Simon Aiono, Troi Alosio, Herewini Ammunson, James Balloch, Eric Botham, Ma'a Falani, Christian Fiso, Jared Harawira, Dom Kafatolu, Lince Kelemete, Martin Kelemete, Albert Laitaikepa, Mitchell Mexted, Te Kore Nohotima-Taute, Harrison Ritchie, Joseph Samuel, Joshua Samuela, Awarau Snowden, Jack Svenson, Frank Tavai, Jimmy Viki, Lemuela Vine, James Walker, Antonio Wongpown.

Herewini Ammunson, Lince Kelemete, Frank Tavai, Jared Harawira, and Simon Aiono achieved representative honors. Herewini led the team admirably throughout the season by his attitude to training and his fearless approach on the field. Jared was named the player of the year due to his consistent and relentless approach and due to having the uncanny openside flanker knack of being an annoyance to opposing teams. The most improved forward was Albert and the most improved back was Dom. Both boys were prepared to work hard on their games and were prepared to listen and learn at trainings.

A special thanks to Roger Walker for his expertise around forward play and the development he got out of the boys throughout the season.

I will look forward to following the progression of these boys as they go through the grades here at Silverstream.

U14B RUGBY

The U14b team lacked many things at the start of the season: coaches, managers, experienced players. However, by the time the season began most of these were in place. A group of Year 13 students volunteered to coach the team. This group was led by head coaches Sean Stack and Michael Hoult. Mr Tinney started off as manager, but this role became shared with Peter Ammunson who always had a healthy supply of lollies for the half time break!

A pre-season game with Upper Hutts U14s turned out to be their U15s which was not ideal preparation for the games ahead. However, Sean and Michael had almost figured out who the forwards were and who the backs were by this stage!

The season itself saw the team follow a steep learning curve. Each week many of the players improved their skills and the team as a whole ended up with some very close fought games against Viard College and Paraparaumu College.

The positive support from many of the parents was hugely appreciated.

U55A RUGBY

The 2012 season was a successful one for the U55As who only fell at the final hurdle, against St Patrick's Town in the U55 Div 1 Grand Final. After a strong run through the round games and a tight tussle with St Pat's Town for the top of the table from week to week, the boys managed to finish top on 25 points, one ahead of Town. This gave the team the advantage of a home quarter against Paraparaumu, who were comfortably dispatched, and then a semi in which Hutt Valley High was narrowly defeated 8-5. The grand final against Town beckoned. Unfortunately the day belonged to Town who were crowned winners of the David Scott Cup for 2012.

Character, spirit, and drive were the common threads exhibited by the boys from game to game. Although there were a number of stand out performers through the season, the key factor characterising the U55As was the contribution brought by every member of the team. Mitchell Ross led the boys, always by example, from half back, and was recognised with the Best and Fairest award at the school prize giving. The coaches allocated points to the best and fairest performers each week. Anthony Smith and Jake Matheson also scored highly with their performances. Mitchell Ross was top point scorer for the team, followed closely by Lucas Dutton who was also the top try scorer. Barnaby Costello, Anthony Smith and Keegan Radovich were also top try scorers. Thanks and appreciation goes to Ross and Maria Anderson Capital Shelving and also Conroy Removal LTD for sponsorship through the season.

On behalf of the team I would like to thank Alex Woods and Ross McLachlan for their time, energy and enthusiasm in coaching the u55As this season.

Best and Fairest Ambros Kiel

The Under 55Bs had a very successful year making the final in this grade and this is primarily due to the player's competitive spirit and determined attitude. The season started with a number of big losses early in the season, however after every game they started to believe in themselves and their ability. The boys beat St Pat's Town in the quarter finals 27:0: they beat Kapiti College in the semi final 20:5 and after a huge effort in the final lost to Upper Hutt College. Thanks to Murray Aitken, Kheinan Morrissey, Thomas Mainwaring, Alison Black and Terry McGeough - who was responsible for the military style training every Tuesday.

U65A RUGBY

The 2012 U65A dominated the competition in all facets of play. Using the game plan which was developed in 2011 enabled the forwards to dominate their opposition and set the standard of play which enabled the team to score 91 tries during the season.

The coaches, Kent Harris and Mark Lightenberg, concentrated on the basic skills of rugby which complemented the players' ability in the team. Trainings were always well organised and a variety of skills were practised during the week and then used on game day.

Marcus Matamua was an effective team captain and led by example on the field. He was assisted by the senior players in the team of Joseph Carson, Tony Knight, Jackson Ryan, Mathew Goulden, Matthew Bastion and Tynan Barrett.

Forward domination of the opposition enabled the backs to show their pace and penetration in the mid-field and they consistently out flanked their opposition, scoring a total of 61 tries

The positive support of the parents was most appreciated.

The best performance for the team was when they beat Wellington College 32 points to 5 in a round robin game at Silverstream. On that day the forwards completely dominated their opponents, demolishing their scrum at each contest. Our backs defended well and in attack they completely out classed them.

It was a very successful and enjoyable season, especially since we went undefeated during the season.

U65B RUGBY

The highlight of the season came in the last game against Scots College. We were camped on our line for much of the second half. Behind, with two minutes to go, a turnover, and offload from Alex Lundo saw Scott Balloch run 60 metres to score the winning try. That moment is what rugby is all about. A big thank you goes to Max Smith for his help with the coaching.

This team was comprised of players converted from other positions and one, David Brown, was new to the game. Regan Wright moved into the backs and grew in confidence as he moved into the midfield. Our team often played with much speed and flair. The strength of the team was its ability to move the ball along the backline. Jason Fawcett-Steele ran on to the ball well at first-five while Nick Messenger acquitted himself well at every position in the backline.

Peter O'Reilly always led the team by example as he gave his all in every game while William Olsen was a tireless worker in the tight. Edward Hounsell was an effective goal kicking half-back who kept us in many games. The team also gained from the coaching input of his brother, Tim, who was back at the College as part of his teacher training. Nick Hope showed strength and speed with the ball in hand while Tyler Vailini had the ability to read the game well and contribute even when playing with injuries. He was our best and fairest. Tim Van Den Kerkhof was our most improved player.

VOLLEYBALL

The Junior Volleyball team had a solid season in competition against local schools, winning games against Scots College, Upper Hutt College and St Bernard's in the lead-up to the regionals.

The results of the regionals were encouraging, with 6th overall - although not as high as we had hoped for after an explosive start to our game against St Pat's town ended in a hard-fought loss in the final set of the quarter finals. The boys played well all day, had a lot of fun and displayed excellent sportsmanship. They certainly learnt a lot about how to deal with the pressure of a high-stakes competition.

Excellent coaching from Chris Alosio and Sione Uvea as captain meant that the team were well organised and have been steadily building their skills and are looking forward to the rest of the season and to an influx of new recruits at the beginning of next year.

Senior A

A young team took the court on behalf of Stream this year – with no Year 13s in the squad, and only Sola Toomata left from the Senior team of 2011, there were challenges right from the get-go with many of the starting line-up coming out of the junior league fresh but inexperienced. Excitement also rose as a new breed of talent came through with the likes of Lester Maulolo and Lalovi Leapepe being selected for the 2012 junior tournament team. Unfortunately, the transition from a junior to senior level of playing became evident as the beginning of the season kicked off with one of Stream's worst performances at the annual regional competition as the raw talent of opposing teams proved to be too much for us to handle with 3 wins and 5 losses. Although our regional campaign was a total disaster, we learnt so much as individuals and more as a team. With all players coming back for 2013, we hope that the season of 2012 has developed us enough to be ready for victory and success in the year ahead. Sectare Fidem.

Senior Rugby League

Like the Junior Rugby League Team at St Patrick's College, the Senior Team were beaten by Wainuiomata High School in their respective competitions which was the Stephen Kearney Cup.

Unfortunately, the Senior Team was unable to field their strongest team in both of their games against Taita College, and Wainomata High School, due to representative commitments but a number of players stood out in both of the two games, Henry Grey, and Joel Hintz in particular.

I would like to congratulate all those boys that represented St Patrick's College team during the season, particularly as the standard of opposition was very high against recognised "rugby league" predominant schools. Well done to all of you and thanks you for your level of commitment on the field.

Mr Rob Ackerman

Junior Rugby League

The Junior Rugby League Squad at St Pat's enjoyed a very good season and ended up beaten finalists in the Johnny Lomax Cup against Wainomata High School, going down 34-22.

Players who stood out during the season included Luese Moemai, Desmond Fa'afoa and Asafo Amumua.

Newcomers to the game of rugby league who equipped themselves particularly well and appear well-suited to the game included Warihi Snowden, Ivan Fepuleai and Lemuelu Vine.

I would like to congratulate all those boys that represented St Patrick's College during the season on their level of commitment and the enthusiasm that they showed towards training and match-day performances. Well done to all of you.
